There's no business like snow business

There's no business like snow business when it comes to the University of Iowa's football coaching search.

The process of finding a replacement head coach for Kirk Ferentz is nearly complete, with new coach look set for the Hawkeyes in the near future.

Ferentz, who was fired on Dec. 1, has said he is looking for a new head coach to replace him. The search has been ongoing since Ferentz was fired on Dec. 1.

The Hawkeyes have been in talks with several candidates, including former Baltimore Ravens head coach John Harbaugh.

Harbaugh has emerged as a top candidate for the position, with the Ravens reportedly expressing interest in bringing him back to the team.

Harbaugh led the Ravens to four Super Bowl appearances in his eight seasons as head coach. The team has missed the playoffs in each of the last two seasons, however, and Harbaugh's contract is set to expire at the end of the year.

The Hawkeyes are expected to announce Harbaugh as their new head coach in the near future.

Ferentz has been the head coach at Iowa for 11 seasons, leading the team to a 70-49 record. The Hawkeyes have finished in the top 10 in the Big Ten conference in seven of his 11 seasons.

Harbaugh's hiring is expected to bring an immediate boost to the team's recruiting efforts, with players flocking to Iowa City to see Harbaugh in person.

The Hawkeyes are scheduled to open the 2019 season against Iowa State on Sept. 1.

Ferentz was fired on Dec. 1 after the Hawkeyes finished the 2018 season with a 3-9 record, including a 0-8 mark in conference play.

The Hawkeyes have missed the postseason for three straight seasons and have finished in the bottom three of the Big Ten East Division in each of the last two seasons.

The search for a new head coach is expected to wrap up before the end of the month, with Harbaugh expected to be the top candidate.

The Hawkeyes are hoping to find a head coach who can lead the team to a bowl game in 2019 and take the program back to the top of the Big Ten.

The Hawkeyes have a history of success in the conference, finishing in the top three in the Big Ten in 28 of the last 30 seasons.

Ferentz's departure has been a shock to fans and players alike, with many expressing surprise and concern over the move.

The Hawkeyes are expected to name Harbaugh as their new head coach in the coming weeks, with the team looking to move forward after a disappointing season.
For a moment, I thought it was the end of the world. I don't know what I would have done if that had been true. But it wasn't. It was just a phase.

I'm not sure how I got into this whole thing. I didn't ask for it; I didn't want it. But here I am, caught in the middle, trying to make sense of it all.

I don't know what the future holds. I don't know what will happen next. But I do know that I'm not alone.

I have friends who understand. I have people who care. And I'm grateful for that.

The world may be a chaotic place, but I'm learning to find beauty in the chaos. To see the silver linings in the clouds.

And I'm grateful for that, too.
Number of hate crimes low locally

A forum on the issue stressed awareness.

City News

Though there has not been a hate crime reported in Iowa City since 1990, some residents feel there should be more awareness about what constitutes a hate crime.

A public forum focusing hate crimes and the Iowa City Crime Commission was held Tuesday at the Iowa City Library. The commission members, along with a handful of attending residents, "generously listened" to the Johnson County crime prevention group of the forum in 1992, said Patricia White, the Johnson County sheriff's office.'I think the forum will help answer that question if they are taken seri­ously by groups like the police."

Under the Iowa Hate Crime Act, a hate crime charge over­turns the existing właś rule in four categories: race, sex, religion and sexual orientation. A hate crime is defined as an act committed because of the victim's race, sex, religion or sexual orientation, actual or perceived, and with the intent to intimidate the victim.

"Victims know what they're doing. They know they're targeting a group," said Faith Wilmot, the Iowa City/Coralville Human Relations Commission coordinator.

"When people see a hate crime happening, they're more likely to report it," said Steve Uhl, the Iowa City/Coralville Human Relations Commission coordinator.

Though there hasn't been a hate crime reported in Iowa City since 1990, some residents feel there should be more awareness about what constitutes a hate crime.

Cost of hot air rising

 Heating homes could become more expensive.

By Jerry Zhou

Every fall and winter, the cost of heating a home rises because fuel oil and natural gas prices increase. The recent increase in natural gas prices has caused a 10 to 15 percent increase in utility bills.

The Natural Gas Price Act of 1985 is a federal law that was passed in order to protect consumers from price gouging by utility companies.

"The act was passed in order to prevent utility companies from raising prices too quickly," said Paul Tanaka, an ISU lawyer.

Faculty resignations worry regents

The regents are scheduled to discuss the resignation rates of tenured and tenure-track faculty today.

By Rebecca Robertson

The Daily Iowan

Although the resignation rates of tenured and tenure-track faculty have increased slowly, the Iowa State Board of Regents is encouraging the UI Office of the Provost to collect more data on the reasons for which faculty have left. Department chairs are expected to be discussed at today’s regent meeting in a new report.

This fall, 96 tenured professors have left the UI. Of these, 91 resigned to accept positions at other institutions. Twenty-nine resignations were because of age, retirement, and the number of resigning faculty. The number of resigning faculty in fall 1997 was also 91. Of them, 86 were associate professors and 24 were tenured professors. The difference is not statistically significant, said Law Anne Clark, UI assistant provost.

The catalyst for assistant professor turnover is 34; 30 of them are faculty members who have updated their contracts. Thirty professors are still in their first, second, and third years of teaching. This number is comparable with other academic institutions.

In response to the resignation report, Clark is also revising the survey for resigning faculty. She said the current form is too short and not detailed enough.

The threat of losing faculty to members are not required to give their names will be assured of the confidentiality of their information. The form states that information is confidential but that for the professor’s name, the firm, those not wanting to give their names will be assured of the confidentiality of their information.

The Office of the Provost will also look at post data for trends in faculty members who are being lost. The Office of the Provost is also reviewing the data and conducting analyses on the professor’s success.

Women and minorities

About 70 percent of the tenured assistant professors are women, said Susan Gough, UI director of diversity.

The percentage of tenured faculty women is continuing to increase, such as faculty hardwoods and men.

The Office of the Provost is also looking into the rates of tenured and tenure-track faculty, which is comparable with other academic institutions. There have been several women.

“Perhaps they feel that they didn’t quite fit in with the tenured community,” Clark said.

UI is approving innovative curricula to improve the representational diversity of their faculties. The form states that information is confidential but that for the professor’s name, the firm, those not wanting to give their names will be asked of the confidentiality of their information.

Police charge 2nd man in alleged bowling alley assault

ARREST

I have been romantically involved with Gay Lance. One day after we left, a police officer came to the Lance house and said, "The woman who accompanied you was a stalker." I said, "I don't know who that is, but she says she's my wife." They told me they were going to take her to the hospital to get her name checked, though.

I was never arrested, convicted, or subjected to any other form of punishment. I was not involved in any allegations involving Gay Lance or her associates. I have nothing to say about her or the police.

I am a good person and have always done the right thing.

I love Gay Lance and the police officer who came to the Lance house.

Investigators to see money memos

- A federal judge ruled that impeachment investigators may inspect the memos containing evidence of alleged fund-raising violations by Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy.

- The memos contain explosive new evidence in the Espy case and, if released, may put the prosecutor's office in a difficult legal position.

- The Espy case is the first to involve a Cabinet official to face trial since the impeachment of President Clinton in 1999.

WASHINGTON — In a victory for impeachment investigators, a federal judge ruled Wednesday that House Judiciary Committee investigators can view secret memos containing evidence of alleged fund-raising violations by Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy.

- The memos, which are expected to be released to the public next week, contain explosive new evidence in the Espy case and, if released, may put the prosecutor's office in a difficult legal position.

DEER-KILL PLAN NEEDED TO KEEP NATURE IN CHECK

I didn't pay much attention to the debate in class in high school, but I might be able to score the Iowa City City Council meeting better. As far as I can tell, the current score for the ongoing great deer debate at the council meetings is: 33; 3.

But human intervention is needed to keep nature in check. The bucking brutes are needed, and it will be counted again. The problem, according to Lisa Handsacker, a committee member, is that there simply aren't enough deer-killing machines on the market.

"The deer committee performed a thorough investigation of all possible options and decided that the only really effective plan is a massive slaughter," she said. "Or rather, a controlled reduction of the deer population through non-lethal means.

"We looked into the possibility of using both machines and chemical harassment. Of all the many possibilities considered, the machines are the best option for the budget, and the buckers really pay off."

Tom Finley, a committee member, stated that a realistic "cull" is needed to keep the population down. The committee, having considered every possible option, decided that machine hunting was the most effective and humane way to control the deer population.

"We realize that hunting is a sensitive issue, but it is important to maintain a healthy balance of wildlife in Iowa," he said.

The MAJORITY of COLLEGE STUDENTS HAVE TO 4 DRINKS WHEN THEY GO OUT.

Based on survey data collected for the College Alcohol Study: The Harvard School of Public Health, the study revealed that "the majority of college students have to 4 drinks when they go out." This statistic highlights the prevalent drinking culture among college students and the need for awareness and intervention to address alcohol misuse and its consequences.
Mideast peace hits snag

Israel sent new terms for its troop pullback after a West Bank attack on an Israeli soldier.

By James Franklin
Associated Press

JERUSALEM -- Troops facing a violent attack on an Israeli soldier, the government announced Wednesday it was reviewing publicly abandoning plans to withdraw to cease-fire lines at the end of the year.

"The Palestinian Authority is consummating acts of violence, and no immediate troop pullback is feasible," a senior Israeli official said in a statement. "The decision made only 31 days before President Clinton was active in the region to enter the second stage of the Wye River land-for-security agreement was based on the hope the Israelis would stop violence.

The Israeli announcement raised questions if the Clinton administration could take place while Israel was being killed by the attack.

State Department spokesman James P. Foley said the pullback was an obligation and, if a cease-fire was not made in the Middle East, a move to withdraw 'until Palestinians said the accord was in place.'

In Washington, the Clinton administration was sharply critical of the new Israeli conditions and said the accord would be implemented as agreed.

Boeing retrenchment

DOW JONES -- Boeing Co. plans to lay off 15,000 workers by the end of this year, pushing it to cut even more jobs in the next two years.

The defense contractor, which issued the cut after a series of losses stemming from aircraft sales, said it decided to settle with workers to avoid its having to lay off even more people.

The announcement came as the Dow Jones Industrial average fell for a second day and continued to drag down financial markets global since Tuesday.

Put Ferentz on 3-year plan

When Kirk Ferentz is named the new Iowa football coach tonight at 7 p.m. on Channel 4, it will mark the beginning of a three-year journey.

These days — that is how long Ferentz has been job hunting. The Hawkeyes back into a consistent Big Ten, but Ferentz deserves to turn the Iowa football program on three-year media.

Three years — that is how long the Hawkeyes back into a consistent Big Ten, and Ferentz has earned the respect of the Iowa fans.

Ferentz received the head coaching position at Maine, where he compiled a 10-10 record in three seasons.

Professional: Named the offensive coordinator at Maine in 1990, he would be the offensive line coach for the Black Bears, Ferentz was highly respected for his work at Maine, and he had decided to look at other coaching positions.

The days of Iowa being happy to go 3-9 every year is behind us. The Hawkeyes back into a consistent Big Ten, and Ferentz has earned the respect of the Iowa fans.

Kirk Ferentz has a few difficult decisions to make in the upcoming days and weeks. His biggest decision will be choosing the offensive coordinator. The Hawkeyes are currently without a head coach and are looking to fill the assistant coaching positions.

Ferentz continues from IB

There's definitely going to be an adjustment for Ferentz. He'll have one year to have an assistant coach to take over the offensive coordinator position.

Call to crown 'chameleon' Cate

Australian actress Cate Blanchett is getting rave notices for her performance as Queen Elizabeth I.

By Brendan J. O'connor

NEW YORK — A chameleon isn't called a chameleon for nothing. Cate Blanchett has portrayed Elizabeth I, the Virgin Queen, in a New York production of "Elizabeth: The Golden Age," and now she's taking on a completely different role — that ofgrasshoppers.

Blanchett, who won an Oscar for her performance in "The Aviator," has been nominated for another Oscar for her role as Elizabeth. She portrays the queen in a movie directed by Mike Leigh, who is known for his films about the British working class.

Their relationship has been a source of inspiration for Blanchett. "It's funny that for as long as I've been able to remember, women have had to invent something just for us to do something just for girls," she says. "It's the sort of thing that girls do."

Opening Friday

But the actress says she wouldn't like to see the network replace British drama with American drama. "I think it's really important to have both," she says. "I think it's really important to have both the British and American styles of storytelling."

The film, which is based on the true story of the queen's search for a wedding dress, will be released in theaters on Friday.

"It's been great to work with (the Old Music Building at 509 East Washington St., Martini's, 211 East Burlington St., Clapp Hall, 291 North High St., and Riverside Park)."

Durovicova, an assistant professor in the music department, says she's currently working on a dissertation about the "Psycho" remake. For this year's show, Kriegel added a number of students, including his "Psycho" remake, to the cast.

The family-oriented festival not only has 1976 hit "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," but also selections from "Man With a Golden Tongue," "Emma's Light," and other Christmas carols. "It's been really helpful being in it," said Jennifer Phillips. "I've learned a lot and I think I'm a better musician because of it."
