Site says ‘kool’ to liquor sales

Liquor sales in the state will top $100 million this fiscal year, the highest figure in recent memory.

Associated Press

DES MOINES -- State liquor sales will top $100 million this fiscal year, the highest figure in at least three decades, despite a big drop in sales due to a drought in 1987.

Based on current sales trends, the state projects net profits of $10 million on gross liquor sales of $110 million for the fiscal year ending June 30, said Lewis Walding, the administrator of the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Commission, whose profits are set at 7 percent from last year’s total of $80.4 million.

Among the factors for the increase, rising sales, product sales and inflation. The projected sales are 2.8 percent above fiscal year 1990. The agency said.

The university's proposal to build a new medical school and to move a current campus building to the site would be reviewed by the state board.

Grants totaling $5.5 million have brought the health sciences campus and UI Health Care one step closer to completion, according to plans, the state of Iowa and a joint task force announced Thursday in approving the University of Iowa Campus Improvement Plan.

Chairman R. Dale Kelch said the $5.5 million in grants were the first to be received by the state board since the task force was formed in 1998, it is scheduled to be completed in 2003.

The land acquisition for the new facility was the second project completed, and the land purchase for the medical sciences campus, a $12 million project, was completed in late 2002.

By Thursday afternoon, the land acquisition for the new medical sciences campus and construction of the medical sciences campus will be completed, he said.

The project in room for the UI’s operating budget and is used solely for the purpose of hospital operation and construction projects, said UI President J. Kevin McDonald.

If the funding for a health sciences campus increase comes upon the President's Fiscal and Planning Committee and the president, said McDonald.

The campaign overhaul draws the ire of some labor leaders.

By Michael J. Sitten

WASHINGTON — Federal investigators say they are close to completing a civil antitrust suit against the National Football League, in a major blow to NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue.

The suit, which was brought by the Justice Department, alleges that the NFL violated antitrust laws by failing to negotiate in good faith with the players' union.

The Justice Department's lawsuit comes as the NFL faces pressure from Congress and the courts to make changes to its labor relations policies.

The NFL has denied the allegations and has asked a federal judge to dismiss the case.

Hill's broken ankle to keep him out of Sydney Olympic games

Kobe Bryant and Eddie Jones are the leading candidates to take the 100-meter dash for the Dream Team.

By Richard Abello

NEW YORK - Grant Hill will miss the Olympic Games. The center's ankle, ailing for months, is not ready for summer.

Hill said Thursday he won't be with his teammates when they compete in the Olympic Games that open Aug. 12 in Sydney.

"I'll be doing everything in my power to be ready for next season," Hill said.

The idea of trying to help Pittsburgh Panthers football team in spreading. I grew up a steel worker's son, and I want to help the community in every way possible," he said.

Hill had repeatedly said he was not sure the other players on the team he's been so close to would replace him, Hill, still on his three-year extension late Monday. "The nightmare has come true," he said. "I'm not even going to take the time to say it again."

Marion Jones speaks out in Nike ads, jokes around in others

The record-setting track star is receiving positive feedback from her latest commercials.

By Elizabeth A. Davis

WASHINGTON - Marion Jones has found herfarm is in the market for a new player, but she doesn't have to look far. Jones, who returned to track in 1997 after being at North Carolina's basketball team, began in the 100, 200, 400, 800 relay and long jump in Florida. She did not run at a high school, unlike her brother, Aries, a high jumper.

She also approached the NABC Fan of the Year, and she said she expressed some interest in the American women's heptathlon.

"It was the idea of getting some exposure as a sprinter or a woman, if you want to look at it, because I'm not sure if we're going to be able to go in and compete in the Olympics," she said.

Despite Jones' accomplishments, she and other track athletes aren't as well-known by the public as other sports figures. But others have been received favorably by viewers, Jones said.

"I don't have a short list," she said.

"I never had to sneak a little excited when he initially picked up that grapefruit and his feet got really good, and I got really excited when it was over," she said.

A "Friends" indeed
BY DAVID FOX

NEW YORK — For a decade, "Friends," Comedy Central's hit sitcom, has been a proven winner for the network and its stars. The show's success has been so great that even the most casual viewer can recognize the names of the characters, who are often referred to by their first names.

"Friends" has become one of the most popular TV shows of all time, with millions of fans tuning in every week. The show has been nominated for numerous awards and has won many of them, including several Emmys. The cast also received critical acclaim for their performances, with many of them going on to successful careers in other projects.

"Friends" follows the lives of six young singles living in New York City. The show is known for its witty dialogue and its ability to address relevant social issues, such as sexual identity and race, in a way that is both humorous and thought-provoking.

Despite the show's success, it faced some challenges along the way. In 1995, the NBC network tried to take the show away from the cable channel in order to boost its own ratings. However, the fight against NBC was ultimately successful, and "Friends" continued on Comedy Central.

Although the show ended in 2004, its legacy lives on. "Friends" has become a cultural touchstone for many fans, and its influence can be seen in the work of many shows that came after it.

Though the show is no longer on the air, "Friends" remains a beloved part of television history. It will always be remembered as a classic piece of American entertainment, one that captured the hearts and minds of viewers around the world.
Iowa State's Rosenfeld's NFL draft stock rising

The NFL scouting service says he will be one of the top-three senior quarterbacks next season.

By Chuck Schleeter
Associated Press

BRISBANE, Calif. — Iowa State's Rosenfeld has risen from the lower half of the draft to near the top.

A year ago, Rosenfeld wasn't even on the top 20 as he entered the University of Iowa as a starting quarterback. Now, it is Rosenfeld's name that is one of the nation's top three senior quarterbacks.

In the spring report by National Football Strength and Conditioning, Rosenfeld was ranked No. 1 in the nation among upperclassmen. His ranking came from Yearbook.com.

Rosenfeld, who had a career record of 5-7, threw for 1,830 yards and was the second highest rated senior quarterback.

Rosenfeld named three last season because of a broken leg he sustained in early September. Then he broke it again in the season opener against Oklahoma. His league record was 0-2 and only 41 percent of his passes were completed.

"It always makes you play harder when you know the people's lives and what you have to go through in order to make the final cut," Rosenfeld said. "It's a beautiful life in the NFL, but it's a tough thing to make the club and then have something go wrong and you're gone."

Los Angeles Lakers leading scorer Jerry West said Thursday he was down in there, "I'm not as active as I used to be, but I think I'll be able to help with the defense." West also added, "there's no one who can replace him, no one who can be his equal," and he praised his defense.

The F.I.T. Zone's Jason Smith of the Northwestern Forest Service looks to pass against #81 of the NBA Eastern Conference. Thursday.

When Bier joined the Lakers, he was already a leading scorer in the NBA, having scored three points in his first five games. He was also seen as a valuable asset to the team's defense, as he was known for his ability to score baskets and make assists.

Bier also showed up in the box score, as he scored 12 points and had 10 rebounds. His performance earned him a start in the Lakers' next game against the Portland Trail Blazers.

However, Bier's impact was not limited to his performance on the court. He also became a role model for young basketball players in his hometown.

Despite his injuries and setbacks, Bier remained a positive force in his community, inspiring others to overcome adversity and persevere through difficult times.
