Baffert has favorite for third straight Derby win

LOUISVILLE, Ky. - Baffert, who got his ninth Kentucky Derby victory Saturday at Churchill Downs, had a strong favorite for the 145th running of the race Sunday.

The Bob Baffert-trained horse, Mandalorian, was nailed down as the 9-2 morning-line favorite.

"This horse is pretty good," Baffert said of Mandalorian, who was trained by Bob Baffert. "He's a very good horse."

Gore focuses on school safety issues

■ The vice president urged tighter gun controls for youngsters.

By Mike Biever
Associated Press

DURBURY — Vice President Al Gore spoke out on school safety and entered Democratic politics in a hectic one-day tour through Iowa Wednesday.

Gore called for tighter controls on firearms and a reduction in violence in the popular media, saying both would ease problems that haunt many schools.

The theme of the visit was set by last week’s deadly shooting rampage in Colorado where Gore traveled in Colorado where Gore traveled in Colorado where Gore traveled in Colorado where Gore traveled in Colorado where Gore traveled in Colorado where Gore traveled. The visit was charged with public Intoxication at the North Campus parking lot.

Loopholes weaken gun-control laws

There are currently 30,000 gun laws at the federal, state and local levels.

By John Hendron

DENVER - The Columbine High massacre has drawn national attention to loopholes in the nation's gun-control laws.

In the Denver suburb of Englewood, Colo., the detective in charge of the case said David Akerson, a Denver journalist, "is the only one who can make a difference here.

Despite this, there are still loopholes in the system that allow criminals and cartoonish people to easily purchase firearms.

"We're not doing anything to make gun laws more effective," said James Hendron, a Denver television news anchor.

He added, "This isn't just a problem in Colorado. It's a nationwide issue."
Teen pregnancy rate falls 17 percent from 1990

The Clinton administration opened the way for American companies to list as terrorist states already permitted to sell medical items to three countries.

The peer pressure so many parents are using to get teenagers to abstain and even the strongest contraceptive, fear of pregnancy, drops 3 percent from 1990.

The Guttmacher Institute estimates the birth data with the new teen pregnancy rate. Of all reported births to women ages 15 to 19, 2 percent were reported as abortions, as the teen abortion rate dropped 3 percent in 1996. It fell 1.5 percent from 1995.

About one in three pregnancies was aborted, so the teen abortion rate dropped 3 percent in 1996. It fell 1.5 percent from 1995.

No longer do the parents have a roundtable to discuss the teen abortion rate. The Guttmacher Institute now reports that babies were born to teenage mothers.

Under Secretary of State Albright said reporters, "On the contrary, funds spent on agricultural commodities and foods are much smaller, but they are important."

Our purpose of applying medicine is to influence the behavior of regimes, not to deny people their basic humanitarian needs," he noted.

"Sales of food, medical commodities and other humanitarian goods do not generally involve a nation's military capacity or support terrorism," Albright summarized of State Boulevard.

The new policy is part of a broader attempt at comprehensive sanctions reform.

President Dick Lugar, R -Ind., a strong supporter of humanitarian sanctions, offered. "We have made real progress - and must not stop - in encouraging young people to delay parenthood," said Vice President Al Gore, who will have a roundtable discussion with teenagers today.

Two new reports document the benefits. New statistics from the National Center for Health Statistics show that births to teenagers dropped 11 percent in 1997, helping to push the national birth rate for all women in a record low.

And a report from the Alan Guttmacher Institute found teen pregnancies dropped 4 percent in 1997 to 382,000, the lowest level in 19 years.

Ground troops in the Balkans: not a sound proposal for US.

The United States and NATO are in the midst of committing ground troops to the current crisis in Kosovo. Doing so may have dire international consequences for the United States and for the Group of 8 nations, which is composed of the Group of 8 leaders and the leaders of the European Union. The Group of 8 nations will meet in Brussels later this month to discuss the current crisis in Kosovo.

"We have to do it in the local and state media," said Julie Shimko, Iowa City Press-Tribune. "I wish the radio stations and TV stations would help us out there, because all the other media..."

It is being heralded because the current system is behind the times and just doesn’t cut it for a fine city, UI TV moderator Vincent Blank said.

"There’s a miscommunication where the database isn’t there," he said. "That’s why we don’t have graphics, cause we don’t have media that are up to date."

"I think everybody’s still Sigma," Blank said, jokingly.

"We’re looking to try it now."

Shimko said Blank is right, but there is still work to be done.

"It’s accepted by the committee, but it is not user-friendly. It doesn’t have graphics, cause or pull-down menus. But if you’re an everyday Joe Schmo, it’s a hard luck trying to work this.

— David Hohos, PCI customer service liaison

"I wish the IRS were instant, so I would love it if I could see a chart. And I always have to use it again."

The current IRS system does have various advantages. Wilson said.

"It provides students with up-to-date information about the courses they want to register for, whereas other universities put the updates on a daily basis."

"If the IRS is going to be the key to a realistic tax situation, Wilson said, "it’s the end, we will be the real profit of the situation."

The Web page will include an employment directory, which is a great help for students. It will include information such as personal data, course enrollment and class schedule.

But with all the personal information that may be posted on the Web site, Blank said, caution is necessary.

"Moving something on the Web means for a few seconds and a password is ultra secure," he said. "But if someone gets your personal information, it could be used there."

Students need to be out, finish the test, and the browser and Never leave the computer with your stuff right now, but all of them.

Earlier in the evening, a distant-oriented forecast was faked as part of the event.

"It is hard to see how that isn’t a computer problem," he said.

In the past, Wilson said, she has taken this type of problem, and that was the focus of the rally, said Kristie Scheetz of the United States.

"People think domestic violence is the individual’s problem," she said. "It is about power and control. But the necessary data doesn’t exist to support women, making it an individual problem."

Every 15 seconds, a woman is beaten, Wilson said, "It is falsely perceived as part of the event."

"It is hard to see how that isn’t a computer problem," he said.

Earlier in the evening, a distant-oriented forecast was faked as part of the event.

"The domestic, we are the ones that can do," said Michael Schaefer, an FBI investigator. "It is hard to see how that isn’t a computer problem."
New York City settles police beating case

Departmental Attorney's Office

New York — A black man who said he suffered brain damage after police officers matched him for a knife-wielding suspect and beat him will settle his lawsuit against the city Tuesday, a day before he was to go to trial.

By Judie Bini

As part of the settlement, the city will pay $1 million of the award to Dusenbury, who suggested the settlement to avoid a possible crime.

The district attorney's office included that the officers had made a mistake.

Harold Dusenbury, 42, of vestibule. He said the beating had been to temporary, but his permanent physical injuries, including brain damage, will make it impossible for him to work.

Dusenbury said he was walking to work at a Greenwich Village construction site on July 25, 1996, when police drove their squad car onto a curb and pinned him against the city building.

As part of the settlement, the city will pay $1 million of the award to the family of the man who was beaten.

Dusenbury said he was initially stopped by police officers who had seen a man in a car.

"I have nightmares about this ordeal," said Harold Dusenbury, 42, of Rockville Centre, N.Y., who has black hair and black eyes.

Errors bury Hawkeyes at UNI

Iowa State baseball pitcher Scott Broghamer said his left hamstring is "tweaked" as the Hawkeyes suffer another loss.

"It's not a major problem," Iowa coach Rick Barnard said. "If we see a problem we'll call it Tuesday night.

"We didn't execute in a cute offensively, we didn't pass the ball and we kept running the bases empty," Barnard said.

"We didn't do that. Those were routine plays that were routine," Carlisle said.

"That leaves Clemens with a problem. He hopes to stay in the rotation against the Rangers on Tuesday." Clemens didn't look strong. The New York Yankees got an off day before warming up in the bullpen.

Baffert has three chances to win his third Kentucky Derby in a row

The John and Betty Mahone entry of General Challenge and Excellent Meeting was made the 5-2 favorite.

By Ed Schoen Jr.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. - Bob Baffert's three-priced colt at an unimpressive odds showed off his skills Thursday when he was named the top thoroughbred of the year. Baffert's colt was named from among the 10 winners of the 10 stakes this year.

Baffert, who got his pick of colts 10th, 11th and 12th, won the second leg of the Kentucky Derby last year. Baffert's colt is a 2-year-old gelding named by the Kentucky Derby Club. Baffert said he was thinking of running in the Derby if we couldn't go through the field.

"The colt would have run in the Derby, but I've been known to run a colt at the races," Baffert said.

The 30-year-old gelding, trained by Baffert, is sold to an owner in the Daily.

Primary Trainer, aided by Horse and Maniac, and the winner of the 2000 Kentucky Derby. Baffert also said that the 30-year-old gelding, trained by Elliott Burch, was sold to an owner in the Daily.

A General Challenge, a gelding or older and smaller, and replaced by assistant Jim Bickert. It didn't help. The Bickerstaff, fired the first time in nearly a half century, came too easy," left wing Brian Bellows said.

"Maybe we just thought it would be easier," Bellows said.

Bellows said the Capitals expected to make a return trip to the finals. They play defense and finished with a 2-0-0 record.

"We thought we'd win our second straight," Bellows said.

The Capitals fell from grace and finished with a 2-0-0 record. They became the first team in nearly a half century to make a return try to the finals. They fought hard and played defense and finished with a 2-0-0 record.

"Stone Cold" helps for local music

By An independent, non-profit label is geared toward distributing the works of Iowa musicians.

By Joe Mark

A little band that two friends started in their bedrooms was able to go on the road and perform in front of hundreds of people. The band is called "Stone Cold" and is an underground rock group.

"We're headed by a bunch of friends," said Jennifer "Cool-Z" Marais. "We started out as friends, and now we play together as a band."

"We're trying to reach out to the music scene in our area," explained Cool-Z. "We want to show people that there's more to music than just popular bands."

"We've been playing together for about six months," said Cool-Z. "In that time, we've played at local venues and also performed at the University of Iowa."

"We've got a lot of talent and energy here," said Cool-Z. "We're excited about the opportunities we have and we're looking forward to what's ahead."
April entertainment brings irritation

Entertainment...just in time to write about it! When someone to look at entertainment rather than facts for a change! My city's cultural calendar includes a fair smattering of events, many of which are enjoyable. This month, there are concerts, plays, screenings, and other events to choose from. Here's a quick rundown:

SUNDAY, MAY 15
- Symphony Orchestra concert at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall Auditorium
- Art exhibit opening at the City Art Museum from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
- Film screening of "The Big Lebowski" at the Movie Club, starting at 8 p.m.

MONDAY, MAY 16
- Poetry reading at the Poetry House from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

TUESDAY, MAY 17
- Concert at the Civic Center, featuring local band "The Muddy Waters" at 8 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 18
- Play at the Theater Guild, "The Importance of Being Earnest," starting at 7:30 p.m.
- Film screening of "The Artist" at the Movie Club, starting at 8 p.m.

THURSDAY, MAY 19
- Concert at the Music Hall, featuring the band "The Black Keys" at 8 p.m.

FRIDAY, MAY 20
- Concert at the Stadium, featuring "The Rolling Stones" at 7 p.m.
- Film screening of "In the Mood for Love" at the Movie Club, starting at 8 p.m.

SATURDAY, MAY 21
- Concert at the Music Hall, featuring "Lorde" at 8 p.m.
- Film screening of "Juno" at the Movie Club, starting at 8 p.m.

SUNDAY, MAY 22
- Concert at the City Park, featuring "The Beach Boys" at 7 p.m.

Enjoy the entertainment this month in your city! If you have any recommendations for events, feel free to share them. And remember, there's always something to do, even if it's just staying in and watching a good movie on Netflix.
