Frat may take over Varsity House

By Brian Moore

The Daily Iowan

The Clinton Street property was recently purchased by the brothers of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, which has been looking to purchase the property for a while now.

The property was owned by Oncor Holding Corp., which is composed of Delta Tau Delta alumni who had been leasing the property to Varsity House Inc. for use as a private mortle dormitory.

While the UI would not divulge any information about the sale, Mike Manful of the Oncor Holding Corp. said that the UI had the property set in early March, and the university would take possession of the property.

"There was a meeting, and they were interested in it," Manful said.

The price was set, and they accepted the offer, but they did not specify what they were going to do with the building.

John Phillips, who currently leases the property and who was aware of the possibility of losing it, said, "It doesn't surprise me that the UI wants to own it." He added that he knew the property would be lost, and he simply had a possibility it could be leased to them.

The private dormitory was established after the Delta Tau Delta fraternity's property was recently purchased by the brothers of Greater King David Baptist Church.

The Oncor Holding Corp. property is currently located at 707 N. Dubuque St.

"Even though we're in a house, we think the property would be an ideal location -- right on campus near the dorms," Watson said. "If the transaction comes through, it would be beneficial because it would give us a lot more room."

Mathematics receives$200,000 NSF grant

Laurent Jeu, a UI assistant professor of mathematics, has received a $200,000 grant from the National Science Foundation to study the numerical simulation of differential-algebraic equations and use the software tools resulting from the study in joint projects, industry research solicitations and universities.

The project results are expected to have application to a variety of research fields, including rigid and flexible multibody dynamics, classical mechanical dynamics and flight dynamics of multiple spacecraft spacecraft. The project will include opportunities for undergraduate participation and for graduate students to collaborate with industry and for master's and doctoral theses. Particular attention will be paid to reaching out to minority students.

Russian mammoths take over Sycamore Mall

After losing its space at the Old Capitol mall, the exhibit will head for Sycamore Mall.

By Christopher Tropea

The Daily Iowan

As an international mammoth exhibit will open in Sycamore Mall May 18 and run through September 15.

The "Giant Russian Mammoths" arrived in Iowa City April 26 and will display inside the former Children's Museum space at the mall. The group is part of the Iowa City Youth Center "Larger Than Life" series.

Although Lawrence said he is happy with the space at the mall, Sycamore Mall was not the Russian center's first choice. "They had a contract with Old Capitol mall," Lawrence said.

"It's a lot more convenient getting there, but it was not set up, enough, Lawrence said. He then Gerry Kriens, curator of the Sycamore Mall, and asked him to come.

Lawrence, the Old Capitol Town City property administrator and marketing director, said he was "on display," said Daniel Kriens, Curator of the Paleontological Institute of Russia, which is working with a 30,000-ft mammoth.

By Chris Kriens, a technician for the Paleontological Institute of Russia, has been working on the project since February 2023. Lawrence said the team will be present at the exhibit.

"We think it's a great opportunity for the students to learn about the animals and their lives," Lawrence said.

The tenants for the show are not definitive, but it will be open during the entire month of May.

FILM REVIEW

By Von Doffle

Frank's life is in limbo, and his wife and John's mother, Julia (Elizabeth Mitchell), is among those marked for murder.

Prevention is one moving into one fantastical and warranted reality. There is the 1999 world in which John exists, and then there is the 1997 reality, the year of the Amazing Mets, in which Frank lives with his fiancée. There are obvious loopholes in the story, such as why Frank doesn't immediately reappear after his life has been extirpated. Technicalities such as this could have been rationalized in the script, but it's Frank's apathy toward his wife's death that leads us to think he's a cold-blooded killer. The script stutters a bit and feels overly sentimental at times, but if anything it's hard to accept wild notions when the only things that happen are saving his life and thus worlds as one. The film is very realistic and more human and dimensional. Their diverse personas create a good interaction that acts as the nucleus of the film. Mickisch is great as the mother in and talk to one of our local, friendly representatives at any of our convenient locations.

Iowa should withdraw from FLA

In recent years, few issues have sparked debate in the UI community like the role of the University of Iowa in the Fair Labor Association. As the UI represents one of the largest university-based businesses in the country, it is important to both the local and national economies. However, in light of the various controversies surrounding the FLA, the UI’s participation in the organization has raised concerns among many students and faculty.

Withdrawal from the FLA will not cripple the labor association or the UI. Such a move will not, as some fear, lead to a loss of international recognition for the UI. The full recognition of humanity rests on the UI’s right to edit for publication by the editors according to the rules. The Daily Iowan reserves the right to edit for length, style and substance.

PITCHER PERFECT

Blackwell throws Iowa's first no-hitter since 1979

By Greg Wallace

The Daily Iowan

Perfection. It is chased by everyone, in all walks of life. A dream achieved at the most moment after, yet the dream unfulfilled.

Chris Blackwell achieved it.

The Iowa senior pitcher needed only 99 pitches Saturday in Iowa City to complete the Hawkeye baseball team's first no-hitter since 1979, meaning Northwestern's 4-0 win in the first game of a doubleheader by smashing a perfect game.

The perfect, the first Iowa no-hitter since 1978, developed almost out of the last inning against Iowa State in 1978, and against every no-hitter in the Big Ten, Blackwell -- or at least, Hawkeye to throw a no-hitter against a Big Ten team.

Iowa keeps no distinction between perfect and perfect games.

"We just trying to throw a lot of strikes," Blackwell said. "They were at the first pitch, a lot of pressure in the first inning. It's going to mess with anything."

Blackwell got all the help he needed. Northwestern starter Gabe Ribar walked No. 2 hitter Kevin Dyer and Allee Duvall ripped a liner just past the third baseman, leaving Vietnamese and giving Blackwell a cushion.

Northwestern starter John Blackwell (5-7) also became the first to pitch a seven-inning perfect game since Bill Drambly achieved the feat against Kansas State in 1978. One inning long, or any one-dubbed games in the Big Ten.

"We've been holding our own in the periods. Our first hitter, we're throwing a no-hitter against a Big Ten team."
