Counseling sees more students
UI Counseling Service helps students with issues ranging from the college transition to relationship difficulties.

By TIETRA SIMPSON

The University of Iowa Counseling Service saw a 4 percent increase in the number of student visits in the 2011-12 academic year, and officials say numerous factors may have led to the increased intake.

"There have been more students more knowledgeable about mental-health conditions and the kinds of treatments and services available on campus and who are willing to advocate and take advantage of them," he said.

Those with a mental-health condition could benefit from treatment but some do not reach out. Cochrane notes this has been problematic in the past.

"The more people coming in, the better everyone's got to be," he said.

Officials at the University of North- ern Iowa also saw a 3 percent rise in the number of students they treated during the 2011-12 academic year. "It has been increasing every year for the last several years," said David Towle, the director at the UNI counseling center. "In general, there are more students coming to campus with some serious needs. The barriers

Pharmacy looks for new home

The University of Iowa College of Pharmacy's building consumes more energy per square foot than any other building on campus.

By MACKESY MURPHY

While the University of Iowa boasts an ongoing pharmacy program, it can't brag about its facilities. "Here No. 1 in energy consumption," said Don Lutzen, the dean of the UI College of Pharmacy. "And that's not an enviable place to be."

The College of Pharmacy building consumes more energy than any building on campus. And this is one reason phar- macy-school officials want to see a replace- ment facility in the coming years.

"We have a top-10 worldwide pharmacy program and a top-10 facility," Lutzen- dro said. In a UI energy report, the Pharmacy Building used roughly 5 million kilowat
News

Class to reimagine Las Vegas
Reimagining Downtown, a new spring course, will enroll 100 students.

BY NICK HASSETT

The University of Iowa has an opportunity to reimagine Las Vegas as a spring course of the University of Iowa’s downtown location.

The new course, titled "Reimagining Downtown," will explore the city's potential for sustainable development and community engagement.

"This is an exciting opportunity for our students to learn about one of the world's most unique urban environments," said Mark Obenshain, director of the Reimagining Urban Futures program.

The course will be taught by Dr. Karen Davis, an assistant professor of urban studies at the University of Iowa.

"Las Vegas is a fascinating case study for understanding the impact of urban planning on social and economic outcomes," Davis said.

The course will cover a range of topics, including urban design, sustainability, and community engagement.

"Our goal is to provide our students with a unique and immersive learning experience," Davis said.

The course will be offered in collaboration with the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, and will be instructed by Dr. Lisa Talley, an assistant professor of urban studies at UNLV.

"We are excited to partner with UNLV to offer this course to our students," Talley said.

The course will be open to graduate and undergraduate students and will be held in-person at the University of Iowa's downtown location.

"We are eager to see how our students apply what they learn in this course to real-world situations," Davis said.

The University of Iowa is committed to Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and aims to become a leader in sustainable urban planning.

"Our students will have the opportunity to contribute to this important work," Talley said.

The course will be offered in the spring of 2022 and will be limited to 100 students.

"We are looking forward to seeing the creative and innovative ideas that our students will bring to this course," Talley said.

For more information, please visit the University of Iowa's website.
Archer: creation by "parking their tax payers' dollars." He also stat- ed that if he was "worth it" to go into further debt to save in fixing the infrastructure. Instead he felt cuts to government pro- grams would have been better addressed by the current Congress. There is just so much uncertainty right now with the tax rates with the potential "gangs-manged" coming up at the end of this year," he said. "Firms are changing as rapidly, we just need to provide certainty and stability to everybody." Archer said one of the "black-holes" between him and Loebsack is de- spite their differences in Iowa, Pan- ama, and South Korea, Archer said the things in America, again, is not a question of trusting fac- turing base," he remarked. "We've got to go much farther to pro- test the Department of Defense. "We have to have to eliminate forward bases around the world, elimi- nating (the bases) without jeopardizing men and women in the theater. We need to scale back former bases to save tax payers dollars." Archer characterized "We've got to build things in America again, and rebuild our manufacturing base in Iowa and across America.

China

Archer: for China trade rules out there — and indi- viduals have to play by those rules. We need to be firm, aggressive, but I don't believe there should be trade war with China anytime soon.

Loebsack: We've got to make our currency manipu- lation an issue again, and rebuild our manufacturing base in America again.

Rehabilitation

Archer: I've already voted against China's currency manipulation, in every Iowan's eye, in the United States.

Defense cuts

Loebsack: I've already voted for number of cuts already. We're already cutting the Pentagon, and we can make further cuts on defense side.

Economic conditions

Loebsack: [There are] ways to deal with China and other countries, specifically noting it could affect jobs in the United States.

Archer: We have to have a tougher stance on China, something he feels is the case with Obama's administration on, stating U.S. manufacturers can't always compete on a level playing field.

Trade agreements

Loebsack: [I'm] not sure he will do all that much good. I want to be a little careful about what we do with trade issues in more productive ways that don't hurt workers in Iowa and America.

Archer: The growing federal deficit remains another major issue, and Loebsack said a balanced-budget amendment in which the deficit should start, in addi- tion to further cuts to pro- grams, specifically major cuts to the Department of Defense.

"We have to start out with a balanced-budget amendment," he said. "It would start a conversation about the budget and debt, and so there is no one serious when it comes to budget cutting."

U.S. political-science Pro- fessor John Conybeare agreed with Loebsack's position, saying Archer is overvalued, and the current Republican administration on, stating U.S. manufacturers don't always compete on a level playing field.

The Daily Iowan - Iowa City, Iowa - Monday, October 1, 2012

Archer: We have to get tougher with China when it comes to its currency manipu- lation. "I've heard from a lot of people who would be hurt by this,

"We've got to build things in America again.

Archer: We've got to build things in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America. I've heard from a lot of people who would be hurt by this,

"For our congressman to say it was a "black-holes" agreement was a thumb in my eye," Archer said when asked about Loebsack's vote.

"We have to start out with a balanced-budget amendment," he said. "It would start a conversation about the budget and debt, and so there is no one serious when it comes to budget cutting."

Archer: We have to have a tougher stance on China, something he feels is the case with Obama's administration on, stating U.S. manufacturers can't always compete on a level playing field.

Loebsack: We've got to make our currency manipu- lation an issue again, and rebuild our manufacturing base in America again.

Archer: creation by "parking their tax payers' dollars." He also stat- ed that if he was "worth it" to go into further debt to save in fixing the infrastructure. Instead he felt cuts to government pro- grams would have been better addressed by the current Congress. There is just so much uncertainty right now with the tax rates with the potential "gangs-manged" coming up at the end of this year," he said. "Firms are changing as rapidly, we just need to provide certainty and stability to everybody." Archer said one of the "black-holes" between him and Loebsack is de- spite their differences in Iowa, Pan- ama, and South Korea, Archer said the things in America, again, is not a question of trusting fac- turing base," he remarked. "We've got to go much farther to pro- test the Department of Defense. "We have to have to eliminate forward bases around the world, elimi- nating (the bases) without jeopardizing men and women in the theater. We need to scale back former bases to save tax payers dollars." Archer characterized poor for repatriation — or allow- ing foreign corporations to take made overseas and bring it to the United States at a lower tax rate — is something he is con-vinced will help create jobs. But one University of Iowa economist disputed Archer’s comments on the impact of this policy.

"I don't necessarily hear from a lot of people that there is a lot of manufacturing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- manufacturing base in America again.

Archer: creation by "parking their tax payers' dollars." He also stat- ed that if he was "worth it" to go into further debt to save in fixing the infrastructure. Instead he felt cuts to government pro- grams would have been better addressed by the current Congress. There is just so much uncertainty right now with the tax rates with the potential "gangs-manged" coming up at the end of this year," he said. "Firms are changing as rapidly, we just need to provide certainty and stability to everybody." Archer said one of the "black-holes" between him and Loebsack is de- spite their differences in Iowa, Pan- ama, and South Korea, Archer said the things in America, again, is not a question of trusting fac- turing base," he remarked. "We've got to go much farther to pro- test the Department of Defense. "We have to have to eliminate forward bases around the world, elimi- nating (the bases) without jeopardizing men and women in the theater. We need to scale back former bases to save tax payers dollars." Archer characterized poor for repatriation — or allow- ing foreign corporations to take made overseas and bring it to the United States at a lower tax rate — is something he is con-vinced will help create jobs. But one University of Iowa economist disputed Archer’s comments on the impact of this policy.

"I don't necessarily hear from a lot of people that there is a lot of manufacturing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- manufacturing base in America again.

Archer: creation by "parking their tax payers' dollars." He also stat- ed that if he was "worth it" to go into further debt to save in fixing the infrastructure. Instead he felt cuts to government pro- grams would have been better addressed by the current Congress. There is just so much uncertainty right now with the tax rates with the potential "gangs-manged" coming up at the end of this year," he said. "Firms are changing as rapidly, we just need to provide certainty and stability to everybody." Archer said one of the "black-holes" between him and Loebsack is de- spite their differences in Iowa, Pan- ama, and South Korea, Archer said the things in America, again, is not a question of trusting fac- turing base," he remarked. "We've got to go much farther to pro- test the Department of Defense. "We have to have to eliminate forward bases around the world, elimi- nating (the bases) without jeopardizing men and women in the theater. We need to scale back former bases to save tax payers dollars." Archer characterized poor for repatriation — or allow- ing foreign corporations to take made overseas and bring it to the United States at a lower tax rate — is something he is con-vinced will help create jobs. But one University of Iowa economist disputed Archer’s comments on the impact of this policy.

"I don't necessarily hear from a lot of people that there is a lot of manufacturing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- ing base in America again, and rebuild our manufactur- manufacturing base in America again.

Archer: creation by "parking their tax payers' dollars." He also stat- ed that if he was "worth it" to go into further debt to save in fixing the infrastructure. Instead he felt cuts to government pro- grams would have been better addressed by the current Congress. There is just so much uncertainty right now with the tax rates with the potential "gangs-manged" coming up at the end of this year," he said. "Firms are changing as rapidly, we just need to provide certainty and stability to everybody." Archer said one of the "black-holes" between him and Loebsack is de- spite their differences in Iowa, Pan- ama, and South Korea, Archer said the things in America, again, is not a question of trusting fac- turing base," he remarked. "We've got to go much farther to pro- test the Department of Defense. "We have to have to eliminate forward bases around the world, elimi- nating (the bases) without jeopardy
Election 2012

Iowa’s Second District race

Congressman Dave Loebsack (D)

loebsack

Davenport, Loebsack, on Sept. 28 that he is confident in his campaign and looks forward to continue serving Iowans here in Congress. Loebsack sat down with The Daily Iowan to discuss his campaign and expectations for the upcoming debates.

Job Creation

Loebsack said he is focused on promoting job growth and creating jobs. He said that education is critical to ensure that businesses can thrive.

Health Care

Loebsack fully supports the Affordable Care Act and has voted twice to repeal the act. He also said that he thinks the U.S. health care system needs to be reformed in order to lower health care costs and make it more efficient and less costly.

Overall

In order for Loebsack to remain in Congress, he must remain competitive. Democrats need to outvote Republicans by one percent to win the seat.

Federal Deficit

Loebsack expressed his concern with the federal deficits that the nation is facing. He believes that the deficit is unsustainable and that the government needs to take action to reduce it.

Senior Senator Stratton

Lobesack’s views on the issues reflect the most appropriate ways of lamenting the current political climate, his views and his goal are to make sure he does not prominently feature his views concerning the debt ensuring that legislation gets passed.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are now being sent by email to dailyiowan@uiowa.edu. They will publish only one letter per author (as text, not as attachment). Each letter is limited to 300 words. The opinion editor reserves the right to edit letters and will publish them at the discretion of the opinion editor. Neither the Daily Iowan nor the opinions of the editorial board are necessarily those of the Editorial Board.

John A. Kerner (R)

John A. Kerner (R) is a business owner, Iowa State Senator, and entrepreneur running against congressman Dave Loebsack (D) in Iowa’s Second District race. Loebsack recently released a video ahead of the first debate, noting that “Presidents are attempting to lower the corporate tax rate, which would shore up growth, obstacles would be reduced and eliminating some excise taxes as well.”

John A. Kerner (R) has said that it is true that streamlining and solidifying the Affordable Care Act would allow businesses to innovate and make changes to the health care system.

Overall

In order for Loebsack to remain in Congress, he must remain competitive. Democrats need to outvote Republicans by one percent to win the seat.

Federal Deficit

Loebsack expressed his concern with the federal deficits that the nation is facing. He believes that the deficit is unsustainable and that the government needs to take action to reduce it.

Senior Senator Stratton

Lobesack’s views on the issues reflect the most appropriate ways of lamenting the current political climate, his views and his goal are to make sure he does not prominently feature his views concerning the debt ensuring that legislation gets passed.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are now being sent by email to dailyiowan@uiowa.edu. They will publish only one letter per author (as text, not as attachment). Each letter is limited to 300 words. The opinion editor reserves the right to edit letters and will publish them at the discretion of the opinion editor. Neither the Daily Iowan nor the opinions of the editorial board are necessarily those of the Editorial Board.

John A. Kerner (R)

John A. Kerner (R) is a business owner, Iowa State Senator, and entrepreneur running against congressman Dave Loebsack (D) in Iowa’s Second District race. Loebsack recently released a video ahead of the first debate, noting that “Presidents are attempting to lower the corporate tax rate, which would shore up growth, obstacles would be reduced and eliminating some excise taxes as well.”

John A. Kerner (R) has said that it is true that streamlining and solidifying the Affordable Care Act would allow businesses to innovate and make changes to the health care system.

Overall

In order for Loebsack to remain in Congress, he must remain competitive. Democrats need to outvote Republicans by one percent to win the seat.

Federal Deficit

Loebsack expressed his concern with the federal deficits that the nation is facing. He believes that the deficit is unsustainable and that the government needs to take action to reduce it.

Senior Senator Stratton

Lobesack’s views on the issues reflect the most appropriate ways of lamenting the current political climate, his views and his goal are to make sure he does not prominently feature his views concerning the debt ensuring that legislation gets passed.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are now being sent by email to dailyiowan@uiowa.edu. They will publish only one letter per author (as text, not as attachment). Each letter is limited to 300 words. The opinion editor reserves the right to edit letters and will publish them at the discretion of the opinion editor. Neither the Daily Iowan nor the opinions of the editorial board are necessarily those of the Editorial Board.

John A. Kerner (R)

John A. Kerner (R) is a business owner, Iowa State Senator, and entrepreneur running against congressman Dave Loebsack (D) in Iowa’s Second District race. Loebsack recently released a video ahead of the first debate, noting that “Presidents are attempting to lower the corporate tax rate, which would shore up growth, obstacles would be reduced and eliminating some excise taxes as well.”

John A. Kerner (R) has said that it is true that streamlining and solidifying the Affordable Care Act would allow businesses to innovate and make changes to the health care system.

Overall

In order for Loebsack to remain in Congress, he must remain competitive. Democrats need to outvote Republicans by one percent to win the seat.

Federal Deficit

Loebsack expressed his concern with the federal deficits that the nation is facing. He believes that the deficit is unsustainable and that the government needs to take action to reduce it.

Senior Senator Stratton

Lobesack’s views on the issues reflect the most appropriate ways of lamenting the current political climate, his views and his goal are to make sure he does not prominently feature his views concerning the debt ensuring that legislation gets passed.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are now being sent by email to dailyiowan@uiowa.edu. They will publish only one letter per author (as text, not as attachment). Each letter is limited to 300 words. The opinion editor reserves the right to edit letters and will publish them at the discretion of the opinion editor. Neither the Daily Iowan nor the opinions of the editorial board are necessarily those of the Editorial Board.
Pharmacy

Continued from 1

hours of electrical energy in fiscal 2009, 10,000 more than all of the buildings on the Pentacrest combined.

In 2008, the Pharmacy Building was re-designed for 15,900 square feet of carbon dioxide and total phar-sy Building Building accounted 3,900 metric tons across from the current building.

the Pharmacy building a new, efficient phar-
build the new pharmacy Building to educate a Student Services helps with con-services. The UI Counsel-are helpful despite initial Through a website, a Twit-

out about their service will continue to climb
ful process," she said.

Towle said. "I think it's im-important for men to rea-
but it helps men pe-

Sexual Assault

• 1 in 5 women and 1 in 10 men

to seek counseling are the typical macho thing to bought by women," Baird said. "I targets of improper be-

University of Iowa Men's
WALK A MILE

Continued from 1

the University of Iowa

According to the University of Students with mental

Counseling

Continued from 1

to seeking counseling are

are not the only students seek-to, Towle said. "I think it's im-important for men to real-

but it helps men pe-

The University of Iowa would undertake build-for legislative support

for new facilities and energy

the UI to tear it down and of the era in which it was

Sorofman said the facil-

nancy building following

by women," Baird said. "I thought this could be an

and other outlets.

students with an addi-

itself or if their

by women," Baird said. "I thought this could be an

and other outlets.

were trying to get their word

out to the stu-

We really work with a

and other outlets.

are getting more help.

and other outlets.

We're trying different in school and ultimate-

in their lives.

• 1 in 3 college students report

violent crime on college cam-

Source: University of Iowa Men's

University of Iowa Men's

• 1 in 5 women and 1 in 10 men

• 1 in 3 college students report

violent crime on college cam-

Source: University of Iowa Men's

University of Iowa Men's

• 1 in 5 women and 1 in 10 men

• 1 in 3 college students report

violent crime on college cam-

Source: University of Iowa Men's

University of Iowa Men's

• 1 in 5 women and 1 in 10 men

• 1 in 3 college students report

violent crime on college cam-

Source: University of Iowa Men's

University of Iowa Men's

• 1 in 5 women and 1 in 10 men

• 1 in 3 college students report

violent crime on college cam-

Source: University of Iowa Men's

University of Iowa Men's

• 1 in 5 women and 1 in 10 men

• 1 in 3 college students report

violent crime on college cam-

Source: University of Iowa Men's

University of Iowa Men's
Floyd is back in Iowa City. A week after a stunning loss to Central Michigan, the Hawkeyes responded with an excellent all-around performance in a 31-13 victory over rival Minnesota. Iowa jumped out to a huge halftime lead behind another great Mark Weisman performance and a bold flea-flicker touchdown.
KEY PLAYS
• After a first quarter in which Mark Weisman gashed the Gopher defense for more than 100 yards, the Hawkeyes capitalized by running a flea-flicker early in the second. Weisman flipped the ball back to Vandenberg, who threw it to wide-open Jordan Cotton for a 47-yard touchdown.
• Christian Kirksey put an exclamation point on the win for Iowa when he grabbed a slant pass out of the air and took it 68 yards for a touchdown with just over five minutes left in the game.

GAME BALLS
IOWA
Offensive line
Mark Weisman is an impressive runner, but it’s time to recognize how much room he is being given to run. The Hawkeye blockers, particularly the left side of the line, have improved significantly. They are blasting holes open for Weisman on every drive.

MINNESOTA
A.J. Barker
Not many Gopher players had impressive games. But wide receiver A.J. Barker played a solid game, catching 5 passes for 74 yards. He was Minnesota’s only real offensive threat all game.

THUMBS UP
Forcing turnovers. Greg Castillo, Tanner Miller, and Christian Kirksey all made Gopher quarterback Max Shortell pay for mistakes with interceptions. Miller’s was an impressive catch along the sidelines, and Kirksey ran his back for a touchdown. The junior linebacker also recovered a fumble in the game.

THUMBS DOWN
Second-half offense. Iowa got away from its Weisman-centered attack in the second half, and the chemistry between Vandenberg and his receivers has not improved much. The senior quarterback threw the ball at nobody numerous times. Keenan Davis and Kevonte Martin-Manley appeared to run the wrong route a time or two.
The Best Holidays in No Particular Order:

- Thanksgiving because a proper statement of gratitude like unmitigated honesty.
- Tom Kripple because a long time to separate the casual drinker from the true career lurcher.
- Fortune because guarantees will always remain to be desired and to be ignored. At the same time, it’s a good idea to need his performance.
- New Year’s Eve because it’s a good time to separate the casual drinker from the true career lurcher.
- President’s Day because he’s the most powerful person in the world and good, but without your own holdiday, you’ll be all thumbs, at least.
- Christmas because it’s a good service to get all your relatives and ex-snacker at his christmacy, if your own holdiday is ever going to happen.
- Halloween because who doesn’t love all the kids and custumes and candy. When you’re sick of that, go to 7-11 and buy more beers and custumes as condutions to your … in a word, Happy Holidays!
- All Hallows will Hartman see how much he likes a national holiday yet.
practice with more focus and attention to detail, and the rewards are visible on the field. “He’s coming into prac-

COTTON CONTINUED FROM 12

tive,” Henderson said. “The guy really changed the way he’s living, changed the way he was practicing, and really competing. That builds

COMMENTS CONTINUED FROM 12

Weisman is only taking courses because of injury,

CONTRIBUTED FROM 12

but they all return to health, and the next step is to decide how to adjust his backfield rotation. The transition seems pretty obvious: it allows

Weisman tracked through Northern Iowa

and Central Michigan defenders in his impresproducing the crowd he had

Forty last week it “depends which made this month to juries. “It’s terrible luck for Iowa. It’s terrible luck for Hawkeye color argyle socks.

Chuck Taylors and mid-calf

1980s.”

Weisman doesn’t seem to need a complementa-tory back to spell him. He doesn’t need to be part of a running-back combination. Weisman has carried

something for coming out

is always fun,” Drake said

about the go-ahead score.

It felt nice,” Drake said

about the go-ahead score.

“We needed that goal. It meant Iowa is the only remain and continue to be

Iowa basketball player Duez Henderson talks to young fans at the Iowa Celebrity Allstar Classic in honor,” Henderson said.

“It always fun to come out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,

something for coming out

for autographs, pictures,
The Iowa volleyball team opened its Big Ten schedule last weekend and it more work to do before it could come close to winning the Big Ten match.

“We have to make out strong in the first set,” junior libero Rebekah Yan- ger said. “We can’t try to do too much defensively, we have to go three in the Big Ten with these good teams.”

Over the weekend, Iowa struggled to start matches off with the proper intensity, but Iowa ended up winning two Big Ten matches.

The Iowa State defense al- though it knocked out Missouri 3-2 in set 3, but Iowa was outmatched in the third set, 13-24, and the game was over.

Iowa’s senior leader, Cortney Greene, found herself faced with Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

Ann Arbor, Mich., on Sept. 28.

The Michigan Soccer Stadium in Ann Arbor, Mich., on Sept. 28.

The Michigan Soccer Stadium in Ann Arbor, Mich., on Sept. 28.

The Iowa women’s soccer team nabbed a blue ribbon, finishing in 18.49.51, followed by boats (19:15.24, in its first regatta out of Iowa.

Prücker vision for 8 saves on 17 shots, including 15:05.98, 2nd men’s 8 boat (15:07.19, 2nd men’s 8 boat finished in 20 seconds remaining in the sec- ond set, 12-8, but still came up short.

Despite winning the second set, 17-25, 25-21, 25-22.

The lack of firepower can be partly attributed to sophomore setter Erin Radke led the team to record to 4-1.

The Hawkeyes didn’t play up to their ca- pacities and heard it in- person.

The second set gave Iowa hope it could be win- ning Big Ten matches.

The Hawkeyes hosted Michigan State at both ends of the field by No. 22 Michigan, but neither team could

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Iowa women’s soccer team nabbed a blue ribbon, finishing in 18.49.51, followed by boats (19:15.24, in its first regatta out of Iowa.

The Iowa men’s tennis team opened its season on Sept. 27 at UTEP and defeated the Miners by a score of 6-1. The team won for the first time in 8 years.

The Hawkeyes were outplayed 3-2 in the first set and again in the second set.

The lack of firepower can be partly attributed to sophomore setter Erin Radke led the team to record to 4-1.

The Hawkeyes didn’t play up to their ca- pacities and heard it in- person.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.

The Hawkeyes A boat took first place.

The NCAA head coach Sharon Dingman has vowed to keep Iowa to the tune of a 24-13 advan- tage in the final set, 30-28.
Jordan Cotton had a coming-out party against Minnesota, but his last two games with a 23.25 yards-per-attempt streak ended Sept. 29, served Cotton’s début to Hawk-coordinator Greg Davis’ arrival popping up around his name. But newCoordinates: 47.622410, -122.392100

Jordan Cotton wasn’t nervous as the ball arced toward him. “It felt like it was up there forever,” the junior said. “I didn’t think it was too far, it was just more of an adrenaline running, I was that wide open, and just had to come up with the ball.”

The 45-yard touchdown catch, which came on a flea-flicker in the second quarter, was her sixth of the year — planted her into the Ohio State’ 1-1 Big Ten) had scored the first goal of the afternoon. Barnett’s equalizer provided the necessary boost Iowa needed to complete what was seemingly impossible for more than an hour of the match. Ohio State dictated the pace of play for all but the final eight minutes. The Buckeyes’ blustering offense caused problems for the stout Iowa defense, and they found holes that helped to penetrate the layered backline.

The Buckeyes, which had reached 33 goals during a six-game win streak before Sunday’s affair, put Iowa on its heels. Freshman Peanut Johnson, rattled in the first goal of the afternoon in the 28th minute to give Ohio State a 1-0 lead. It was the first time all season Iowa trailed while playing at home.

"This whole game overall was an uphill battle," Barnett said. “We played not as good as we’ve been used to playing. In that moment, I think we needed a goal, and we capitalized on it.”

Inside forward Sarah Drake changes the defense at Grant Field on Sunday. The Hawkeyes rallied in the final minute to shutout the Buckeyes, 2-1. (Daily Iowan/Deltha Hosen)

The Hawkeyes will have to decide how much to change their backfield rotation when injured runners return. Hint: not very much.

Jordan Cotton had a coming-out party against Minnesota, but his last two games with a 23.25 yards-per-attempt streak ended Sept. 29, served Cotton’s début to Hawk-coordinator Greg Davis’ arrival popping up around his name. But newCoordinates: 47.622410, -122.392100

Jordan Cotton wasn’t nervous as the ball arced toward him. “It felt like it was up there forever,” the junior said. “I didn’t think it was too far, it was just more of an adrenaline running, I was that wide open, and just had to come up with the ball.”

The 45-yard touchdown catch, which came on a flea-flicker in the second quarter, was her sixth of the year — planted her into the Ohio State’ 1-1 Big Ten) had scored the first goal of the afternoon. Barnett’s equalizer provided the necessary boost Iowa needed to complete what was seemingly impossible for more than an hour of the match. Ohio State dictated the pace of play for all but the final eight minutes. The Buckeyes’ blustering offense caused problems for the stout Iowa defense, and they found holes that helped to penetrate the layered backline.

The Buckeyes, which had reached 33 goals during a six-game win streak before Sunday’s affair, put Iowa on its heels. Freshman Peanut Johnson, rattled in the first goal of the afternoon in the 28th minute to give Ohio State a 1-0 lead. It was the first time all season Iowa trailed while playing at home.

"This whole game overall was an uphill battle," Barnett said. “We played not as good as we’ve been used to playing. In that moment, I think we needed a goal, and we capitalized on it.”

Inside forward Sarah Drake changes the defense at Grant Field on Sunday. The Hawkeyes rallied in the final minute to shutout the Buckeyes, 2-1. (Daily Iowan/Deltha Hosen)

The Hawkeyes will have to decide how much to change their backfield rotation when injured runners return. Hint: not very much.

Jordan Cotton had a coming-out party against Minnesota, but his last two games with a 23.25 yards-per-attempt streak ended Sept. 29, served Cotton’s début to Hawk-coordinator Greg Davis’ arrival popping up around his name. But newCoordinates: 47.622410, -122.392100

Jordan Cotton wasn’t nervous as the ball arced toward him. “It felt like it was up there forever,” the junior said. “I didn’t think it was too far, it was just more of an adrenaline running, I was that wide open, and just had to come up with the ball.”

The 45-yard touchdown catch, which came on a flea-flicker in the second quarter, was her sixth of the year — planted her into the Ohio State’ 1-1 Big Ten) had scored the first goal of the afternoon. Barnett’s equalizer provided the necessary boost Iowa needed to complete what was seemingly impossible for more than an hour of the match. Ohio State dictated the pace of play for all but the final eight minutes. The Buckeyes’ blustering offense caused problems for the stout Iowa defense, and they found holes that helped to penetrate the layered backline.

The Buckeyes, which had reached 33 goals during a six-game win streak before Sunday’s affair, put Iowa on its heels. Freshman Peanut Johnson, rattled in the first goal of the afternoon in the 28th minute to give Ohio State a 1-0 lead. It was the first time all season Iowa trailed while playing at home.

"This whole game overall was an uphill battle," Barnett said. “We played not as good as we’ve been used to playing. In that moment, I think we needed a goal, and we capitalized on it.”

Inside forward Sarah Drake changes the defense at Grant Field on Sunday. The Hawkeyes rallied in the final minute to shutout the Buckeyes, 2-1. (Daily Iowan/Deltha Hosen)

The Hawkeyes will have to decide how much to change their backfield rotation when injured runners return. Hint: not very much.

Jordan Cotton had a coming-out party against Minnesota, but his last two games with a 23.25 yards-per-attempt streak ended Sept. 29, served Cotton’s début to Hawk-coordinator Greg Davis’ arrival popping up around his name. But newCoordinates: 47.622410, -122.392100

Jordan Cotton wasn’t nervous as the ball arced toward him. “It felt like it was up there forever,” the junior said. “I didn’t think it was too far, it was just more of an adrenaline running, I was that wide open, and just had to come up with the ball.”

The 45-yard touchdown catch, which came on a flea-flicker in the second quarter, was her sixth of the year — planted her into the Ohio State’ 1-1 Big Ten) had scored the first goal of the afternoon. Barnett’s equalizer provided the necessary boost Iowa needed to complete what was seemingly impossible for more than an hour of the match. Ohio State dictated the pace of play for all but the final eight minutes. The Buckeyes’ blustering offense caused problems for the stout Iowa defense, and they found holes that helped to penetrate the layered backline.

The Buckeyes, which had reached 33 goals during a six-game win streak before Sunday’s affair, put Iowa on its heels. Freshman Peanut Johnson, rattled in the first goal of the afternoon in the 28th minute to give Ohio State a 1-0 lead. It was the first time all season Iowa trailed while playing at home.

"This whole game overall was an uphill battle," Barnett said. “We played not as good as we’ve been used to playing. In that moment, I think we needed a goal, and we capitalized on it.”

Inside forward Sarah Drake changes the defense at Grant Field on Sunday. The Hawkeyes rallied in the final minute to shutout the Buckeyes, 2-1. (Daily Iowan/Deltha Hosen)

The Hawkeyes will have to decide how much to change their backfield rotation when injured runners return. Hint: not very much.

Jordan Cotton had a coming-out party against Minnesota, but his last two games with a 23.25 yards-per-attempt streak ended Sept. 29, served Cotton’s début to Hawk-coordinator Greg Davis’ arrival popping up around his name. But newCoordinates: 47.622410, -122.392100

Jordan Cotton wasn’t nervous as the ball arced toward him. “It felt like it was up there forever,” the junior said. “I didn’t think it was too far, it was just more of an adrenaline running, I was that wide open, and just had to come up with the ball.”

The 45-yard touchdown catch, which came on a flea-flicker in the second quarter, was her sixth of the year — planted her into the Ohio State’ 1-1 Big Ten) had scored the first goal of the afternoon. Barnett’s equalizer provided the necessary boost Iowa needed to complete what was seemingly impossible for more than an hour of the match. Ohio State dictated the pace of play for all but the final eight minutes. The Buckeyes’ blustering offense caused problems for the stout Iowa defense, and they found holes that helped to penetrate the layered backline.

The Buckeyes, which had reached 33 goals during a six-game win streak before Sunday’s affair, put Iowa on its heels. Freshman Peanut Johnson, rattled in the first goal of the afternoon in the 28th minute to give Ohio State a 1-0 lead. It was the first time all season Iowa trailed while playing at home.

"This whole game overall was an uphill battle," Barnett said. “We played not as good as we’ve been used to playing. In that moment, I think we needed a goal, and we capitalized on it.”

Inside forward Sarah Drake changes the defense at Grant Field on Sunday. The Hawkeyes rallied in the final minute to shutout the Buckeyes, 2-1. (Daily Iowan/Deltha Hosen)

The Hawkeyes will have to decide how much to change their backfield rotation when injured runners return. Hint: not very much.

Jordan Cotton had a coming-out party against Minnesota, but his last two games with a 23.25 yards-per-attempt streak ended Sept. 29, served Cotton’s début to Hawk-coordinator Greg Davis’ arrival popping up around his name. But newCoordinates: 47.622410, -122.392100

Jordan Cotton wasn’t nervous as the ball arced toward him. “It felt like it was up there forever,” the junior said. “I didn’t think it was too far, it was just more of an adrenaline running, I was that wide open, and just had to come up with the ball.”

The 45-yard touchdown catch, which came on a flea-flicker in the second quarter, was her sixth of the year — planted her into the Ohio State’ 1-1 Big Ten) had scored the first goal of the afternoon. Barnett’s equalizer provided the necessary boost Iowa needed to complete what was seemingly impossible for more than an hour of the match. Ohio State dictated the pace of play for all but the final eight minutes. The Buckeyes’ blustering offense caused problems for the stout Iowa defense, and they found holes that helped to penetrate the layered backline.

The Buckeyes, which had reached 33 goals during a six-game win streak before Sunday’s affair, put Iowa on its heels. Freshman Peanut Johnson, rattled in the first goal of the afternoon in the 28th minute to give Ohio State a 1-0 lead. It was the first time all season Iowa trailed while playing at home.

"This whole game overall was an uphill battle," Barnett said. “We played not as good as we’ve been used to playing. In that moment, I think we needed a goal, and we capitalized on it.”

Inside forward Sarah Drake changes the defense at Grant Field on Sunday. The Hawkeyes rallied in the final minute to shutout the Buckeyes, 2-1. (Daily Iowan/Deltha Hosen)

The Hawkeyes will have to decide how much to change their backfield rotation when injured runners return. Hint: not very much.