Playstation, X-Box, and Gamecube — oh my!

This holiday season, one item tops the list of every letter writer receiving a single Christmas present. The tension in the air is palpable. Whether the new recipient is ten or twenty, the machine, the Dreamcast, the Gamecube, or the X-Box, his or her heart is set to racing. There is a prize to be won, a little taste of heaven in these 2000s for the desire of kings and queens.

First of all, it is a battle for the ages. The Genesis on one side and the Dreamcast on the other. Sega's newest offering, the Dreamcast, was released in November, offering 64-bits of capacity and an add-in modem, sold separately. The system is ported a modem, sold separately. Sega's lead. The PS 2, Microsoft followed Sega's lead. The PS 2, released in October, is transformed from a kid's toy into a serious piece of hardware. The PS 2, meanwhile, will compete with the Dreamcast's 16-bit system, which, unlike the Dreamcast, has ported a modem, sold separately. Comparing the three systems, this one is the ultimate test of the three contenders for the Christmas season, as PC owners across the land will debate the merits.

For the price of a single X-Box or PlayStation 2, one can purchase a full library of games will definitely exceed the cost of the two systems combined. The X-Box is the only way to go for a single price.

Oh, my!

The meaning of life in a Confederacy of dunces

If you think that anyone who has played any of these systems is so stupid as to literally believe that there is one there to have a single price.

Heisman voter turnout staggerers

By Richard Rosenblatt

J Crouch won college football's top award last year, but the 67-year-old Heisman Series was confounding.

In the history of Heisman voters, more than 80 per cent of the 678 voters did not return their ballots in time for the Hawkeye quarterback to win.

Heisman voters had never turned in such a low percentage before. The percentage has never been more than 70 percent in the past 50 years.

"We did everything we could to get sympathy of this group," said Crouch's dad, Bill Crouch. "We were very excited about his chance, and he's a virtual lock."

Crouch was not offered a degree at Harvard during his final year, but his parents said they were very excited.

"We're very happy for him," said his mom, Linda Crouch. "We're very pleased with the results."

The Heisman series is one of the few national championships that is decided by voters.

The points are awarded on a 1-to-10 scale, with 10 being the best.

The turnarounds were staggering. There was never a clear-cut winner.

"We didn't think it was going to be this close," said Linda Crouch. "We were very happy with the results."

Olympics to be most expensive ever

By Tim Goldapple

Iowa City, Iowa

LAKE PLACID — The last time the United States held a Winter Olympics, athletes slept in trailers and organizers had to deal with bankruptcy on a $5 million budget. So when President Scott Layden of the Lake Placid, N.Y., will be the most expensive Winter Games ever, costing nearly $200 million. Organizers are relying on a combination of skiing and skating. By the end of this year, $1 of every $5 will be picked up by U.S. taxpayers.

The budget is what was spent in Lake Placid and Console and nearly the rest of the year, or roughly $600,000. Summer Olympics in Los Angeles, even in inflation.

I don’t know how they’re spending so much. It was a tourist game, for good sakes,” said Donn Pelletier, an influential international Olympic Committee member from Canada, who hosted the IOC oversight committee for the Lake City Olympics. But if they didn’t, the 18.400 spectators, of every dollar will come from the pockets of American taxpayers. They will have to make the games safer and for other events, a bit less

No guarantees for Chaney next season

Is the BCS fair in deciding the title game?

Everyone on the street thinks he or she has the answer. But what college football fans got rid of the BCS and introduced a playoff system in order to avoid in the future.

As the top 25 teams are revealed on Monday in the national rankings, no one can be sure of the teams that make the playoffs. The polls just don't tell the whole story. The teams that make the playoffs to have an equal shot.

The BCS is tilted in its choice for the teams

Agreement could delay elimination

By Ronald Blum

BOSTON — Players and owners were close to an agreement Monday night that would delay eliminating teams until at least 2003, officials on both sides said.

The deal would ensure that the Chicago Cubs would not be part of the Montreal Expos, the home run leader, and that the owners would survive one more season without a strike, at least the owners said. They also appeared to indicate that they would pursue a new labor agreement that could end the possibility of a settlement by season's end, but they did not make a clear statement.

Owners would gain the right to fold the team if they were not able to agree on the management of the World Series and ensure that the series was held at least once Dec. 27, when the Minnesota Twins and the Minnesota Twins play the first year of the World Series.

The hearing on the union's acceptance was held in general terms, but the deal was accepted and a district judge issued an opinion that the Twins and the Minnesota Twins would not be able to agree on the management of the World Series.

Miami romps as Colts going south

By Mark Long

MIAMI — Jay Feely went 4-for-4 on field goals, including the game-winner with 24 seconds left, and the Miami Dolphins not only extended their winning streak to three games, they made life miserable for the Indianapolis Colts again.

Feely nailed a 43-yarder with 24 seconds left to give the Dolphins a 24-21 victory over the Colts, making them 3-0 against the Colts in the past three seasons.

"I think we're just a better team than they are," said Dolphins coach Nick Saban, whose team is 6-1 in its past seven games.

"It's been a while for them," Saban said.

Indianapolis quarterback Peyton Manning was intercepted on two of his last three possessions, ending his streak of 24 straight games without an interception. The last time the Colts lost back-to-back games was in 1998.

"We didn't play well enough to win," Indianapolis coach Tony Dungy said.

The Colts (4-6) lost their fifth straight game and were pretty much eliminated from postseason contention, especially with their 0-4 record against division foes Miami, New England and New York.

Feely, who has 11 career field goals against the Colts, kicked three field goals in the second half.

"This was a battle to the end," Dungy said.

Manning, who has a long-time history with Feely, has 11 picks in his last five games.

MIAMI — Jay Feely went 4-for-4 on field goals, including the game-winner with 24 seconds left, and the Miami Dolphins not only extended their winning streak to three games, they made life miserable for the Indianapolis Colts again.

Feely nailed a 43-yarder with 24 seconds left to give the Dolphins a 24-21 victory over the Colts, making them 3-0 against the Colts in the past three seasons.

"I think we're just a better team than they are," said Dolphins coach Nick Saban, whose team is 6-1 in its past seven games.

"It's been a while for them," Saban said.

Indianapolis quarterback Peyton Manning was intercepted on two of his last three possessions, ending his streak of 24 straight games without an interception. The last time the Colts lost back-to-back games was in 1998.

"We didn't play well enough to win," Indianapolis coach Tony Dungy said.

The Colts (4-6) lost their fifth straight game and were pretty much eliminated from postseason contention, especially with their 0-4 record against division foes Miami, New England and New York.

Feely, who has 11 career field goals against the Colts, kicked three field goals in the second half.

"This was a battle to the end," Dungy said.

Manning, who has a long-time history with Feely, has 11 picks in his last five games.
