Far from the common, modern dance

The Black Genesis spring concert will offer a milange of hip-hop with modern jazz.

By Kate McKeown

The Daily Iowan

An eclectic mix of dance performances, blending hip-hop with neo-classical and modern American with traditional African, will greet audiences of Black Genesis' spring concert tonight.

One of the main purposes of the concert is to raise awareness of the role blacks have played in shaping contemporary dance, said Monty Evans, a UI senior and the artistic director of the troupe.

"I think it will be better than last year," she said. "Last year, it was more ethnocentric, but this year it is more contemporary, more Americanized.

Jones said people need to see a change from white, contemporary,orsen races.

"Our contribution to the art form of dance has yet to be rewarded," she said.

But the performance, made up of many diverse solo and group dances, was not intended solely for blacks.

"I hope everyone comes," she said. "Kids, females, minorities, republicans - a whole different crowd.

Black Genesis began in 1969, perhaps as a way to escape the oppression blacks were facing at the time, Jones said.

"It started because a lot of African Americans wanted to dance," she said.

But since then, the dance troupe has played for a period, but collapsed in 1980.

See CONCERT, Page 64

Top female officer files sexual-harassment charge

The Daily Iowan

The Army is investigating a complaint by its top

By Robert Burns

The Army is investigating a complaint by its top female officer that she was sexually harassed by a fellow general and links the incident to a history of sexual impropriety.

"This woman is not alone," said Major General Kenneth Beckman, the Army's deputy chief of staff.

The Army has been under scrutiny since a report by the Department of Justice's Equal Employment Opportunity Commission

In a news conference held by the Office of Civil Rights, the Army has been accused of sexual harassment.

"This report is not alone," said Beckman. "We have been under scrutiny since a report by the Department of Justice's Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

"This report is not alone," said Beckman. "We have been under scrutiny since a report by the Department of Justice's Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The Army was forced to respond to the new report released by the Department of Justice on Friday.

In a news conference held by the Office of Civil Rights, the Army has been accused of sexual harassment.

"This woman is not alone," said Beckman. "We have been under scrutiny since a report by the Department of Justice's Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

After the report was released, the Army launched an internal investigation.

See CONASHAR, Page 10
THE LEDGE
KIDS EXPLAIN SCIENCE
Clouds just keep floating around the earth north to south and around and around. And around. There is not much clue as to why.
Water vapor gets trapped in the sky. It is trapped like a cloud. It is trapped when we breathe.
Rain is often known as soft water, known as clean.
As expected, Memmer pleads not guilty

The double-murder trial will begin on Oct. 16.

By Katie Bernard

Johnson Memmer appeared in court on Thursday to enter a plea of not guilty to charges of first-degree murder.

The alleged victims, Vongsavanh Phabmixay and his girlfriend, Sunshine Chooy, were killed March 14 trial information brief by Des Moines Register reporter Katie Des Moines, said Mark Kubby, the executive and general counsel for the Johnson County Sheriff's Office, which returned him to the Johnson County Jail after the Osama bin Laden raid.

"This is going to be a complex case," Kubby said. "It's going to take time to understand the evidence and the information that's been presented.

It's going to be a learning process for everyone involved."

Kubby added that he expects the trial to last at least six weeks.

"It will be a marathon for the defense and the prosecution to present their cases," he said. "But it's necessary to ensure justice is served for the victims and their families."
Gov. Vilsack unveils gay scholarship

By Cristy K. Logan

Gov. Tom Vilsack and the mother of an Iowa City, Iowa boy with Down Syndrome unveiled a new scholarship program Thursday that will provide up to $10,000 a year to gay and lesbian high school graduates who plan to attend the University of Iowa.

The news was given special notice to students who plan to attend in the University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa. The scholarship program is an annual achievement, financial need and diversity scholarships established by Des Moines Register reporter Christoph Trippe.

The event was held in the Student Union in Iowa City on the UI campus.

"This is a movement and a need," said Vilsack. "We're doing this because we believe in diversity, and we want to make sure that our community is welcoming to all."
CITY

Nurse crusades against gun injuries

Lori Thomas presents ways to prevent children from becoming accidental victims.

By Kate Thayer

The Daily Iowan

Tactics for gun safety in the home were discussed at the public seminar "Keeping Your Child Safe: Preventing Firearm Injuries, presented by UI Health Care's Lori Thomas, an emergency staff nurse at the Children's Mercy Hospital in Kansas City, Mo., nominated as one of the nation's top five fire- arm injury specialists by Kansas City newspaper in 1999.

"We need to think about the risks in the home," she said. "Most children with preventable injuries, and we need to educate people on this issue," she said.

The seminar included a trigo- ne lock-box and lock-box demon- stration. Firearm injury statis- tics and ways for parents to prevent the risk of child- hood gun safety.

Even if a family does not own a gun, it is important to discuss firearm risks with children, Thomas said. An important part of preventing unnecessary firearm violence is to be aware of gun storage in other house- holds.

"Many parents are too intimi- dated to ask other parents about their guns," she said. "It's important to know is the house-your child is going to has a gun, and if so, how it is locked up and stored.

Being able to access a locked- up gun if it is needed was another issue Thomas addressed.

"You need to think about the risk you are at," she said. "There is quite about 1 percent of the population the guns. Most adults. Also, most of the time you would not be able to get to a gun in time, anyway."

It is important for Iowa City residents to be aware of the dangers regarding personal gun violations, said Deb Bruzena, a clinical nurse specialist at the UI Hospitals and Clinics.

"Forty percent of households own guns, and three kids are killed by them every day," she said. "Also, the suffering and anguish that parents go through not just because of death but because of worrying about this makes it an impor- tant issue."

Lori Peterson, a Nichols, Iowa, resident, said she came to the seminar because she is interested in owning a handgun for safety reasons.

"I thought it would be good to educate myself first," she said. "I have grandchildren who come to my home, and I thought this informa- tion would be important."

It is important for everyone to be educated on gun safety because there is no legislation for firearm violence.

"I'm definitely interested, but we have a big task ahead of us," she said. "I think the current UIHHS is very important. With Chris Lane (current UIHHS institution) and having this experience, we get it more." Said the outgoing presi- dent, Lara Jat, who will speak at the ceremony, reflecting on the past and looking to the future.

"More than half of the senators who will be sworn in are new to UIHHS," she said, which will be a challenge for the group.

"There's something that we have overcome right off the bat," she said, asking that he plans to use methods to fix the new senators involved.

The hospital will be a continuing fight with the Iowa Legislature to receive money for the UI budget, said said. He expects a "pretty smooth transi- tion" from the new president to the old presidency.

"I think it will be a success," he said. "It's a hard act to follow. She's a great speaker as well as an inter­ nist leader."

---

Fête celebrates Jewish faith, customs

■ Witte will participate in Shabbat Across America tonight.

By Lauren Brandt

The Daily Iowan

Jewish groups across the country will celebrate their day of rest, as Shabbat Across America begins tonight.

Shabbat, the day of rest, is cele- brated every Friday evening for a practical program based on the practice of keeping a Sabbath, said David Levinthal, a fellow in the Jewish Campus Service Core.

"We want to learn about their faith and customs, and also about the different customs that are important in the community," he said.

The program will take place at the Hillel, 302 N. Market St., at noon.

The group will include a folk music from the Jewish Campus Service Core.

We want people to learn about the Jewish faith and customs.

David Levinthal, in the Jewish campus service core.

Heartland magazine is scheduled for the celebration.

Approximately 245 synagogues and Hillels across the country will hold a similar program widely sponsored by the National Jewish Outreach Program, Levinthal said.

Some UI students will be attending tonight's event because they want to learn more about the Jewish faith and customs, UI junior Brianie Levenson said.

"I hope to learn about Friday evening services," she said, "and learn more about the Jewish faith and customs." "Learn more about the people."

On Friday, UI junior Brianna Magal is planning to attend the pro- gram tonight because she will be a great opportunity to meet other Jewish students from the Midwest.

"There are going to be some people I know," she said. "I hope to learn about Judaism in different areas, and I want to share experiences with other Jewish students.

"More than 100 people are expected to attend tonight, a crowd, Magal said. "I hope to make up my own mind from different walks of life." "The more we understand a few, and anyone is interested to attend," she said.

"If anyone is interested to attend," she said. "I hope to make up my own mind from different walks of life." "The more we understand a few, and anyone is interested to attend," she said.

Lori Thomas from the Children's Mercy Hospital in Kansas City, Mo., right, demonstrates a handgun trigger lock as Deb Bruzena, an advanced practical nurse at the UIHHS, holds the gun.

UNDER A NICKEL MINUTES

includes digital phone and insurance

Right now get 1,000 pure digital minutes, a Nokia 5190 phone and insurance for just $44.95 a month. That's less than $5 a minute. Plus, you get free features like Mobile Mail, Caller ID and Voice Mail. Stop by Iowa Wireless today because there's never been a better time to go digital.

IOWA WIRELESS

Making the cutting edge comfortable

1-888-684-0500

www.iowawireless.com

CITY BRIEF

UIHHS inauguration

Saturday

UI professor Andrew Stoll says he is thrilled about assuming the presidency of the UI Student Government Saturday afternoon.

Stoll along with several UIHHS'ers, will take oath to represent the UI student body for the next academic year at a 1:30 p.m. ceremony in the UIHHS Capitol Building.

"I'm definitely excited, but we have a big task ahead of us," he said. "I think the current UIHHS is very important. With Chris Lane (current UIHHS institution) and having this experience, we get it more." Said the outgoing president, Lara Jat, who will speak at the ceremony, reflecting on the past and looking to the future.

"More than half of the senators who will be sworn in are new to UIHHS," she said, which will be a challenge for the group.

"There's something that we have overcome right off the bat," she said, asking that he plans to use methods to fix the new senators involved.

The hospital will be a continuing fight with the Iowa Legislature to receive money for the UI budget, said said. He expects a "pretty smooth transi- tion" from the new president to the old presidency.

"I think it will be a success," he said. "It's a hard act to follow. She's a great speaker as well as an inter­ nist leader."

---

THE WEDGED PACKET 337-6677 99¢ delivery in Iowa City Close Call 525 20th St. (24-HR) VISA/MASTERCARD RENA PAGAN in Iowa City Tom's Deli 2054 3rd Ave. UNDER NICKEL MINUTES $2.00 OFF Buy Two, Get One Free Diner Hours The Wedged Packet **
Mock-trial team to compete

The University of Iowa law students will head to nationals this Saturday.

By Nicole Schuppert

The Daily Iowan

After defeating students from all other Midwestern law schools at the regional level, the University of Iowa National Trial Advocacy Program will represent the Midwest in the National Trial Advocacy Championships.

The UI Trial Advocacy Program allows law students to participate in a simulated court competition as a junior or senior, and allows law students to participate in both regional and the national level.

In the regional competition, the winning team were comprised of third-year law students from 22 other universities, including Northwestern University, University of Arizona, University of Washington, University of Iowa, University of Notre Dame and Tulane University.

The regional competition was held on Feb. 14-18 in Kansas City, Mo. The final round, third-year law students Justin Allen, Tom Koshich and Mary Presquet defeated students from Washington University.

Delaware-area judges and lawyers will judge the first round of the competition, which will be graded by the American College of Trial Lawyers, an honorary association of lawyers.

"Trial Advocacy is one of the few opportunities that doesn't deal with things put in and responsibilities," Koshich said. "It's a hands-on experience that allows you to get involved."

Presented the Trial Advocacy Program has given her a chance to put her classroom skills to use in the courtroom and has taught her to work with other law students as a team.

"It made me learn to think and perform under pressure," Allen said. "You're recognized each other's strengths and we try to exploit them in order to minimize our weaknesses.

Besides participating in the competition, Trial Advocacy Team members are involved in classes, advanced programs and seminars for career preparation.

"I like to win, but that's not the main reason we do this," Watson said. "Most important is the educational experience, and because of this we win, even if we don't."

Through the competition in Dallas, the UI team is the atmosphere outside the courtroom is friendly.

After Dec. 3, callers may dial 961.

The date announced Thursday is a change from a previous school, which planned for a phase in between June 1 and Sept. 1. "The slightly longer planning period will give phone directory publishers more time to include the most recent information and the cellular companies more time to program customer phones," the utilities board said in a statement.

Also Thursday, the utilities board said that Des Moines will cut to 614 as soon as possible.

The new area code is a jagged J-shape, with the curve running south of Des Moines and wrapping up as far north as northern Galva Country. Cities including Des Moines, Ankeny, Altoona, Fort Dodge and Winterset will remain 515, Mason City, Marshalltown, Grinnell and Newton, for example, will not.

The right time along exchange by exchanging area codes are also not identical. Therefore, toll calls will have to dial the new area code and the number.

The utilities board is currently holding public meetings on what to do with the 532 area code, which is also running out of possible numbers.

STATE BRIEF

Panel approves $55 million smoking package

UI SMOKE — A key budget panel approved a bill to spend $55 million of the state's share of the multi-state tobacco settlement, and legislative leaders said they were confident agreement could come early the next legislative session.

Also Thursday, the utilities board said that five cities will cut their use of des Moines to 614 as soon as possible.

The Iowa Utilities Board will phase in the 614 area code starting on July 1. Between July 9 and Dec. 3, other area codes will work, but toll calls will be advised of the upcoming change.

After Dec. 3, callers may dial 961.

The date announced Thursday is a change from a previous school, which planned for a phase in between June 1 and Sept. 1. "The slightly longer planning period will give phone directory publishers more time to include the most recent information and the cellular companies more time to program customer phones," the utilities board said in a statement.

Also Thursday, the utilities board said that five cities will cut their use of des Moines to 614 as soon as possible.

The Iowa Utilities Board will phase in the 614 area code starting on July 1. Between July 9 and Dec. 3, other area codes will work, but toll calls will be advised of the upcoming change.

After Dec. 3, callers may dial 961.

The date announced Thursday is a change from a previous school, which planned for a phase in between June 1 and Sept. 1. "The slightly longer planning period will give phone directory publishers more time to include the most recent information and the cellular companies more time to program customer phones," the utilities board said in a statement.

Also Thursday, the utilities board said that five cities will cut their use of des Moines to 614 as soon as possible.

The Iowa Utilities Board will phase in the 614 area code starting on July 1. Between July 9 and Dec. 3, other area codes will work, but toll calls will be advised of the upcoming change.

After Dec. 3, callers may dial 961.

The date announced Thursday is a change from a previous school, which planned for a phase in between June 1 and Sept. 1. "The slightly longer planning period will give phone directory publishers more time to include the most recent information and the cellular companies more time to program customer phones," the utilities board said in a statement.

Also Thursday, the utilities board said that five cities will cut their use of des Moines to 614 as soon as possible.

The Iowa Utilities Board will phase in the 614 area code starting on July 1. Between July 9 and Dec. 3, other area codes will work, but toll calls will be advised of the upcoming change.

After Dec. 3, callers may dial 961.

The date announced Thursday is a change from a previous school, which planned for a phase in between June 1 and Sept. 1. "The slightly longer planning period will give phone directory publishers more time to include the most recent information and the cellular companies more time to program customer phones," the utilities board said in a statement.

Also Thursday, the utilities board said that five cities will cut their use of des Moines to 614 as soon as possible.

The Iowa Utilities Board will phase in the 614 area code starting on July 1. Between July 9 and Dec. 3, other area codes will work, but toll calls will be advised of the upcoming change.

After Dec. 3, callers may dial 961.

The date announced Thursday is a change from a previous school, which planned for a phase in between June 1 and Sept. 1. "The slightly longer planning period will give phone directory publishers more time to include the most recent information and the cellular companies more time to program customer phones," the utilities board said in a statement.

Also Thursday, the utilities board said that five cities will cut their use of des Moines to 614 as soon as possible.

The Iowa Utilities Board will phase in the 614 area code starting on July 1. Between July 9 and Dec. 3, other area codes will work, but toll calls will be advised of the upcoming change.

After Dec. 3, callers may dial 961.

The date announced Thursday is a change from a previous school, which planned for a phase in between June 1 and Sept. 1. "The slightly longer planning period will give phone directory publishers more time to include the most recent information and the cellular companies more time to program customer phones," the utilities board said in a statement.

Also Thursday, the utilities board said that five cities will cut their use of des Moines to 614 as soon as possible.

The Iowa Utilities Board will phase in the 614 area code starting on July 1. Between July 9 and Dec. 3, other area codes will work, but toll calls will be advised of the upcoming change.

After Dec. 3, callers may dial 961.
Boo m picks up social-net programs

Because of the good news, Social Security may not run dry for an extra 3 years and Medicare.

By Alice Ann Long
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Thanks to emerging Medicare, Social Security will remain financially sound for at least three more years, until 2031, the trustees of the program said Thursday.

"It would be a mistake, a big mistake, I believe, to lack the config- 20 years down the road," by defusing re- forms, said Social Security Commissioner Andrew A. Martin for Cap Hill, however, the good news was not without down- fall. Some saw the positive reports as a reason to curtail the benefits of the program.

"We should act on a new plan that the CBO made the skilling of personal savings accounts for all Americans," said Phyllis Wain and Minority Committee Chairwoman Rep. Steny H. Hoyer in recent years, a booming finan- cial system has spurred a wave of refi- nance. But even before Thursday's report, the prospects for fundamental Medicare and Social Security changes this elec- tion year were dim, with members of Congress hostile to compromise.

There was little talk of major reforms Thursday. Nevertheless, Democrats renewed their call to add new prescription drug bene- fits to Medicare.

"There is no use inirsch prescrip- tion-plus-drugs," said Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y. This is the third consecutive year that both Social Security and Medicare have shown improve- ments in the wake of the economic downturn.

For Medicare, it was the best report card in 25 years. The health-benefit programs for the elderly and disabled had been pro- jected to run short of cash in 2015, leading lawmakers to seek new revenue-harvesting legislation to balance the federal budget in 2017.

Last year, trustees reported that Medicare had improved in 2015. It was the second year in their recent esti- mates.

Meanwhile, the data when Social Security will exhaust its trust fund only moved back to 2037, back from three years from last year's actuarial of 2040. The trustees had pushed it off by two years in 2009 and three to 2010. Since 2009, the system failed to make a difference to the United States and extended another year, trustees said this year, compared to last.

Six-year-old Elian Gonzalez is ready at a moment's notice, as trust- tresses of the programs said he asked the other Cuban relatives to stay as long as it takes.

"Today is the day when Social Security will exhaust its trust fund only moved back to 2037, back from three years from last year's actuarial of 2040. The trustees had pushed it off by two years in 2009 and three to 2010. Since 2009, the system failed to make a difference to the United States and extended another year, trustees said this year, compared to last.

The administration's official tried to downplay the data, reminding that the biggest hole grew between - those between 1990 and 2004 - would be filling within the 2030s and bring longer in the Social Security surplus.

"If we could, I would be the second day, it's the reason why we're here," said Treasury Secretary Lawrence Summers, who serves as trustee alongside other administration officials and two private experts.

President Clinton took credit for the progress during a visit to a senior citizen center in Queens, N.Y.

"This means the commitment to fund deficits and good govern- ment can make a difference to families," he said.

Administration officials tried to weak a rule of severity reminding that the biggest hole grew between - those between 1990 and 2004 - would be filling within the 2030s and bring longer in the Social Security surplus.

"If we could, I would be the second day, it's the reason why we're here," said Treasury Secretary Lawrence Summers, who serves as trustee alongside other administration officials and two private experts.

President Clinton took credit for the progress during a visit to a senior citizen center in Queens, N.Y.

"This means the commitment to fund deficits and good govern- ment can make a difference to families," he said.

Administration officials tried to weak a rule of severity reminding that the biggest hole grew between - those between 1990 and 2004 - would be filling within the 2030s and bring longer in the Social Security surplus.

"If we could, I would be the second day, it's the reason why we're here," said Treasury Secretary Lawrence Summers, who serves as trustee alongside other administration officials and two private experts.

President Clinton took credit for the progress during a visit to a senior citizen center in Queens, N.Y.

"This means the commitment to fund deficits and good govern- ment can make a difference to families," he said.
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

UI should rethink logo switch

I consider myself an Iowa fan and share the concern about the new logo for the University of Iowa. When the new logo was introduced in 1985, the entire student body was involved in the design process, and the final product was a reflection of the university's values and traditions.

The new logo, designed by the advertising agency Wieden+Kennedy, is a modern interpretation of the original logo and was created to reflect the university's commitment to innovation and progress. However, the new logo has been criticized for its lack of uniqueness and for not being representative of the university's history and traditions.

As someone who has grown up in Iowa and has been a loyal fan of the Hawkeyes, I believe that the university should consider reverting to the original logo. The new logo is not unique or distinctive enough to represent the university's identity, and it is not a faithful representation of the university's rich history.

It is important to remember that the university's logo is more than just a symbol; it represents the values and traditions of the university. The university should prioritize the development of a logo that best represents its identity and history.

The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Campus View

Supreme Court victory for the Marblboro man

And with a wave of the Supreme Court's hand, all anti-smoking legislation has vanished, like a puff of smoke.

Last week, the court ruled that the Clinton administration did not have the authority to impose the power of tobacco regulations on the states. This ruling leaves the state of Arizona, which is known as President Clinton's home state, as the only state in the country that still has anti-smoking laws.

The tobacco industry has been fighting for this decision for years, and the court's ruling is a major victory for the industry. The tobacco industry has spent billions of dollars in legal fees and lobbying efforts to prevent any further anti-smoking legislation.

The Supreme Court's decision is a significant setback for the anti-smoking movement and for public health in general. The tobacco industry has been able to prevent the implementation of important anti-smoking laws, and the health consequences of this will be felt for generations to come.

The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

EDITORIAL

Pope deserves praise, not criticism, for Jerusalem visit

Pope John Paul II, at the end of his historic trip to the Holy Land last week, went to the Western Wall in Jerusalem and placed a piece of paper in a crack. Written with the same words that all who go to the wall share — God will reach out — this paper offered an apology. The pope asked for forgiveness for the Inquisition, the Church's transgressions in the past, reaching back to the end of the Crusades and the Inquisition.

And well deserved, indeed. Though the pope's visit to Israel was a personal journey for him, it will now wash away any outward apology from the pope regarding the Church's transgressions. The visit was a step towards healing Inquisitions and the Crusades.

On the other hand, the pope's visit to Israel was a historic event, and it is important to acknowledge the weight of the occasion. The visit was significant not only for the pope but also for the Israeli people.

The visit was a step towards healing Inquisitions and the Crusades. The pope's visit to Jerusalem was a historic event, and it is important to acknowledge the weight of the occasion. The visit was significant not only for the pope but also for the Israeli people.

The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

On the Spot

Do you think that a mandatory 24-hour waiting period for abortions is a good or bad idea?

No, it would make it too difficult for women to access reproductive services.

Yes, it would help to reduce the number of unplanned pregnancies.

The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Qualifiedly

Let me square up with you that take this advice into consideration of our community extremely seriously.

UI President Mary C. Coleman, on a recent e-mail message that was recently sent to the College of Dentistry. UI Public Safety is investigating the incident.

OPINIONS

expressed in the viewpoints of the Daily Iowan are those of the signed column. The Daily Iowan is an independent student newspaper and does not necessarily reflect the views of the student body.

The Daily Iowan is an independent student newspaper and does not necessarily reflect the views of the student body.

Killebrew's criticism of Coleman unwarranted

The Daily Iowan's editorial writer.

It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticized for her appearance. The Daily Iowan has previously defended Coleman, stating that the criticism is unwarranted.

"It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticized for her appearance. The Daily Iowan has previously defended Coleman, stating that the criticism is unwarranted." The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Campus View: Supreme Court victory for the Marlboro man

And with a wave of the Supreme Court's hand, all anti-smoking legislation has vanished, like a puff of smoke.

Last week, the court ruled that the Clinton administration did not have the authority to impose the power of tobacco regulations on the states. This ruling leaves the state of Arizona, which is known as President Clinton's home state, as the only state in the country that still has anti-smoking laws.

The tobacco industry has been fighting for this decision for years, and the court's ruling is a major victory for the industry. The tobacco industry has spent billions of dollars in legal fees and lobbying efforts to prevent any further anti-smoking legislation.

The Supreme Court's decision is a significant setback for the anti-smoking movement and for public health in general. The tobacco industry has been able to prevent the implementation of important anti-smoking laws, and the health consequences of this will be felt for generations to come.

The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Killebrew's criticism of Coleman unwarranted

The Daily Iowan's editorial writer.

It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticized for her appearance. The Daily Iowan has previously defended Coleman, stating that the criticism is unwarranted.

"It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticized for her appearance. The Daily Iowan has previously defended Coleman, stating that the criticism is unwarranted." The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Campus View: Supreme Court victory for the Marlboro man

And with a wave of the Supreme Court's hand, all anti-smoking legislation has vanished, like a puff of smoke.

Last week, the court ruled that the Clinton administration did not have the authority to impose the power of tobacco regulations on the states. This ruling leaves the state of Arizona, which is known as President Clinton's home state, as the only state in the country that still has anti-smoking laws.

The tobacco industry has been fighting for this decision for years, and the court's ruling is a major victory for the industry. The tobacco industry has spent billions of dollars in legal fees and lobbying efforts to prevent any further anti-smoking legislation.

The Supreme Court's decision is a significant setback for the anti-smoking movement and for public health in general. The tobacco industry has been able to prevent the implementation of important anti-smoking laws, and the health consequences of this will be felt for generations to come.

The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Killebrew's criticism of Coleman unwarranted

The Daily Iowan's editorial writer.

It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticized for her appearance. The Daily Iowan has previously defended Coleman, stating that the criticism is unwarranted.

"It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticized for her appearance. The Daily Iowan has previously defended Coleman, stating that the criticism is unwarranted." The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Campus View: Supreme Court victory for the Marlboro man

And with a wave of the Supreme Court's hand, all anti-smoking legislation has vanished, like a puff of smoke.

Last week, the court ruled that the Clinton administration did not have the authority to impose the power of tobacco regulations on the states. This ruling leaves the state of Arizona, which is known as President Clinton's home state, as the only state in the country that still has anti-smoking laws.

The tobacco industry has been fighting for this decision for years, and the court's ruling is a major victory for the industry. The tobacco industry has spent billions of dollars in legal fees and lobbying efforts to prevent any further anti-smoking legislation.

The Supreme Court's decision is a significant setback for the anti-smoking movement and for public health in general. The tobacco industry has been able to prevent the implementation of important anti-smoking laws, and the health consequences of this will be felt for generations to come.

The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Killebrew's criticism of Coleman unwarranted

The Daily Iowan's editorial writer.

It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticized for her appearance. The Daily Iowan has previously defended Coleman, stating that the criticism is unwarranted.

"It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticized for her appearance. The Daily Iowan has previously defended Coleman, stating that the criticism is unwarranted." The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Campus View: Supreme Court victory for the Marlboro man

And with a wave of the Supreme Court's hand, all anti-smoking legislation has vanished, like a puff of smoke.

Last week, the court ruled that the Clinton administration did not have the authority to impose the power of tobacco regulations on the states. This ruling leaves the state of Arizona, which is known as President Clinton's home state, as the only state in the country that still has anti-smoking laws.

The tobacco industry has been fighting for this decision for years, and the court's ruling is a major victory for the industry. The tobacco industry has spent billions of dollars in legal fees and lobbying efforts to prevent any further anti-smoking legislation.

The Supreme Court's decision is a significant setback for the anti-smoking movement and for public health in general. The tobacco industry has been able to prevent the implementation of important anti-smoking laws, and the health consequences of this will be felt for generations to come.

The Daily Iowan, April 5, 2023

Killebrew's criticism of Coleman unwarranted

The Daily Iowan's editorial writer.

It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticized for her appearance. The Daily Iowan has previously defended Coleman, stating that the criticism is unwarranted.

"It is unfortunate that Coleman has been criticize
The Uganda cult was run by self-described visionary who took over her husband's $1,970,000, a Ugandan woman says.

By Craig Nelson
Associated Press

KAMPALA, Uganda — Eight years after Joseph Kibwetere abandoned his family to help form a cult in southwestern Uganda, a former business manager of support organizations, says Thomas Kibwetere, his estranged wife, had been "the leader of the Movement for the Restoration of the Ten Commandments of God. But he arranged with his wife to take her and their 13-year-old daughter to a country home and took over her business.

Joseph Kibwetere, a former school administrator who had a lasting interest in Catholic ecumenism, has been widely quoted as the leader of the Movement for the Restoration of the Ten Commandments of God. But he arranged with his wife to take her and their 13-year-old daughter to a country home and took over her business.

By Associated Press

OSLO, Norway — Norway, the world's second-largest oil exporter, said Thursday it is raising its oil production ceiling by 100,000 barrels a day — or 3.2 percent — to help OPEC counter surging oil prices.

The move, which raises the ceiling to 3.3 million barrels a day, was a reminder of happier times for OPEC, which had cut its exports by 200,000 barrels a day starting Saturday after Mexico had cut its exports by 250,000 barrels in corporation with the cartel.

"Our latest action is mainly symbolic. Unlike OPEC, Norway bases its production target on a prearranged tepid quantity, which it has not been able to meet," Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.

"High prices have negative effects in many ways, such as cutting consumption and reducing exports," he said Thursday in an interview in Kahunga. "Our interest was to stop the consumption of the Norwegian Oil Ministry came after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided this week to increase its production by approximately 7 percent, or 1.7 million barrels a day.

But Norway's decision will reverse just half of the 300,000 barrels a day it cut that it had initiated.

"There is still a need for regula- tion in the world oil market," said Norwegian Oil Minister Olav Akselsen after the decision was announced. "A total lifting of Norway's production limits could have been seen as negative by other oil-producing countries."

Though Norway is not a member to increase its production ceiling. Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.

"High prices have negative effects in many ways, such as cutting consumption and reducing exports," he said Thursday in an interview in Kahunga. "Our interest was to stop the consumption of the Norwegian Oil Ministry came after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided this week to increase its production by approximately 7 percent, or 1.7 million barrels a day.

But Norway's decision will reverse just half of the 300,000 barrels a day it cut that it had initiated.

"There is still a need for regula- tion in the world oil market," said Norwegian Oil Minister Olav Akselsen after the decision was announced. "A total lifting of Norway's production limits could have been seen as negative by other oil-producing countries."

Though Norway is not a member to increase its production ceiling. Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.

"High prices have negative effects in many ways, such as cutting consumption and reducing exports," he said Thursday in an interview in Kahunga. "Our interest was to stop the consumption of the Norwegian Oil Ministry came after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided this week to increase its production by approximately 7 percent, or 1.7 million barrels a day.

But Norway's decision will reverse just half of the 300,000 barrels a day it cut that it had initiated.

"There is still a need for regula- tion in the world oil market," said Norwegian Oil Minister Olav Akselsen after the decision was announced. "A total lifting of Norway's production limits could have been seen as negative by other oil-producing countries."

Though Norway is not a member to increase its production ceiling. Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.

"High prices have negative effects in many ways, such as cutting consumption and reducing exports," he said Thursday in an interview in Kahunga. "Our interest was to stop the consumption of the Norwegian Oil Ministry came after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided this week to increase its production by approximately 7 percent, or 1.7 million barrels a day.

But Norway's decision will reverse just half of the 300,000 barrels a day it cut that it had initiated.

"There is still a need for regula- tion in the world oil market," said Norwegian Oil Minister Olav Akselsen after the decision was announced. "A total lifting of Norway's production limits could have been seen as negative by other oil-producing countries."

Though Norway is not a member to increase its production ceiling. Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.

"High prices have negative effects in many ways, such as cutting consumption and reducing exports," he said Thursday in an interview in Kahunga. "Our interest was to stop the consumption of the Norwegian Oil Ministry came after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided this week to increase its production by approximately 7 percent, or 1.7 million barrels a day.

But Norway's decision will reverse just half of the 300,000 barrels a day it cut that it had initiated.

"There is still a need for regula- tion in the world oil market," said Norwegian Oil Minister Olav Akselsen after the decision was announced. "A total lifting of Norway's production limits could have been seen as negative by other oil-producing countries."

Though Norway is not a member to increase its production ceiling. Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.

"High prices have negative effects in many ways, such as cutting consumption and reducing exports," he said Thursday in an interview in Kahunga. "Our interest was to stop the consumption of the Norwegian Oil Ministry came after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided this week to increase its production by approximately 7 percent, or 1.7 million barrels a day.

But Norway's decision will reverse just half of the 300,000 barrels a day it cut that it had initiated.

"There is still a need for regula- tion in the world oil market," said Norwegian Oil Minister Olav Akselsen after the decision was announced. "A total lifting of Norway's production limits could have been seen as negative by other oil-producing countries."

Though Norway is not a member to increase its production ceiling. Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.

"High prices have negative effects in many ways, such as cutting consumption and reducing exports," he said Thursday in an interview in Kahunga. "Our interest was to stop the consumption of the Norwegian Oil Ministry came after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided this week to increase its production by approximately 7 percent, or 1.7 million barrels a day.

But Norway's decision will reverse just half of the 300,000 barrels a day it cut that it had initiated.

"There is still a need for regula- tion in the world oil market," said Norwegian Oil Minister Olav Akselsen after the decision was announced. "A total lifting of Norway's production limits could have been seen as negative by other oil-producing countries."

Though Norway is not a member to increase its production ceiling. Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.

"High prices have negative effects in many ways, such as cutting consumption and reducing exports," he said Thursday in an interview in Kahunga. "Our interest was to stop the consumption of the Norwegian Oil Ministry came after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided this week to increase its production by approximately 7 percent, or 1.7 million barrels a day.

But Norway's decision will reverse just half of the 300,000 barrels a day it cut that it had initiated.

"There is still a need for regula- tion in the world oil market," said Norwegian Oil Minister Olav Akselsen after the decision was announced. "A total lifting of Norway's production limits could have been seen as negative by other oil-producing countries."

Though Norway is not a member to increase its production ceiling. Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.

"High prices have negative effects in many ways, such as cutting consumption and reducing exports," he said Thursday in an interview in Kahunga. "Our interest was to stop the consumption of the Norwegian Oil Ministry came after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided this week to increase its production by approximately 7 percent, or 1.7 million barrels a day.

But Norway's decision will reverse just half of the 300,000 barrels a day it cut that it had initiated.

"There is still a need for regula- tion in the world oil market," said Norwegian Oil Minister Olav Akselsen after the decision was announced. "A total lifting of Norway's production limits could have been seen as negative by other oil-producing countries."

Though Norway is not a member to increase its production ceiling. Before Thursday's decision, the oil level stood at 3.2 million barrels per day but in January, Norway's offshore oil fields produced only 3.15 million barrels per day.

The latest decision raises the question of whether the 3.5 million barrels per day production ceiling will be rethought.
The 400 Blows – the genesis of genius

In the late 1940s, a group of French filmmakers sought to forever alter their country’s cinematic production with a new style of filmmaking called "realism." Jean-Louis Truffaut, along with his fellow auteur Francois Truffaut, headed the movement and aimed to create a new form of cinema that was authentic and true to life. The result was the 1959 film "The 400 Blows," which became a touchstone for the new wave of French cinema known as "la nouvelle vague." The film tells the story of a young boy named Antoine Doinel, played by Jean-Pierre Léaud, who rebels against the constraints of his family and school, leading to a series of unfortunate events.

The brilliance of "The 400 Blows" was evident in many facets of the film – the performances of the cast, the provocative cinematography, the tragedy of the story. Its impact is still felt today, with many films exploring the challenges of youth and the complexities of life. "The 400 Blows" is a film that addresses the difficult life of a young boy, and its essential influence still resonates within contemporary stories worldwide.
Iowa rowers prepared, focused

The Hawkeye rowing team hosts its final home meet of the season Saturday vs. Kansas, Kansas State, and Tennessee.

By Molly Tho...
The NCAA president says illegal recruiting and gambling are the biggest problems with the system.

By Joel Beck
Associated Press

The NCAA is trying to change the way college basketball gets its players, scholarships and stipends, cutting back on booster payments and modifying amateur status.

Included also is the association's ambitious proposal to change the culture that allows the operation of the programs that腐蚀 Congress has legitimized through gambling sports. "We feel we will win if we get to the finish line," NCAA President Gabriel Paul said Thursday, one day after attending a Senate hearing in Washington before the finance committee. As popular as the gambling has been with the NCAA membership, some of its donors' other proposals drew opposition from the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Women's Lacrosse

The inaugural Iowa women's lacrosse team takes the field for the first time this weekend, the first time the Hawkeyes have begun a season with a live home opener at Kinnick Stadium.

IOWACLUWB

Women's Lacrosse

The inaugural Iowa women's lacrosse team takes the field for the first time this weekend, the first time the Hawkeyes have begun a season with a live home opener at Kinnick Stadium.

IOWACLUWB

Women's Lacrosse

The inaugural Iowa women's lacrosse team takes the field for the first time this weekend, the first time the Hawkeyes have begun a season with a live home opener at Kinnick Stadium.

IOWACLUWB

Women's Lacrosse

The inaugural Iowa women's lacrosse team takes the field for the first time this weekend, the first time the Hawkeyes have begun a season with a live home opener at Kinnick Stadium.

IOWACLUWB

Women's Lacrosse

The inaugural Iowa women's lacrosse team takes the field for the first time this weekend, the first time the Hawkeyes have begun a season with a live home opener at Kinnick Stadium.

IOWACLUWB

Women's Lacrosse

The inaugural Iowa women's lacrosse team takes the field for the first time this weekend, the first time the Hawkeyes have begun a season with a live home opener at Kinnick Stadium.
SPORTS

GIVING IT EVERYTHING THEY HAVE

Four members of the Iowa women's gymnastics team will attempt to qualify for national competition this weekend.

By Molly Thomas

For four members of the Iowa women's gymnastics team, this weekend will be the final and most important step of the 2000 season.

Frederick Heather Dekle, sophomore, Courtney Conover, junior, Angie Hungerford, freshman, and Sonya Matis will travel to the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis to compete in the NCAA regional competition.

The all-around winners from each of the six regions receive an automatic bid to the national meet.

"I'm looking forward to the competition," Dekle said. "It'll be a good test for us.

"I've had a good year, but I still think there's room for improvement. I'd really like to do well and earn a berth to nationals for the team.

"I think we're all ready to go," Conover said. "We've been working hard all season and we're excited to see how we do.

"I've had some ups and downs this season, but overall I'm happy with how I've done. I'm looking forward to seeing what I can achieve.

"I'm also excited to see how the other members of the team perform. They've been working hard too and I think we'll all do well.

"I'm just really looking forward to the experience," Matis said.

"I've been working hard all season and I'm excited to see how I do. I've had some good performances and I'm hoping to improve on that this weekend.

"I think we all have a good chance of qualifying for nationals," Matis said. "We've all been working hard and I think we'll all do well.

"I'm just really looking forward to the experience," Matis said.

Softball

In the final 15 games of the season, the 2000 Iowa softball team will be trying to reach the final eight at the NCAA Softball Tournament.

"We need to do well in the regional to qualify," Head Coach Mike Lorenzen said.

"We've had some ups and downs this season, but overall I'm happy with how we've done. I'm excited to see how we do in the regional and how we can improve.

"I think we all have a good chance of qualifying for nationals," Matis said. "We've all been working hard and I think we'll all do well.

"I'm just really looking forward to the experience," Matis said.

Women's Tennis

The Iowa women's tennis team will continue their winning ways when they travel to Wisconsin. The No. 36 Hawkeyes (8-3, 5-3) will face the No. 63 Badgers (6-9, 3-1) at the U-V-V-I Center on March 25.

"We've been playing well and we're excited to see how we do," Head Coach Greg Wallace said.

"We've had some ups and downs this season, but overall I'm happy with how we've done. I'm excited to see how we do in the regional and how we can improve.

"I think we all have a good chance of qualifying for nationals," Matis said. "We've all been working hard and I think we'll all do well.

"I'm just really looking forward to the experience," Matis said.
Clyde Drexler, former Houston Towers player and Hall of Famer, speaks about his coaching and parenting experiences.

"The Ball is the Best Teacher..."

Joe Drexler, thinking, 'Boy, this is going to be fun!'

"It wasn't bl am e Drexler for leaving."
Penn State women's basketball team refuses to be intimidated by No. 1 Connecticut in their women's First Four annual tournament in Philadelphia.

By Ken Berger
Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — During the 12-game winning streak that led to her team's No. 1 ranking, Penn State's Cora Cruz had the luxury of playing games in front of sellout crowds.

"I'm sure I speak for the entire team in saying that we're hungry," Cruz said.

During their week on the road, the Nittany Lions (23-3) practiced in front of scattered fans, a far cry from the raucous Japanese fans that have been prominent in their semifinal matchup.

Those who like the stars to remain exactly as they were doing the entire year might think that's a recipe for disaster. But it's a challenge to be played before that.

"We haven't played a house in a while," Cruz said. "We haven't played with all the fans."

The Nittany Lions have scored at least 80 points in their last six games and have defeated Connecticut twice, the last time on Jan. 29. Prior to that, they had not beaten Connecticut since 1996.

"It's a good game," Cruz said. "We're not going to be intimidated."

Penn State (23-3) and Connecticut (26-0), the No. 1 team in the final Associated Press Top 25 poll, meet Friday night in the Final Four of the 2001 NCAA women's basketball tournament at the First Niagara Center in Buffalo, N.Y.

Cruz, who's averages 12.9 points per game, established herself as an all-American last season as a junior, when the Nittany Lions were 31-2 and in the NCAA Final Four.

"Last year was a great year," Cruz said. "This year is better than that."

Cruz, who's scored at least 17 points in 20 of the last 21 games, has been named the Big Ten's Player of the Year for the second straight season. She's one of five Penn State players that averaged at least 13 points last season.

"We're the brightest kids," Cruz said. "We're in search of greatness. We have a habit of playing great basketball."

The Nittany Lions have a record of 9-2 in games against AP Top 25 teams and have won seven in a row against ranked opponents.

"I think we have the talent and experience," Cruz said. "I think we're ready to play against Connecticut."

Penn State's only defeat this season was to Connecticut in a 65-64 loss at the Civic Center of Norwich, Conn., on Nov. 18.

"We know that this is the team we need to beat," Cruz said. "We're not going to be intimidated."

Penn State is seeking its first NCAA championship since 1987 and its first national title in women's basketball since 1982.

"We're looking forward to playing Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're looking forward to playing for a national championship."

The Nittany Lions have been national favorites throughout the season and haven't lost a regular-season game since the 2000 preseason poll.

"We're the team to beat," Cruz said. "We're the team to beat."

Cruz said that she and her teammates have no fear of Connecticut and that they're ready for the challenge.

"We're ready to play against Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're ready to play against Connecticut."

Penn State's only defeat this season was to Connecticut in a 65-64 loss at the Civic Center of Norwich, Conn., on Nov. 18.

"We know that this is the team we need to beat," Cruz said. "We're not going to be intimidated."

Penn State is seeking its first NCAA championship since 1987 and its first national title in women's basketball since 1982.

"We're looking forward to playing Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're looking forward to playing for a national championship."

The Nittany Lions have been national favorites throughout the season and haven't lost a regular-season game since the 2000 preseason poll.

"We're the team to beat," Cruz said. "We're the team to beat."

Cruz said that she and her teammates have no fear of Connecticut and that they're ready for the challenge.

"We're ready to play against Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're ready to play against Connecticut."

Penn State's only defeat this season was to Connecticut in a 65-64 loss at the Civic Center of Norwich, Conn., on Nov. 18.

"We know that this is the team we need to beat," Cruz said. "We're not going to be intimidated."

Penn State is seeking its first NCAA championship since 1987 and its first national title in women's basketball since 1982.

"We're looking forward to playing Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're looking forward to playing for a national championship."

The Nittany Lions have been national favorites throughout the season and haven't lost a regular-season game since the 2000 preseason poll.

"We're the team to beat," Cruz said. "We're the team to beat."

Cruz said that she and her teammates have no fear of Connecticut and that they're ready for the challenge.

"We're ready to play against Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're ready to play against Connecticut."

Penn State's only defeat this season was to Connecticut in a 65-64 loss at the Civic Center of Norwich, Conn., on Nov. 18.

"We know that this is the team we need to beat," Cruz said. "We're not going to be intimidated."

Penn State is seeking its first NCAA championship since 1987 and its first national title in women's basketball since 1982.

"We're looking forward to playing Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're looking forward to playing for a national championship."

The Nittany Lions have been national favorites throughout the season and haven't lost a regular-season game since the 2000 preseason poll.

"We're the team to beat," Cruz said. "We're the team to beat."

Cruz said that she and her teammates have no fear of Connecticut and that they're ready for the challenge.

"We're ready to play against Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're ready to play against Connecticut."

Penn State's only defeat this season was to Connecticut in a 65-64 loss at the Civic Center of Norwich, Conn., on Nov. 18.

"We know that this is the team we need to beat," Cruz said. "We're not going to be intimidated."

Penn State is seeking its first NCAA championship since 1987 and its first national title in women's basketball since 1982.

"We're looking forward to playing Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're looking forward to playing for a national championship."

The Nittany Lions have been national favorites throughout the season and haven't lost a regular-season game since the 2000 preseason poll.

"We're the team to beat," Cruz said. "We're the team to beat."

Cruz said that she and her teammates have no fear of Connecticut and that they're ready for the challenge.

"We're ready to play against Connecticut," Cruz said. "We're ready to play against Connecticut."
SUMMER SUBLET, FALL OPTION

$$769 plus utilities - 3 bedrooms. Utilities included.
Available: Aug. 1
Two bedrooms, 800 sq. ft.
One bedroom, 540 sq. ft.
All utilities included.

SUMMER SUBLET, FALL OPTION

$$639 - 1 bedroom.
Available: Aug. 1

It's not too early to start thinking about updating your apartment!
We're here to help!
Daily Iowan Classifieds
315-574-335-5785

It's easy!

1. Call us at 315-574-335-5785.
2. Describe the updates you need.
3. We'll schedule a time for our repairman to come evaluate.

For more information:
The Daily Iowan Classifieds
335-335-5784 or 335-5785

A Photo is Worth A Thousand Words
SELL YOUR CAR
30 DAYS FOR $40
Call our office to set up a time that is convenient for you to bring your car by to be photographed. Your ad will run for 30 days - for $40
Deadline: 2 days prior to run date desired
For more information contact:
The Daily Iowan Classifieds
335-335-5784 or 335-5785

10. Close to campus.
11. Large rooms.
12. One car garage.
14. Washer and dryer.
15. Heat, hot water, electric.
16. One bedroom, 540 sq. ft.
17. Large kitchen.
18. Large living room.
19. Large bedroom.
20. Large closets.
21. Large windows.
22. Large view.
23. Large parking.
24. Large location.
25. Large amenities.
26. Large features.
27. Large benefits.
28. Large value.
29. Large comfort.
30. Large convenience.
31. Large satisfaction.
32. Large fun.
33. Large happiness.
34. Large success.
35. Large happiness.
36. Large satisfaction.
37. Large fun.
38. Large joy.
39. Large peace.
40. Large contentment.
41. Large pleasure.
42. Large delight.
43. Large happiness.
44. Large satisfaction.
45. Large con-
Six teams left to slug it out at Championships

GYMNASTICS

Continued from Page 1B

"No, you argued with him," said Seles. "He said, 'Well, I'm not going to put up with this.' Then he went away." The coach then ordered Brand, the university president, to leave a practice. "There would be a suspension," said Kowal. "They have worked together," The coach then ordered Brand, the university president, to leave a practice. "There would be a suspension," said Kowal. "They have worked together."

Rowers hope for fan support

SPORTS

Here's a great team that's been around for many, many years," Seles said. "I'm not going to win it and I'm not gonna lose it," Seles said. "If anything, I'll try to win it more." She said she was hobbled against Hügge by a previously undisclosed sore ankle.

"I had a hard time moving sideways," Seles said. "I can't make many more errors, and I couldn't beat her down for four hours.

Hingis hands Seles her worst loss; will meet Davenport in final

Martina Hingis did not allow塞les to win a game in her Ericsson Open semifinal.

By Steve Wine

Rowers hope for fan support

Continued from Page 1B

Tennis

Continued from Page 1B

"If we play as well as we can, we can compete and win," Cudney said. "They are probably better than us, but we still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"If for no other reason, the experience will be there for us. We need to use that experience to become something special," said Seles, who reached her first appearance in the Ericsson Open semifinals.

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

Hawkes face tough Big Ten

Ohio State, as we'll need to step up. The Big Ten is as competitive as we've ever seen, and we need to step up. We need to get better in every aspect of our game," said Seles.

"We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles.

"We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles.

Experience the key to Hawkeye championship

Continued from Page 1B

"We need to step up. The Big Ten is as competitive as we've ever seen, and we need to step up. We need to get better in every aspect of our game," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles.

Moments

Continued from Page 1B

"It felt like I was in the match," Seles said. "I played very well, very well. I was pleased with having it with this going into the semifinal."

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

Rowers hope for fan support

"If we play as well as we can, we can compete and win," Cudney said. "They are probably better than us, but we still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"If for no other reason, the experience will be there for us. We need to use that experience to become something special," said Seles, who reached her first appearance in the Ericsson Open semifinals.

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

Hawkes face tough Big Ten

Ohio State, as we'll need to step up. The Big Ten is as competitive as we've ever seen, and we need to step up. We need to get better in every aspect of our game," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles.

Experience the key to Hawkeye championship

"We need to step up. The Big Ten is as competitive as we've ever seen, and we need to step up. We need to get better in every aspect of our game," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles.

Moments

Continued from Page 1B

"It felt like I was in the match," Seles said. "I played very well, very well. I was pleased with having it with this going into the semifinal."

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

Rowers hope for fan support

"If we play as well as we can, we can compete and win," Cudney said. "They are probably better than us, but we still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"If for no other reason, the experience will be there for us. We need to use that experience to become something special," said Seles, who reached her first appearance in the Ericsson Open semifinals.

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

Hawkes face tough Big Ten

Ohio State, as we'll need to step up. The Big Ten is as competitive as we've ever seen, and we need to step up. We need to get better in every aspect of our game," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles.

Experience the key to Hawkeye championship

"We need to step up. The Big Ten is as competitive as we've ever seen, and we need to step up. We need to get better in every aspect of our game," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles.

Moments

Continued from Page 1B

"It felt like I was in the match," Seles said. "I played very well, very well. I was pleased with having it with this going into the semifinal."

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

Rowers hope for fan support

"If we play as well as we can, we can compete and win," Cudney said. "They are probably better than us, but we still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"If for no other reason, the experience will be there for us. We need to use that experience to become something special," said Seles, who reached her first appearance in the Ericsson Open semifinals.

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

"I think we showed today that we can still put a pretty good score up there. After all, Michigan is the No. 1 team in the country."

Hawkes face tough Big Ten

Ohio State, as we'll need to step up. The Big Ten is as competitive as we've ever seen, and we need to step up. We need to get better in every aspect of our game," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles. "We'll be ready to play any team," said Seles.