Teens dig into environment

Summer of Solutions has 16 branches nationwide, and the Iowa City branch has been running for two summers.

By JORDYN REILAND
journalism@uiowa.edu

Mary Skopec speaks at a Summer Solutions seminar at West High on Thursday. (The Daily Iowan/Jacklyn Couppee)

The University of Iowa first created its social-media policy for student-athletes in 2009.

By LOGAN EDWARDS
journalism@uiowa.edu

Sports officials at Iowa’s universities said they are confident a less-intrusive social-media policy is adequate for the student-athletes, even while other higher-education institutions are rethinking their guidelines.

UI Presidential Committee on Athletics head N. William Hines said the UI’s social-media policy for student-athletes do not create a routinely monitoring the players’ use, though the regulation occurs at other schools. The UI has a broader, generic social-media policy stressing student responsibility, he said.

“(Student-athletes) need to be aware that whatever they put on is probably not going to be restricted to who they think they’re giving it to,” Hines said.

The UI adopted its first social-media policy three years ago, during the rapid proliferation of such sites as Facebook and Twitter. Last year, Hines said, athletics officials debated whether rules could require members of their teams to be their Facebook friends. “We decided against it,” Hines said.

“We need, as a private person, and students have the right to privacy,” Hines said. “We needed a (social-media policy), and adopted one that, I would say, is midway in the intrusiveness of privacy of students,” he said.

The regulation was more of an information policy than an enforcement policy, he said. But if athletes officials receive complaints about something posted online, Hines said, they will further investigate the situation.

Athletes at Iowa State University — where officials first created a social-media policy in 2005 — abide by a similarly general set of rules.

“Department-wide, the stress is on appropriateness,” said Tom Kowaleski, BIU associate athletics director for communications. “But beyond that, it’s a team issue.”

Kowaleski said high-profile individuals need to be mindful of their conduct in social situations, particularly involving photographs.

“You have to be extra vigilant, because the media trust you like a public figure,” he said.
SUMMER SOLUTIONS CONTINUED FROM 1

---

ATHLETES CONTINUED FROM 1

"If there is a picture that you don't want to be on the front page of the paper, then don't put it up there."" Thoroughly, IBI, like the USA, uses the concept of appropriateness as a general rule. Kroschell said athletes officially speak with team members a few times each week about universally forbidden online conduct, such as profanity. Student-athletes actions may be scrutinized by the general public. Rick Kilt, UI associate athletics director for external affairs, said student-athletes and student-media activities are more popular than other students' because of their being prominent campus figures.

"If it would embarrass your grandmother, don't put it on your social media," Kilt said. Kroschell said certain ISU student-athletes have had their social-media privileges revoked by their coaches for a period of time as a result of misconduct.

"The number one concern is just talking with your student-athletes and making sure that they understand they are a public 1 figure, and that a certain responsibility comes with that," Kroschell said. UI Athletics officials are planning to rearrange the social-media policy next year to try to give any changes needed to be made, Kroschell said. Though ISU officials have no plans for review, Kroschell said, change at some point is inevitable.

"The policy is going to change," he said. "It will have to, because there will always be new ways of communicat-
The controversy surrounding the UI College Republicans’ meeting on Nov. 4, 2010, in the Student Union ballroom, is blown out of proportion by at least being used as a tool to achieve political ends.

Let me preface by saying that discrimination against members of a minority based on characterization or personal attacks is something that must be taken to be lightly. Although there has been great efforts by the campus community to encourage acceptance of LGBT culture, more must be done to affect society at large.

Certainly there are political differences between liberal and conservative political organizations, but I have experienced myself there have been many instances when people of different ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

As a conservative-libertarian individual, I have experienced myself there have been many instances when people of different ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

As a conservative-libertarian individual, I have experienced myself there have been many instances when people of different ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

In the term, the way, by no means, is exclusive to LGBT culture. The idea behind the term “coming out” is that a person is revealing something different about themselves: their ideologies, backgrounds, or traits can reveal their true selves to mainstream society and encourage diversity. From dehumanizing their way into adult womanhood to albino accepting that they have a disease and asking for help to athletes who reveal their lack of faith under the threat of ridicule or death, this term is widely used with no malicious intent.

Dropout Rates

Iowa City schools may consider requesting additional funds for allowable growth — or the amount of dollars allowed under the allowable-growth formula, "he said. "The problem is that the money is not as flexible to apply for programs that apply to dropout prevention."

Other legislators echoed those concerns.

"This bill provides the local school districts with more flexibility to choose what programs they want," said Rep. Linda Miller, R-Forestville. "I think we were basically just saying that local school districts should have some flexibility with those dollars so I think it's a value."

Miller said a district's Annual Progress Report on the number of students who have dropped out of school must be reviewed before it receives additional funds.

"There are restrictions," she said. "They have a base number for allocating those dollars for the dropout prevention. (The budget) is not an infinite amount of money."

Schools would receive between one-fourth and three-fourths of necessary program costs under the bill. Arganbright said that the state's dropout rates are well below 1 percent and that it would take a large amount of money to run these programs, he said. "I think if there's more resources that we can ask for, that would be helpful. But the need is there, than I think the resources are always helpful.

"If the need is there, ask for, that would be helpful. But the need is there, than I think the resources are always helpful."

"Iowa City schools may consider requesting additional funds for allowable growth — or the amount of dollars allowed under the allowable-growth formula, "he said. "The problem is that the money is not as flexible to apply for programs that apply to dropout prevention."

Other legislators echoed those concerns.

"This bill provides the local school districts with more flexibility to choose what programs they want," said Rep. Linda Miller, R-Forestville. "I think we were basically just saying that local school districts should have some flexibility with those dollars so I think it's a value."

Miller said a district’s Annual Progress Report on the number of students who have dropped out of school must be reviewed before it receives additional funds.

"There are restrictions," she said. "They have a base number for allocating those dollars for the dropout prevention. (The budget) is not an infinite amount of money."

Schools would receive between one-fourth and three-fourths of necessary program costs under the bill. Arganbright said that the state’s dropout rates are well below 1 percent and that it would take a large amount of money to run these programs, he said. "I think if there’s more resources that we can ask for, that would be helpful. But the need is there, than I think the resources are always helpful.

"If the need is there, ask for, that would be helpful. But the need is there, than I think the resources are always helpful."

"The district works hard to keep our dropout rates at a reasonable update," she said. "If there were extra funding to help kids who struggle in that last year or two of completing their education in the district, I hope we can find ways for it."

The bill, first passed by the Senate last year, would allow school districts to request additional funds for allowable growth — or the amount of dollars allowed under the allowable-growth formula, "he said. "The problem is that the money is not as flexible to apply for programs that apply to dropout prevention."

Other legislators echoed those concerns.

"This bill provides the local school districts with more flexibility to choose what programs they want," said Rep. Linda Miller, R-Forestville. "I think we were basically just saying that local school districts should have some flexibility with those dollars so I think it's a value."

Miller said a district’s Annual Progress Report on the number of students who have dropped out of school must be reviewed before it receives additional funds.

“There are restrictions,” she said. “They have a base number for allocating those dollars for the dropout prevention. (The budget) is not an infinite amount of money.”

Schools would receive between one-fourth and three-fourths of necessary program costs under the bill. Arganbright said that the state’s dropout rates are well below 1 percent and that it would take a large amount of money to run these programs, he said. “I think if there’s more resources that we can ask for, that would be helpful. But the need is there, than I think the resources are always helpful.

“If the need is there, ask for, that would be helpful. But the need is there, than I think the resources are always helpful.”
Ex-pat artist Catlett dies

By PALLIAD GOOD

NEW YORK — Europe's debt crisis washed over the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday, sending stocks plunging after the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 131 points — one of the year's bigger declines — and the closing trading price of $1.3217 was its lowest level since January.

It was the second time this year the Dow has recorded a triple-digit decline. The average gained 8 percent from January declines. The average gained 13,074.75. Only four of the 30 stocks that make up the composite index fell 45.48 points, he said from January and the average gained 13,074.75. Only four of the 30 stocks that make up the composite index fell 45.48 points.

By palliad good

NEW YORK — Europe's debt crisis washed over the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday, sending stocks plunging after the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 131 points — one of the year's bigger declines — and the closing trading price of $1.3217 was its lowest level since January.

It was the second time this year the Dow has recorded a triple-digit decline. The average gained 8 percent from January declines. The average gained 13,074.75. Only four of the 30 stocks that make up the composite index fell 45.48 points.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 131 points — one of the year's bigger declines — and the closing trading price of $1.3217 was its lowest level since January.

It was the second time this year the Dow has recorded a triple-digit decline. The average gained 8 percent from January declines. The average gained 13,074.75. Only four of the 30 stocks that make up the composite index fell 45.48 points.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 131 points — one of the year's bigger declines — and the closing trading price of $1.3217 was its lowest level since January. It was the second time this year the Dow has recorded a triple-digit decline. The average gained 8 percent from January declines. The average gained 13,074.75. Only four of the 30 stocks that make up the composite index fell 45.48 points.

It was the second time this year the Dow has recorded a triple-digit decline. The average gained 8 percent from January declines. The average gained 13,074.75. Only four of the 30 stocks that make up the composite index fell 45.48 points.
Exurb growth slows

BY HOPE YEN

WASHINGTON

Stung by high gasoline costs, outsourcing layoffs that sprouted in the early 2000s and housing growth that failed to materialize, developers and builders in faraway suburbs have been in more of a daze than anticipated.

From 2003 to 2009, the bust in housing has been one of the key drivers of a downward trend in suburban home building, market analysts say. During that period, the housing starts that were once the lifeblood of many of the suburbs were halved, a trend that persisted even into 2010, according to a study at the University of Michigan Transportation Research Institute. Approximately 60 percent of 17-year-old drivers had a license in 1983. By 2008, that had dropped to 50 percent. Among Americans age 20 to 24 in 1993, nearly 82 percent had driver's licenses. Twenty-years later, it was 82 percent. The older the age group, the lower the rate of growth in American city dwellers' decades-long exodus from the suburbs.

"New home construction in the long term amid personal geography changes also play a role. Teens are increasingly delaying maring or buying a house, and more are apt to rent and a growing population that is entering the workforce may pester closer, walkable urban areas," Shiller said.

"Suburban housing prices have yet to return to our lifetimes," Shiller said. "But suburban real estate has been part of an exurban wave that more than doubled Kendall County's population from 1980 to 2000, and now, at 236th, the rate of growth had stalled further in 1990s. The signs of longer-term consequences for residents of the edge of the metropolitan area.

Construction of gleaming malls built in anticipation of a continued and population boom has come to a standstill. Sizable tourism and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid recession and rising gasoline costs. By 2011, the report said, the trend continued, as suburbs had begun to wane amid reces-

The signs of longer-term growth have yet to return to our lifetimes," Shiller said. "The slowdown in suburban real estate has been part of an exurban wave that more than doubled Kendall County's population from 1980 to 2000, and now, at 236th, the rate of growth had stalled further in 1990s. The signs of longer-term consequences for residents of the edge of the metropolitan area.

The older the age group, the lower the rate of growth in American city dwellers' decades-long exodus from the suburbs.

"Suburban housing prices have yet to return to our lifetimes," Shiller said. "But suburban real estate has been part of an exurban wave that more than doubled Kendall County's population from 1980 to 2000, and now, at 236th, the rate of growth had stalled further in 1990s. The signs of longer-term consequences for residents of the edge of the metropolitan area.

The older the age group, the lower the rate of growth in American city dwellers' decades-long exodus from the suburbs.
Things I like about laundry:

• Totally stiff-arming little mushrooms when they're tossed around with a basket full of eggs.
• Surrounding myself with people since that saves time from doing the same thing one part at a time.

• Hanging with my Peeps, yo.

• Wear that yellow and lavender because you're going to spew.

• Totally not chewing the eggs individually. Not you, ink.

• Trying to flood the eggs for four weeks of parahaemolyticus surface sensitivity.

• Choosing your direction.

• Getting a different perspective on something you've been working toward.

• Size up your situation, and address the issues you need to control. Expect someone to change their plans to do the same just as you are. Love is on the rise.

• Changing and the decision to swarm or not. An unusual contractual agreement will make you question your direction. Get all the facts before you make a move.

Horoscopes, April 2, 2012

ARIES May 21-June 21
What about you? A carefully laid out plan can enable you to make friends or partner with someone who is diverse, entertaining, and interested in the same topics, events, and activities as you are. Love is on the rise. Focus on your career, and enable advancement.

TAURUS May 21-June 21
Don't rush your work into a rush. You can work your way out of a Rut. Staying positive about your future and finding a new direction will enable you to work toward your goals.

CANCER July 23-Aug. 22
Change will do you a world of good. A short trip or spending time with someone who fascinates you will enable you to make friends or partners with someone who is diverse, entertaining, and interested in the same topics, events, and activities as you are. Love is on the rise.

LEO July 23-Aug. 22
Put more effort into home and family, and make the changes needed to stabilize your situation. A money deal or making a wise move that will reduce your overhead or make your situation a little more manageable will improve your overall situation. The requirements you were given. Sticking to what's expected of you and finishing on time will draw attention where you hid this treat. New opportunities will enable you to work toward your goals and change the way others view who you are and what you stand for.
Softball faces ’Cats

The Hawkeyes’ series against Northwestern will be important for their Big Ten momentum.

“...a 5-6 win over Northwestern last weekend to boost its 14-18 record. The Hawkeyes won an 8-6 decision in the eighth inning of the first game in a doubleheader walk-off home run, then used the momentum from that win to claim a 9-8 victory. But senior captain Katie Keim said the team needs to apply it more to midweek games. The Hawkeyes won their next game on a Johnnie Dowlar three-run home run in the top of the ninth inning of the second game of the doubleheader, then swept the series, then swept the series, then won 10-8 decision in the second game of the doubleheader, then swept the series, then won 10-8 decision in the second game of the doubleheader.
The Iowa baseball team has earned a first-round bye in the Big Ten. The Hawkeyes will take on the Cornhuskers for the first time as Big Ten rivals.

BY BEN SCHUFF

Recent history says this series between Nebraska and Iowa could be a rough one for the Cornhuskers.

Iowa has visited the Cornhuskers twice since Jack Duhon took over as the head coach in 2004. The Hawkeyes lost all five meetings.

Duhon said he thinks this time he'll get the better of the two teams, though.

"The upcoming three-game series marks the first time in five years Iowa (12-5) and Nebraska (20-4, 3-3 Big Ten) have met in Lincoln," Duhon said. "This is a very talented Nebraska team that has won its last 12 games and played at a high level. We have played well in conference play so far and we have a home series against Nebraska.

Iowa has had more success at home in the past. The Hawkeyes have a 12-4 record at home in the first 16 games of the season. Nebraska is 17-7 on the road.

The last meeting between the two teams was in April 2010 played at Bank Stadium in St. Cloud. The Cornhuskers won 11-4.

"Iowa has the better pitching and hitting of the two teams," said Duhon. "We need to focus on our defense and pitching to compete with this talented Nebraska team.

"We have a lot to prove and we need to show that we can compete with this team. We have a lot of young talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.

"We need to focus on our fundamentals and play our best baseball. We need to play with intensity and focus and we need to be prepared for every pitch.

"We have a lot of young talent and we need to develop that talent and we need to play together as a team to be successful in this series.

"Our focus is on ourselves and we need to focus on our own performance. We need to play good defense and pitch well to compete with this team.
HELP WANTED

Biolife

PT Medical Customer Service - Phlebotomist Center

Biolife, a division of Biologics, is looking for a Phlebotomist. Must be able to work in a fast paced high throughput setting. Biologics is part of the Biologics network of 30,000 phlebotomists nationwide. Biologics is part of the Biologics network of 30,000 phlebotomists nationwide.

To apply, please visit our website at www.biologics.com.

CITY OF IOWA CITY

Temporary positions available with the City of Iowa City. Main tasks include:

- Administrative Assistant
- Landscape Technician
- Maintenance and Repair
- Janitorial

Duties vary by position. Apply online at www.icgov.org.

TAX PREPARATION

Currently hiring

- Tax Preparers
- Bookkeeping Professionals

Both the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City locations are looking for:

- A full-time tax preparer (experience required)
- A part-time tax preparer (experience preferred)

For more information, please call John at (319) 335-5784.

HELP WANTED

ADVANCED WASTE SERVICES

Drivers needed for a local flooring company. Immediate positions open.

- Delivery drivers
- Forklift drivers

Call (319) 338-7560.

FIRST PREMIER

Immediate opening for a Financial Services Representative in our Coralville office. An exciting opportunity to work with great people in a fast-paced environment.

- Experience in finance or similar field preferred but not required
- Ability to communicate effectively

Submit resume to: info@fprimo.com

APARTMENT FOR RENT

MEADOWLARK CONDOS

For sale:

- 3 bedroom, 2 bath
- 1,350 square feet
- South-facing
- Garage
- Pets allowed

CONDO FOR SALE

ATascadero

- 3 bedrooms
- 2 bathrooms
- 1 car garage
- South-facing

HOUSE FOR SALE

Riverbottoms

- 4 bedrooms
- 2 bathrooms
- 2 car garage
- South-facing

HELP WANTED

BEAUTY

- Esthetician
- Cosmetologist

Email your resume to: beautyjobs@asirentals.com.

HELP WANTED

CROSS PARK APARTMENTS

- Maintenance Man
- Housekeeping

- $800 plus deposit

For more information, please call (319) 338-4357.

CONDO FOR RENT

1703 Rushmore Drive S

- 3 bedrooms
- 2 bathrooms
- 1 car garage
- South-facing

HODGE Consulting

FALL LEASING

- Efficiencies
- 1, 2, & 3 bedrooms

For more information, please call (319) 356-2255.

CONDO FOR RENT

Rushmore Drive

- 3 bedrooms
- 2 bathrooms
- 1 car garage
- South-facing

HODGE Consulting

FALL LEASING

- Efficiencies
- 1, 2, & 3 bedrooms

For more information, please call (319) 356-2255.
Iowa junior Matt McDonough performs the floor exercise on Feb. 19, 2011, in the Field House. McDonough and the Hawkeyes will host the Big Ten championships, which come to Carver-Hawkeye Arena on April 22.

The Big Ten championships give the Hawkeyes a chance to make a statement on one of gymnastics' biggest stages.

Tracksters getting ranked

Iowa men come in at No. 20 overall in Division-I rankings.

By CODY GOODMAN

Iowa's track and field program is one of the best in the country. The Hawkeyes will compete in the Battle on the Bayou in Baton Rouge, La. The Big Ten championships represent the final opportunity for competitive excellence this season and a chance to make a strong showing at the Olympic trials. The University of Iowa is ranked 12th overall in the Nation, and 10th among the 12 Big Ten teams.

The Hawkeyes will host the Big Ten championships in Carver-Hawkeye Arena with an estimated crowd of 2,800 fans.

Iowa Hawkeyes men’s track and field team is ranked 12th overall in the nation and 10th in the Big Ten.

Iowa has an experienced and talented roster, with numerous All-Americans and NCAA Championship qualifiers.

Iowa Hawkeyes men’s track and field team is ranked 12th overall in the nation and 10th in the Big Ten.

Iowa head coach Steve Miller said his team is ready for the challenge of hosting the Big Ten championships.

Iowa Hawkeyes men’s track and field team is ranked 12th overall in the nation and 10th in the Big Ten.

The Hawkeyes have a deep and talented roster, with several returning All-Americans and NCAA Champions.

Iowa Hawkeyes men’s track and field team is ranked 12th overall in the nation and 10th in the Big Ten.

Iowa head coach Steve Miller said his team is ready for the challenge of hosting the Big Ten championships.

Iowa Hawkeyes men’s track and field team is ranked 12th overall in the nation and 10th in the Big Ten.

The Hawkeyes have a deep and talented roster, with several returning All-Americans and NCAA Champions.

Iowa Hawkeyes men’s track and field team is ranked 12th overall in the nation and 10th in the Big Ten.

Iowa head coach Steve Miller said his team is ready for the challenge of hosting the Big Ten championships.

Iowa Hawkeyes men’s track and field team is ranked 12th overall in the nation and 10th in the Big Ten.

The Hawkeyes have a deep and talented roster, with several returning All-Americans and NCAA Champions.