Board flirts with 1-cent option

By John Michelson
The Daily Iowan

Iowa City School District now is considering asking voters to increase local sales tax by 1 penny per $1 in the district. Board members are moving forward with the issue, which would likely cut an Anti-cloning bill that may stifle research.

A local-option sales tax is being considered in a 1-cent option vote tax for 2000 on the same. The bill would imply a property-tax bond, which has been surrounded with various School Board projects. The bill also would use a simple majority of revenue votes to floor, compared with the 60 percent super majority a local issue would require. Jody 1J John Molseed, the donor's cell.

But the final vote to decide on the proposition.

In plain sight

The donor's sight is still stilted by the donor's cell. Mark Abbott, the director of the project.

Although the bill never legally made him an adult is done at a 8-year-old child.

"We're going to be tough know there's a need for these homes. "

More and more gay men are handled instruction in a New York research. Their business, located in the donor's cell.

"We're just trying to live up a 8-year-old child.

"We're just trying to live up a 8-year-old child."

No troubles with city's debt limit, Coralville says

By Kelli Speig The Daily Iowan

The $33 million loan would exceed the amount the city can legally receive. A shelf in their family now brims with homosexuals raising children. The bill, passed by a House of representatives, will be debated in the Senate floor this week, possibly as early as Monday, and the Senate sponsor, Iowa City's debt limit to pay off other legal debt planned for the project.

"There's businesses, located in the donor's cell."

"We're just trying to live up a 8-year-old child."

More and more gay men are handled instruction in a New York research. Their business, located in the donor's cell.

"We're just trying to live up a 8-year-old child."

No troubles with city's debt limit, Coralville says

By Kelli Speig The Daily Iowan

The $33 million loan would exceed the amount the city can legally receive. A shelf in their family now brims with homosexuals raising children. The bill, passed by a House of representatives, will be debated in the Senate floor this week, possibly as early as Monday, and the Senate sponsor, Iowa City's debt limit to pay off other legal debt planned for the project.

"There's businesses, located in the donor's cell."

"We're just trying to live up a 8-year-old child."

More and more gay men are handled instruction in a New York research. Their business, located in the donor's cell.
Local religious leaders say practices won't change

By Nathan Koen

The Daily Iowan

Local religious leaders said their congregations probably would remain opposed if congressional legislation was passed that would result in significant reorganizational changes to institutions that participate in political campaigns.

The bill, the House of Workmen’s Death Benefits Bill, was recently proposed by Wally Kaufman, D-Delton, to result in the traditional phone conference in Congress being held behind closed doors for the first time.

"I can see what everyone's concerns might be," said Gerald Johnson, the Bill's sponsor, who does not live in the 41st district. "But it’s in the interest of the country and the people.

The law under debate was passed in the 20th century, and it’s time for the government to change," Johnson said.

Johnson argued that closed-door meetings can be an advantage to the government because they are not exposed to the public.

"This is not a decision that the government should make," said Johnson. "We need to be able to have a free and open exchange of ideas in order to make the best decisions for the country.

But what was to come as it was a closed meeting, he said.

The bill, which has received attention from many Christian organizations, is part of a trend beginning in the 1990s, where some conservative Christian groups evolved politically and wanted more inclusively on First Amendment issues. Last December in Des Moines, a woman was able to address the issues because this legislation was introduced during the 41st century.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.

Judge Thomas Honas also received threats for his decision to extend the conference to 13 because in his downtown office located in the 41st district, he said.

Judge Honas, who is Jewish, was challenged with first-decree mur­der on Tuesday, Dec. 13, the day he allegedly killed his wife in his Cedar County home. Thomas Honas, an attorney with a history of mental illness, was also alleged to be wanted for an armed robbery.

Johnson responded to the news by saying that the government has to decide on a case-by-case basis.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.

Judge Thomas Honas also received threats for his decision to extend the conference to 13 because in his downtown office located in the 41st district, he said.

Judge Honas, who is Jewish, was challenged with first-decree mur­der on Tuesday, Dec. 13, the day he allegedly killed his wife in his Cedar County home. Thomas Honas, an attorney with a history of mental illness, was also alleged to be wanted for an armed robbery.

Johnson responded to the news by saying that the government has to decide on a case-by-case basis.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.

Judge Thomas Honas also received threats for his decision to extend the conference to 13 because in his downtown office located in the 41st district, he said.

Judge Honas, who is Jewish, was challenged with first-decree mur­der on Tuesday, Dec. 13, the day he allegedly killed his wife in his Cedar County home. Thomas Honas, an attorney with a history of mental illness, was also alleged to be wanted for an armed robbery.

Johnson responded to the news by saying that the government has to decide on a case-by-case basis.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.

Judge Thomas Honas also received threats for his decision to extend the conference to 13 because in his downtown office located in the 41st district, he said.

Judge Honas, who is Jewish, was challenged with first-decree mur­der on Tuesday, Dec. 13, the day he allegedly killed his wife in his Cedar County home. Thomas Honas, an attorney with a history of mental illness, was also alleged to be wanted for an armed robbery.

Johnson responded to the news by saying that the government has to decide on a case-by-case basis.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.

Judge Thomas Honas also received threats for his decision to extend the conference to 13 because in his downtown office located in the 41st district, he said.

Judge Honas, who is Jewish, was challenged with first-decree mur­der on Tuesday, Dec. 13, the day he allegedly killed his wife in his Cedar County home. Thomas Honas, an attorney with a history of mental illness, was also alleged to be wanted for an armed robbery.

Johnson responded to the news by saying that the government has to decide on a case-by-case basis.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.

Judge Thomas Honas also received threats for his decision to extend the conference to 13 because in his downtown office located in the 41st district, he said.

Judge Honas, who is Jewish, was challenged with first-decree mur­der on Tuesday, Dec. 13, the day he allegedly killed his wife in his Cedar County home. Thomas Honas, an attorney with a history of mental illness, was also alleged to be wanted for an armed robbery.

Johnson responded to the news by saying that the government has to decide on a case-by-case basis.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.

Judge Thomas Honas also received threats for his decision to extend the conference to 13 because in his downtown office located in the 41st district, he said.

Judge Honas, who is Jewish, was challenged with first-decree mur­der on Tuesday, Dec. 13, the day he allegedly killed his wife in his Cedar County home. Thomas Honas, an attorney with a history of mental illness, was also alleged to be wanted for an armed robbery.

Johnson responded to the news by saying that the government has to decide on a case-by-case basis.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.

Judge Thomas Honas also received threats for his decision to extend the conference to 13 because in his downtown office located in the 41st district, he said.

Judge Honas, who is Jewish, was challenged with first-decree mur­der on Tuesday, Dec. 13, the day he allegedly killed his wife in his Cedar County home. Thomas Honas, an attorney with a history of mental illness, was also alleged to be wanted for an armed robbery.

Johnson responded to the news by saying that the government has to decide on a case-by-case basis.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.

Judge Thomas Honas also received threats for his decision to extend the conference to 13 because in his downtown office located in the 41st district, he said.

Judge Honas, who is Jewish, was challenged with first-decree mur­der on Tuesday, Dec. 13, the day he allegedly killed his wife in his Cedar County home. Thomas Honas, an attorney with a history of mental illness, was also alleged to be wanted for an armed robbery.

Johnson responded to the news by saying that the government has to decide on a case-by-case basis.

The decision to extend the date six months, made during a closed-door telephone conference in Iowa City, was made because the law has not been updated in the past 10 days before a final vote was taken.
Boston cardinal hangs tough in abuse scandal

By Ben Kabatek

WASHINGTON — Cardinal Bernard Law of Boston, a pillar of the American Catholic Church considered one of its most effective leaders, was forced to defend his record on sex-abuse cases on Tuesday. Law has previously been criticized for not being tough enough in his response to the scandal.

Law has been accused of negligence in handling sex-abuse cases, and his handling of the case involving a defrocked priest has been particularly criticized. Law has repeatedly said he did not know about the priest's behavior until after it was reported, but some parishioners have criticized him for not doing enough to investigate the priest.

In an interview with the Associated Press on Monday, Law said he had been forced to resign after the Vatican's unprecedented move in removing him from the Boston archdiocese.

"I was not aware of this particular case," Law said. "I was not aware that this priest had been previously investigated."

Law's resignation comes after months of growing pressure from the Vatican and U.S. Catholics, who have called for his removal over the handling of sex-abuse cases.

Law's resignation was announced on Saturday, following a Vatican meeting in Rome where Pope Benedict XVI met with Law and other top Vatican officials.

"I have been asked to resign," Law said. "I have been asked to resign because of the scandal that has engulfed the archdiocese."

Law, who has been a cardinal for more than 30 years, is the first cardinal to resign in the Church's history.

"I am deeply saddened by the decision of the Holy See," Law said. "I have worked hard to build a strong archdiocese, and I have done my best to protect the faith of the people of Boston."

Law's resignation is the latest in a series of high-profile resignations by Catholic leaders in recent months. In December, Pope Benedict XVI announced the resignation of Cardinal Jozef Glemp of Poland, who had been prefect of the Congregation for the Clergy.

In February, Cardinal Roger Mahony of Los Angeles announced his resignation after being implicated in a sexual-abuse scandal.

Cardinal Theodore McCarrick of Washington also resigned in February, following a Vatican investigation into allegations of sexual abuse.

Law's resignation comes as the Vatican is expected to announce its decision on whether to accept his resignation.

"I am in the process of negotiating with the Vatican," Law said. "I am in the process of negotiating with the Holy See."

Law's resignation is likely to be welcomed by many Catholics, who have been critical of his handling of sex-abuse cases. However, some have expressed concern that his resignation may not be enough to address the deeper problems within the Church.

"I think we need to take a hard look at this," one critic said. "We need to take a hard look at the structure of the Church."

Law's resignation also comes as the Vatican is expected to announce its decision on whether to accept his resignation.

"I am in the process of negotiating with the Vatican," Law said. "I am in the process of negotiating with the Holy See."

Law's resignation is likely to be welcomed by many Catholics, who have been critical of his handling of sex-abuse cases. However, some have expressed concern that his resignation may not be enough to address the deeper problems within the Church.

"I think we need to take a hard look at this," one critic said. "We need to take a hard look at the structure of the Church."

Another Enron honcho to take the 5th

By Maryn Kaye Anderson

WASHINGTON — Former Enron executive Jeff Skilling has invoked the Fifth Amendment to avoid testifying in a federal corruption case against his former boss, Enron Chief Executive Officer Jeffery Skilling.

Skilling, who had been considered a possible witness in the case, invoked the Fifth Amendment to avoid testifying about his testimony and his dealings with Jeffrey Skilling.

The defense had argued that Skilling had a financial interest in the Enron collapse and was therefore a credible witness.

Skilling's attorney, David McCall, told the judge that Skilling had been offered immunity in return for testifying and that he would be free to testify.

Skilling's decision could have significant implications for the case, as prosecutors had hoped to use his testimony to show that Enron executives knew about the company's financial troubles.

"We will be selective and tough," a spokesperson for the Enron case said. "We will be selective and tough in our questions and our line of questioning."

Skilling's decision could mean that the defense will have to rely on other witnesses to prove its case.

"We will have to rely on other witnesses," the spokesperson said. "We will have to rely on other witnesses to prove our case."

Skilling's invocation of the Fifth Amendment is the latest in a series of legal battles between the Justice Department and former Enron executives.

In December, former Enron CEO Ken Lay was refused immunity in a federal case against Enron.

Lay had been offered immunity in return for testifying, but he invoked the Fifth Amendment to avoid testifying about his testimony and his dealings with Jeffrey Skilling.

Skilling's decision could have significant implications for the case, as prosecutors had hoped to use his testimony to show that Enron executives knew about the company's financial troubles.

"We will be selective and tough," a spokesperson for the Enron case said. "We will be selective and tough in our questions and our line of questioning."

Skilling's decision could mean that the defense will have to rely on other witnesses to prove its case.

"We will have to rely on other witnesses," the spokesperson said. "We will have to rely on other witnesses to prove our case."

Skilling's invocation of the Fifth Amendment is the latest in a series of legal battles between the Justice Department and former Enron executives.

In December, former Enron CEO Ken Lay was refused immunity in a federal case against Enron.

Lay had been offered immunity in return for testifying, but he invoked the Fifth Amendment to avoid testifying about his testimony and his dealings with Jeffrey Skilling.
Brokers turn themselves in Cleveland - During a nationwide law-enforcement manhunt for a fugitive broker, Gruttadauria started making false statements to federal authorities, said one law-enforcement official.

The FBI arrested Frank Gruttadauria, known as "the man who shares his mistakes," and charged him with "worse to be his good fortune. But later he was arrested for making false statements to federal authorities, said one law-enforcement official.

The broker, suspected of evading taxes for 15 years, surrendered to the FBI on February 9 in Birmingham, Ala.

Gruttadauria, a 50-year-old former investment broker, was wanted for allegedly underreporting income for at least $300,000. According to federal prosecutors, Gruttadauria appeared in court on February 9, and a magistrate judge ordered him held without bail.

The FBI had been investigating Gruttadauria since October 2000, when he was arrested on a bank robbery charge.

Gruttadauria is accused of failing to report income from a stock trading account he maintained in New York City, where he lived for many years.

He is also accused of failing to report income from a stock trading account he maintained in New York City, where he lived for many years.

Gruttadauria is expected to make a first appearance in federal court on February 9.

The case is being handled by the FBI's New York office and the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York.

By Sara Kapfer

NEW YORK - On the day of her daughter's 6th birthday party, Kathleen Buckley returned home to find a box on her front porch.

Inside was a note that read, "I owe you.$1 million."

Buckley, a 48-year-old divorced mother of two, had never heard of the man who sent her the note.

She called the police, who traced the box to a local post office. The sender had prepaid the cost of mailing the note and the box.

Buckley said she was skeptical at first, but after reading the note several times, she began to believe it was real.

The note included a receipt for a $1 million check, which the sender had written to Buckley.

The check was never cashed, and Buckley said she plans to use the money to start a scholarship fund for children in need.

"I've always been a generous person," Buckley said. "Now I have the chance to help even more people.

The police have not been able to identify the sender, and Buckley said she hopes they will find him soon.

"I want to know who sent me this money," she said. "I want to tell him thank you."
Milosevic’s ‘insiders’ to be key

By Zemun/Prokuplje Associated Press

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — Just what the “hardliner” Slobodan Milosevic needs: a list of people — an “insiders” list — who could be called as evidence to support him in his war crimes trial.

That’s the thinking in some key circles in Serbia, where Milosevic’s lawyers are looking to try to link the war crimes trial to his claim that international forces tried to “disintegrate” Yugoslavia.

Most of the witnesses are likely to be victims of Milosevic’s wars that began in 1991. But, prosecutors say up to 36 former members of Yugoslavia’s inner circle who could be called, ranging from high-ranking army officers to computer programmers.

For many of the witnesses, there would be no doubt in court of their credentials to testify or of their willingness to come to the trial.

Most such witnesses now belong to the Serbian ultranationalist movement. Some of them have been behind bars since the 1990s, when Milosevic’s Serbian Army was fighting the war

Slobodan Milosevic’s lawyers are looking to try to link the war crimes trial to his claim that international forces helped disintegrate Yugoslavia.

At least 1 Taliban leader hiding in plain sight

By Laura King

MADANSHAY, Afghanistan — On the dirt road and lookout out of town, rugged little boys at play and turbaned men with pitchforks tending their point the way. Everyone knows how to get to the man’s house.

It’s a small world in the Taliban, where enemies and allies blend together. Indeed, it was a commander of the Taliban military who led the attack alongside the Taliban.

Milosevic’s lawyers could be challenging as evidence. But there’s no evidence that international forces tried to “disintegrate” Yugoslavia.

By Zemun/Prokuplje Associated Press

Musharraf looking for payback

By Kathy Gunst

KADHIM, Iraq — In the days before he met with President Bush, Gen. Pervez Musharraf was looking for a way to bolster his reputation for helping the war on terrorism. He had to convince Iraqis to back his government and Pakistanis against militants with links to al-Qaida.

And he needed to show both friends and foes at home that he was taking the war on terrorism seriously. So he met with an Afghan official and invited him to visit the capital.

The visit could help Musharraf by showing his government’s new relationship with America — a tangible step in the war on terrorism. It could also help Pakistan, which is one of America’s closest allies.

Musharraf’s visit to the Afghan capital is a sign of the growing bond between Pakistan and America. But it’s also a sign that America is paying attention to Afghanistan.

The Bush administration is trying to build on the momentum created by Musharraf’s visit, which came after a series of high-profile visits by top officials in Washington.

But Musharraf’s gamble paid off. After backing the United States, most of the U.S. soldiers in Iraq said they were proud to be part of the effort. It has been a steady deterioration in Pakistan's economy. Many Pakistanis are seeking political and humanitarian aid to the country.

And Musharraf has been behind a covert operation aimed at removing U.S. leaders and foreign journalists from Ghor.

Musharraf has been behind a covert operation aimed at removing U.S. leaders and foreign journalists from Ghor.

Musharraf’s visit to the Afghan capital is a sign of the growing bond between Pakistan and America. But it’s also a sign that America is paying attention to Afghanistan.

The Bush administration is trying to build on the momentum created by Musharraf’s visit, which came after a series of high-profile visits by top officials in Washington.

But Musharraf’s gamble paid off. After backing the United States, most of the U.S. soldiers in Iraq said they were proud to be part of the effort. It has been a steady deterioration in Pakistan's economy. Many Pakistanis are seeking political and humanitarian aid to the country.
The Daily Iowan

Opinions

The Daily Iowan

Edition

1996

EDITORIAL BOARD

JOSIAH RECTOR, Editor

KIM POOLE

CARY MESSER

AMANDA MITTELEUTER

KELLEY MEACHAM

CATY GIBSON

BRAD ROSE

MOLLY CRADDOCK

MOLLY WEIDEMEIER

Columnists...

.....

COLUMNS

Letter to the Editor

The Daily Iowan

During the past half-decade, computer prices have plummeted. In 1990 a powerful desktop machine cost around $1,000.

Now, you can purchase one for around $300.

However, the savings are not always what they seem. The computers sold for $300 are not as powerful, do not have as much memory, and usually lack the higher-quality software that comes with more expensive models.

In the past few months, the UI, however, has been negotiating a deal with Microsoft that will allow students and facu-

ulty to legally purchase Microsoft software for a reduced price. This is a beneficial change and one that should be welcomed by all students.

While the software is cheaper, it is still

expensive compared to what it costs retail.

Many students, especially those on a tight budget, may be expand these services. students. The aspect of uni-dented challenges. From mas-

us who

know as software piracy, is a worker. This widespread theft, becoming the norm.

Many of us continue to go thing it can to simp ly keep program initi-

weaker and more mature.

In

the day-to-day

of

the

Publications Inc.

, or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the

or the
The University of Iowa
Summer Job and Internship Fair

TOMORROW, Tuesday, February 12, 2002
11:00am to 4:00pm
IMU, Main Lounge

Sample List of Attending Organizations. For a complete list go to www.careers.uiowa.edu/summernumbers/summernumbers.htm

MCI is the industry leader in innovative telecommunications, we offer you a fantastic way to earn good money through competitive opportunities.

AEGON Insurance Group
Calamos Midland OBA
Emerson Management Fork Control
Meying Corporation
MCI Public Relations
Northern Trust
Pella Corporation
Principal Financial Group
Rapides College
Van Meter
Walmart Blue Cross Blue Shield

American Hospitality Academy
BUNAC and Council - imm abroad
Cedar Rapids Kernels
Chad Colorado Camp
Fort Madison Community Hospital
Fort Meade
Fort Madison Community Center
Frost Bank
Laboratory Physicians
Living History Farms
Northern Trust National High Adventure Center
Northern Michigan University
The Iowa Children's Museum

Sponsored by:
The Career Center, 24 Phillips Hall, www.careers.uiowa.edu

Individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all University of Iowa events. If you are a person with a disability and require an accommodation in order to participate in this program, please contact Joyce Babcock at 335-1923.
Gay adoption proceeds in Iowa

GAY PARENTS

Continued from Page 1A

immoral parents. Critics argue that the recommendation is based on politics and the homosexual agenda. The letter states:

"Findings from homosexual-parenting studies are often testimonies," said Ellen Lewis, a UI professor of internal medicine.

"Right now, we are working on strategies to thwart the destruction of embryos," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"It's really an invitation to社会各界 to be involved in the care of human cells," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"It's the only way they'll be able to do it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"I want to prevent the destruction of embryos. In my view of things, that is a human being." - Ten. John Dodson, FIU City

Continued from Page 1A

the process required to immature the immature cells that can develop into any type of tissue. The result is a thorough check on the donor's safety standards, "These are very basic health and safety standards," said Lane Coates, a senior research assistant at the University of Iowa.

"In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards."

In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards.

"If you want to put flowers and push mats into this, we're doing it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "Right now, we are working on strategies to thwart the destruction of embryos," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "It's really an invitation to社会各界 to be involved in the care of human cells," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"It's the only way they'll be able to do it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"I want to prevent the destruction of embryos. In my view of things, that is a human being." - Ten. John Dodson, FIU City

Continued from Page 1A

the process required to immature the immature cells that can develop into any type of tissue. The result is a thorough check on the donor's safety standards, "These are very basic health and safety standards," said Lane Coates, a senior research assistant at the University of Iowa.

"In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards."

In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards.

"If you want to put flowers and push mats into this, we're doing it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "Right now, we are working on strategies to thwart the destruction of embryos," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "It's really an invitation to社会各界 to be involved in the care of human cells," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"It's the only way they'll be able to do it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"I want to prevent the destruction of embryos. In my view of things, that is a human being." - Ten. John Dodson, FIU City

Continued from Page 1A

the process required to immature the immature cells that can develop into any type of tissue. The result is a thorough check on the donor's safety standards, "These are very basic health and safety standards," said Lane Coates, a senior research assistant at the University of Iowa.

"In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards."

In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards.

"If you want to put flowers and push mats into this, we're doing it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "Right now, we are working on strategies to thwart the destruction of embryos," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "It's really an invitation to社会各界 to be involved in the care of human cells," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"It's the only way they'll be able to do it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. The $33 million will be paid to the city's old

Continued on Page 1A

Coralville debt

Kendall said the city has used bond financing to pay for some land at the city's old industrial park where the hotel and conference center will be constructed and the purchase of an apartment building in downtown. Kendall said in anticipation of expanding the city's libraries, the hotel and conference center will be paid for with the $33 million in bonds and $15 million in bond revenue bonds, Kendall said.

"The city will be paid off using tax money generated from the newly formed tax district, which includes the Coralville Mall. The city has been able to pay off about $15 million by the end of 2005, and it will only pay off the base, city officials said.

"The city's tax district will allow us to make annual payments of approximately $15 million depending on the interest rate. Coralville has never issued 159 percent of its debt limit, and finally (O'Malley) is getting close to that limit," said Kendall.

"As a growing city, we do end up with higher costs of debt, because you're trying to do more with less," said Kendall.

"If you want to put flowers and push mats into this, we're doing it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "Right now, we are working on strategies to thwart the destruction of embryos," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "It's really an invitation to社会各界 to be involved in the care of human cells," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"It's the only way they'll be able to do it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"I want to prevent the destruction of embryos. In my view of things, that is a human being." - Ten. John Dodson, FIU City

Continued from Page 1A

the process required to immature the immature cells that can develop into any type of tissue. The result is a thorough check on the donor's safety standards, "These are very basic health and safety standards," said Lane Coates, a senior research assistant at the University of Iowa.

"In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards."

In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards.

"If you want to put flowers and push mats into this, we're doing it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "Right now, we are working on strategies to thwart the destruction of embryos," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "It's really an invitation to社会各界 to be involved in the care of human cells," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"It's the only way they'll be able to do it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. The $33 million will be paid to the city's old

Continued on Page 1A

Coralville debt

Kendall said the city has used bond financing to pay for some land at the city's old industrial park where the hotel and conference center will be constructed and the purchase of an apartment building in downtown. Kendall said in anticipation of expanding the city's libraries, the hotel and conference center will be paid for with the $33 million in bonds and $15 million in bond revenue bonds, Kendall said.

"The city will be paid off using tax money generated from the newly formed tax district, which includes the Coralville Mall. The city has been able to pay off about $15 million by the end of 2005, and it will only pay off the base, city officials said.

"The city's tax district will allow us to make annual payments of approximately $15 million depending on the interest rate. Coralville has never issued 159 percent of its debt limit, and finally (O'Malley) is getting close to that limit," said Kendall.

"As a growing city, we do end up with higher costs of debt, because you're trying to do more with less," said Kendall.

"If you want to put flowers and push mats into this, we're doing it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "Right now, we are working on strategies to thwart the destruction of embryos," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "It's really an invitation to社会各界 to be involved in the care of human cells," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"It's the only way they'll be able to do it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"I want to prevent the destruction of embryos. In my view of things, that is a human being." - Ten. John Dodson, FIU City

Continued from Page 1A

the process required to immature the immature cells that can develop into any type of tissue. The result is a thorough check on the donor's safety standards, "These are very basic health and safety standards," said Lane Coates, a senior research assistant at the University of Iowa.

"In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards."

In light of that, we will do a thorough check on their heath and safety standards.

"If you want to put flowers and push mats into this, we're doing it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "Right now, we are working on strategies to thwart the destruction of embryos," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine. "It's really an invitation to社会各界 to be involved in the care of human cells," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.

"It's the only way they'll be able to do it," said Richardson, a UI associate professor of internal medicine.
Iowa women's basketball: 2002 NCAA season

Iowa Hawkeyes women's basketball team lost a game to Michigan State in the Big Ten Tournament. The result was a blow to the team's hopes of securing a berth in the NCAA tournament. Despite this setback, the Hawkeyes ended the season with a record of 20-10 and were ranked 15th in the final Associated Press poll.

The Hawkeyes were led by sophomore forward Megan Enney, who finished the season averaging 13.7 points per game. Other key contributors included junior guard Jessy Fletcher, who averaged 12.9 points per game, and senior guard Briana Miller, who averaged 12.3 points per game.

Looking ahead, the Hawkeyes will need to focus on improving their defense to have a chance in the NCAA tournament. The team's defense was inconsistent, with games in which they held opponents below 50 points and others in which they allowed more than 90.

Overall, the season was a success for the Hawkeyes, who exceeded expectations and made the Big Ten Tournament final. With a few adjustments, the team is poised to make another run at the NCAA tournament in the future.

-- By Todd Goldschmidt, Daily Iowan

Hawkeyes recover, defeat Penn State

The Iowa Hawkeyes recovered from a loss to Penn State earlier this season to defeat the Nittany Lions on Sunday.

The Hawkeyes were led by senior guard Carly Mohns, who scored 20 points and added 10 rebounds. Freshman guard Jordan Mazzante also had a strong performance, scoring 16 points and hitting three 3-pointers.

The win was the Hawkeyes' third in a row and pushed them into a tie for third place in the Big Ten standings. Iowa now faces a tough road ahead, with games against Wisconsin and Michigan State to close out the regular season.

-- By Ben Alford, Daily Iowan

Kobe nabs MVP

Kobe Bryant of the Lakers was named Most Valuable Player of the NBA season.

Bryant led the Lakers to a 65-17 record, setting a new team record for wins in a season. The Lakers' 12-4 record against Western Conference teams was also a new team record.

Bryant set several other records throughout the season, including the most points scored in a single game (81) and the most points scored in a single month (446). He was also named to the All-NBA First Team for the second consecutive year.

Bryant was praised for his ability to carry his team through tough spots and his leadership on and off the court. He also won his fourth consecutive NBA scoring title.

-- By Daily Iowan Staff

Hawkeye men fall to Golden Gophers

The #15 Iowa Hawkeyes men's basketball team lost to the #24 Minnesota Golden Gophers on Sunday.

The Gophers were led by freshman guard Jordan Murphy, who scored 17 points and added 13 rebounds. The Hawkeyes were led by senior guard Connor McCaffery, who scored 22 points and added 10 assists.

Despite the loss, the Hawkeyes remain in the hunt for a NCAA tournament berth. The team now faces a tough schedule, with games against Wisconsin, Michigan State, and Purdue upcoming.

-- By Daily Iowan Staff

Women's basketball: University of Minnesota vs. University of Wisconsin-Madison

The #19 Minnesota Golden Gophers women's basketball team defeated the #20 Wisconsin Badgers at the Williams Arena.

The Gophers were led by senior guard Destiny Pitts, who scored 17 points and added 10 rebounds. Wisconsin was led by junior guard Khalilah Ali, who scored 16 points.

The win was the Gophers' third in a row and pushed them into second place in the Big Ten standings. Minnesota now faces a tough road ahead, with games against Penn State and Purdue to close out the regular season.

-- By Daily Iowan Staff
Clark wins first Olympic gold

By Larry McHugh

WINTER OLYMPICS

Salt Lake City — Old school, meet the new face: downhill skiing, in this case, with American Alpine skier Julia Mancuso, 30, of Lake Tahoe, Calif., taking the first Winter Games gold on a day when other Austrians seemed destined to win six medals in three sports.

Clark took her final run on Tuesday to give the United States the first gold medal at the Games since 2002. In a year marred by the controversy surrounding the move to Salt Lake City, Mancuso was the belle of the ball.

Clark took the bandanna off her head and added the traditional medal around her neck, while her name was flashed on the giant scoreboard in the arena.

"I have always dreamed of being on top of a mountain, and to finally be there is just an incredible feeling," she said.

Clark, who finished fourth in 2002, was the first American to win Olympic gold in skiing since 1980, when Debbie Armstrong won the slalom. Mancuso now has three Olympic medals, all in Alpine skiing.

"I have always loved being on the podium," she said. "It's a great feeling to be able to show the world that America can win these medals."

In other events, American Liebherr won the first American in Alpine skiing since 1980, when Debbie Armstrong won the slalom. Mancuso now has three Olympic medals, all in Alpine skiing.

"I have always loved being on the podium," she said. "It's a great feeling to be able to show the world that America can win these medals."

In other events, American Liebherr won the first American in Alpine skiing since 1980, when Debbie Armstrong won the slalom. Mancuso now has three Olympic medals, all in Alpine skiing.

"I have always loved being on the podium," she said. "It's a great feeling to be able to show the world that America can win these medals."

In other events, American Liebherr won the first American in Alpine skiing since 1980, when Debbie Armstrong won the slalom. Mancuso now has three Olympic medals, all in Alpine skiing.

"I have always loved being on the podium," she said. "It's a great feeling to be able to show the world that America can win these medals."

In other events, American Liebherr won the first American in Alpine skiing since 1980, when Debbie Armstrong won the slalom. Mancuso now has three Olympic medals, all in Alpine skiing.

"I have always loved being on the podium," she said. "It's a great feeling to be able to show the world that America can win these medals."
Fat Tuesday
At The Union Bar

Mardi Gras
2002

Tickets for Fat Tuesday NOW ON SALE at College St. Oasis
$20 includes drink specials, party favors, limo service for large groups and cover charge.
The beads you WANT will be given out at ETC's Pre-Party at 8pm.
Questions? Call The Union Bar at 339-7713 or Troy at 631-1115.
Also giving away an all inclusive Spring Break Trip to Puerto Vallarta (value $2000).
Free Smirnoff Snow Board.
Seniors lift swimmers in last dual of season

By Travis Brown

The Iowa seniors gave Kansas State its worst performance ever in the 100-meter breaststroke event this past weekend. It was also the last dual meet for the Hawkeye swimmers.

"It's bittersweet," said Iowa's head coach, Markku Lehtonen. "It's their last meet and it's going to be a big loss for us, but they've done a great job for us." The seniors accounted for 12 of the 17 points scored by the Hawkeyes in the dual meet, which they won 186-116.

"Russell at 81 feet, 1.25 inches," Lehtonen noted. "That was a real good time and it was a big loss for us." The seniors also accounted for 11 of the 17 points scored by the Hawkeyes in the dual meet, which they won 186-116.

"I'm really proud of our seniors," Lehtonen continued. "They've been a great group and it was a good way to go out." The seniors accounted for 11 of the 17 points scored by the Hawkeyes in the dual meet, which they won 186-116.

"They did a great job for us," Lehtonen said. "They've been a great group and it was a good way to go out." The seniors accounted for 11 of the 17 points scored by the Hawkeyes in the dual meet, which they won 186-116.
Stick a Fork in the Hawks

By Brad Brown

The Daily Iowan

The Iowa men's swimming team won its third straight Big Ten Championship this weekend, but has anything but a big season ahead. The Hawkeyes fell to Northwestern in the NCAA Tournament on television. A day after competing in the Big Ten Championship, the Hawkeyes made a historic showing in the NCAA Tournament.

The Hawkeyes finished fifth in the NCAA Championships, and were eliminated from the tournament on television. The Hawkeyes were led by eight seniors, including Matt Alford, who had a historic weekend in the NCAA Tournament. Alford set a new school record in the 1,000-yard freestyle, and also finished fourth in the 200-yard freestyle.

Bench play positive for Iowa

By Chris Anderson

Men's Hoops

The Daily Iowan

Iowa holds off second-half scoring drive by Penn State

Women's Hoops

The Daily Iowan

Love is in the air...

You can send your special Valentine a thoughtful message; just write your message, a photo if you wish, and payment for the ad(s); then mail it, FAX it, or drop it off at our office by noon, Friday, March 1.

The Daily Iowan, 111 Communications Center, 226 E. sample, UI

Field ad design

Field ad size

Ad design:

The Daily Iowan - Iowa City's Daily News - 111 Communications Center

February 13, 2003

Hawkeyes fall to N'western in final home competition

By By Chris Anderson

The Daily Iowan

Bryant shows off All-Star moves

By Mike Ann

The Daily Iowan

To me, Day

$25 Tax Free Sports

Ad sizes available: 10, 20, 30 words minimum.

E-mail your ad to Travbrow@blue.wesweg.uiowa.edu

The Daily Iowan

The Daily Iowan - Iowa City's Daily News - 111 Communications Center

February 13, 2003
Lewis is unofficial MVP

By Joan McConkey

HOUSTON — No offer, Rich Gannon

hasn't seen one. As far as keeping his name

out of the Pro Bowl, he's been there.

The Baltimore quarterback's touchdown

in the fourth quarter was the talk of the locker room after the AFC's 36-10 win over the NFC on Saturday. But Gannon, after passing for 311 yards with two scoreless

points in the game and six yards before being sacked, who passed for 17 yards

for the final 14:16 as the AFC's third-'

string quarterback. The Pro Bowl

show."

In the NFC's first snap, a deep pass

by Tennessee quarterback Steve McNair

was intercepted by Green Bay's

Archie Anderson, who took it 55 yards

for a tie-breaking touchdown.

"I knew once Ray got it, it was
touchdown."

The NFC was the slight favorite, but

it's been a hard year. We lost nine

prior to the Pro Bowl.

"I'm really looking forward to

being there to make some plays,"

said Gannon, a veteran of six seasons.

"I was too torn to be made the play, and the ball was in

my hands."

One also had to hand one in the NFC.

Pro Bowl quarterback Jim Kelly's

throw was deflected by Buffalo's

Lee Mayes as the ball was going over

that point in the game, it was almost
dropped, said Law, who started a touchdown

on Feb. 9.

Gannon fumbled at the first play of the game, and New England quarterback

Joey Harrington recovered. That led to the

NFC's first snap, a deep pass that led to

former Pro Bowl Alien Green Bay's

Archie Anderson, who took it 55 yards

for a tie-breaking touchdown.

"I knew once Ray got it, it was
touchdown."

The NFC was the slight favorite, but

it's been a hard year. We lost nine

prior to the Pro Bowl.

"I'm really looking forward to

being there to make some plays,"

said Gannon, a veteran of six seasons.

"I was too torn to be made the play, and the ball was in

my hands."

One also had to hand one in the NFC.

Pro Bowl quarterback Jim Kelly's

throw was deflected by Buffalo's

Lee Mayes as the ball was going over

that point in the game, it was almost
dropped, said Law, who started a touchdown

on Feb. 9.

Gannon fumbled at the first play of the game, and New England quarterback

Joey Harrington recovered. That led to the

NFC's first snap, a deep pass that led to

former Pro Bowl Alien Green Bay's

Archie Anderson, who took it 55 yards

for a tie-breaking touchdown.

"I knew once Ray got it, it was
touchdown."

The NFC was the slight favorite, but

it's been a hard year. We lost nine

prior to the Pro Bowl.

"I'm really looking forward to

being there to make some plays,"

said Gannon, a veteran of six seasons.

"I was too torn to be made the play, and the ball was in

my hands."

One also had to hand one in the NFC.

Pro Bowl quarterback Jim Kelly's

throw was deflected by Buffalo's

Lee Mayes as the ball was going over

that point in the game, it was almost
dropped, said Law, who started a touchdown

on Feb. 9.

Gannon fumbled at the first play of the game, and New England quarterback

Joey Harrington recovered. That led to the

NFC's first snap, a deep pass that led to

former Pro Bowl Alien Green Bay's

Archie Anderson, who took it 55 yards

for a tie-breaking touchdown.

"I knew once Ray got it, it was
touchdown."

The NFC was the slight favorite, but

it's been a hard year. We lost nine

prior to the Pro Bowl.

"I'm really looking forward to

being there to make some plays,"

said Gannon, a veteran of six seasons.

"I was too torn to be made the play, and the ball was in

my hands."

One also had to hand one in the NFC.

Pro Bowl quarterback Jim Kelly's

throw was deflected by Buffalo's

Lee Mayes as the ball was going over

that point in the game, it was almost
dropped, said Law, who started a touchdown

on Feb. 9.

Gannon fumbled at the first play of the game, and New England quarterback

Joey Harrington recovered. That led to the

NFC's first snap, a deep pass that led to

former Pro Bowl Alien Green Bay's

Archie Anderson, who took it 55 yards

for a tie-breaking touchdown.

"I knew once Ray got it, it was
touchdown."

The NFC was the slight favorite, but

it's been a hard year. We lost nine

prior to the Pro Bowl.

"I'm really looking forward to

being there to make some plays,"

said Gannon, a veteran of six seasons.

"I was too torn to be made the play, and the ball was in

my hands."

One also had to hand one in the NFC.

Pro Bowl quarterback Jim Kelly's

throw was deflected by Buffalo's

Lee Mayes as the ball was going over

that point in the game, it was almost
dropped, said Law, who started a touchdown

on Feb. 9.

Gannon fumbled at the first play of the game, and New England quarterback

Joey Harrington recovered. That led to the

NFC's first snap, a deep pass that led to

former Pro Bowl Alien Green Bay's

Archie Anderson, who took it 55 yards

for a tie-breaking touchdown.

"I knew once Ray got it, it was
touchdown."

The NFC was the slight favorite, but

it's been a hard year. We lost nine

prior to the Pro Bowl.

"I'm really looking forward to

being there to make some plays,"

said Gannon, a veteran of six seasons.

"I was too torn to be made the play, and the ball was in

my hands."

One also had to hand one in the NFC.

Pro Bowl quarterback Jim Kelly's

throw was deflected by Buffalo's

Lee Mayes as the ball was going over

that point in the game, it was almost
dropped, said Law, who started a touchdown

on Feb. 9.

Gannon fumbled at the first play of the game, and New England quarterback

Joey Harrington recovered. That led to the

NFC's first snap, a deep pass that led to

former Pro Bowl Alien Green Bay's

Archie Anderson, who took it 55 yards

for a tie-breaking touchdown.

"I knew once Ray got it, it was
touchdown."

The NFC was the slight favorite, but

it's been a hard year. We lost nine

prior to the Pro Bowl.

"I'm really looking forward to

being there to make some plays,"

said Gannon, a veteran of six seasons.

"I was too torn to be made the play, and the ball was in

my hands."

One also had to hand one in the NFC.

Pro Bowl quarterback Jim Kelly's

throw was deflected by Buffalo's

Lee Mayes as the ball was going over

that point in the game, it was almost
dropped, said Law, who started a touchdown

on Feb. 9.

Gannon fumbled at the first play of the game, and New England quarterback

Joey Harrington recovered. That led to the

NFC's first snap, a deep pass that led to

former Pro Bowl Alien Green Bay's

Archie Anderson, who took it 55 yards

for a tie-breaking touchdown.

"I knew once Ray got it, it was
touchdown."

The NFC was the slight favorite, but

it's been a hard year. We lost nine

prior to the Pro Bowl.

"I'm really looking forward to

being there to make some plays,"

said Gannon, a veteran of six seasons.

"I was too torn to be made the play, and the ball was in

my hands."

One also had to hand one in the NFC.

Pro Bowl quarterback Jim Kelly's

throw was deflected by Buffalo's

Lee Mayes as the ball was going over

that point in the game, it was almost
dropped, said Law, who started a touchdown

on Feb. 9.

Gannon fumbled at the first play of the game, and New England quarterback

Joey Harrington recovered. That led to the

NFC's first snap, a deep pass that led to

former Pro Bowl Alien Green Bay's

Archie Anderson, who took it 55 yards

for a tie-breaking touchdown.

"I knew once Ray got it, it was
touchdown."

The NFC was the slight favorite, but

it's been a hard year. We lost nine

prior to the Pro Bowl.

"I'm really looking forward to

being there to make some plays,"

said Gannon, a veteran of six seasons.

"I was too torn to be made the play, and the ball was in

my hands."

One also had to hand one in the NFC.

Pro Bowl quarterback Jim Kelly's

throw was deflected by Buffalo's

Lee Mayes as the ball was going over

that point in the game, it was almost
dropped, said Law, who started a touchdown

on Feb. 9.
CAMP CANADENSIS
Pocono Mountains, PA. (2 hours from New York and Philadelphia), a Premier residential coed summer camp. We are looking for an energetic, qualified and caring staff to teach all general athletics, WSI, waterfront activities, scuba, tennis, gymnastics, mountain bikes, motor bikes, outdoor adventure, ropes, arts & crafts, cooking and much more! Excellent facilities and great salary! 6/20 - 8/17. Call (800) 832-8228 or apply online: www.canadensis.com

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT
CAMP CANADENSIS
5900 Canadensis St.
Canadensis, PA 18325
Phone: 570-645-3651
FAX: 570-645-4589
E-mail: campcan@canadensis.com
Web: www.canadensis.com

SUMMER STAFF NEEDED!

- Positions available will include: counselors, lifeguards, WSI leaders, camp office, culinary, maintenance, etc.
- We are looking for teams that are energetic, qualified, and caring
- Positions available will include: watercraft, tennis, mountain bike, scuba, climbing, ropes, cooking, etc.
- Call (800) 832-8228 or email campcan@canadensis.com
- Visit our website at www.canadensis.com

See Wisconsin Badgers at the Career Expo on 3/12 or ctcui@ctcui.edu or 968-999.

A. .I. COIT
Job Board
ieA jobs!

Make a change with developmental disabilities positions available will include: counselors, lifeguards, WSI leaders, camp office, culinary, maintenance, etc.
- We are looking for teams that are energetic, qualified, and caring
- Positions available will include: watercraft, tennis, mountain bike, scuba, climbing, ropes, cooking, etc.
- Call (800) 832-8228 or email campcan@canadensis.com
- Visit our website at www.canadensis.com

See Wisconsin Badgers at the Career Expo on 3/12 or ctcui@ctcui.edu or 968-999.

1. EA
2. camp
3. jobs
4. M~ calendar

Monday, February 11, 2002

BY: Expressions Last

ANMS (March 21-April 1): There are obstacles that you can’t handle if you believe in yourself. It’s time you made yourself heard, so speak up. Use your know how to get things accomplished. Please yourself first, and don’t be afraid to take the lead.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Do not be daunted by Virgo’s little obstacles. They are there to make you think things through. Limitations due to a lack of open communication are expected, so be ready to be the first to bend and mix.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): Let your creative talents not hinder the surface. You accomplish the most if you travel for business purposes. Your communication skills will help you achieve your goals. If you have an idea, present it.

CANCER (June 22-July 22): The cardinal red is in love on something you can handle today. Someone may try to burden you with sorts of problems that really don’t concern you. It’s time you learned to say no. Focus on yourself and your own choices.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are going through all sorts of changes. Don’t make hasty decisions regarding your relationships. Make your plans well and stick with them to have a clearer vision.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your creative instincts to create your own horizon are running high. Your ability to work with huge but important details will be admired and rewarded.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You are in a very good position today. You can have whatever you want if you know how to take advantage of it. Your creative instincts must be well received by someone who interests you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You may be alarms by the changes taking place at home. Know in your heart that the reason for this change is not because of your actions. Acceptance is the key to moving forward positively.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You are planning your next vacation. It will bring your spirit up and you will make someone else happy. You may be able to do this for someone who may be able to create some light on your future directions. You are feeling a sense of direction given by unexpected friends. Someone is likely to lead you into a new project that will change your world and make you richer.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You can expect to have someone new to talk to. It can lead you to be less independent.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Opportunities to socialize with others next week. You can look for some arts or new ideas. You should try to create some of the innovative ideas you have been making for a long time.

Wellington Business Building.

Bringing the Cup Between the Quark Model and the Higgs Boson. Dr. A. Lord. Connecticut, today at 3:30 p.m. at 301 Van Allen Hall.

Sports Writing Training, today of 1 p.m. at WA Local Dodge Room.

Harem Choir, Tommy Stalder, director, today 7 p.m. at LRC-116.

Live From Piston Lights, Markie Sneapenhger, emcee. Friday, 9 p.m. at Piston Lights Friday, 7:30, Dubuque 12.

horoscopes

For complete TV listings and program guides, check out Arts and Entertainment at www.dailyiowav.com.