Girl fights double dose

Two types of cancer; one resilient girl.

Taylor Krueger has battled two types of cancer, acute lymphoblastic leukemia, and a stage four brain tumor, glioblastoma multiforme, in her short life. Taylor’s sparkling caps and cowboy boots also pair them with with an array of colors: some are white and black adorned with dazzling bling. Taylor’s sparkling caps and cowboy boots also pair them with with an array of colors: some are white and black adorned with dazzling bling.

Taylor Krueger

Taylor Krueger has battled two types of cancer, acute lymphoblastic leukemia, and a stage four brain tumor, glioblastoma multiforme, in her short life.

Taylor Krueger has battled two types of cancer, acute lymphoblastic leukemia, and a stage four brain tumor, glioblastoma multiforme, in her short life.

Taylor Krueger has battled two types of cancer, acute lymphoblastic leukemia, and a stage four brain tumor, glioblastoma multiforme, in her short life. Taylor’s sparkling caps and cowboy boots also pair them with with an array of colors: some are white and black adorned with dazzling bling.

Taylor’s sparkling caps and cowboy boots also pair them with with an array of colors: some are white and black adorned with dazzling bling.
Gateway project to affect UI

By MARY N. SPRADLING

After more than five years of planning, the Gateway project is finally taking shape, and UI will have a massive effect on the University of Iowa.

The project will serve as an oasis for students, faculty, and visitors through a new entrance on the west side of the city. City Councilor Jim Throgmorton explained, “I think it of the project the gateway is going to be a new entrance to downtown Iowa City and the cube of the university.” He added, “What we’re doing is very important, both to the city and to the university.”

The Gateway project is a part of the west side of the city, which is a major project around the new area. The work has been approved by the city council for the project. The project is almost $30 million.

Improving the bridge is also needed to be done on the Clancy Bridge over the Iowa River, a part of the University. UI students are expected to finish the work soon after the bridge is completed. The project is expected to be completed in 2021.

The UI has been working closely with the city throughout the design of the bridge. For this reason, the UI’s later participation, director of planning and design, said, “We’ve worked closely with the city all the developments of the design.”

“Though the facilities that are affected, which would be the Mayflower and the houseboat, are being accounted for in the UI in the issue of traffic coordination, said Councilor Throgmorton. During construction, it will have some problems,” he said. The traffic will be down quite a bit.”

Correction

In the Jan. article “Ombudsperson candidate visit with proposal to lower college costs,” The Daily Iowan incorrectly quoted Tom Bailey, the Branstad Reynolds campaign communications director, under the name Terry Schulte. The DI regrets the error.

BLITTER

Nicholas Arnone, 24, 165 S. 18th St., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 11 with driving while intoxicated.

David Brunette, 22, 401 Harry Hagey Drive Apt. A, Iowa City, was charged on Feb. 1 with possession of drug paraphernalia.

Ryan Brouse, 20, 372 L. Colling Drive, North Liberty, was charged on Jan. 17 with making a death threats.

John Buel, 19, 114 Meadow Lane, Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 11 with a public intoxication.

Richard Bruehlman, 21, 1833 Morningside Drive, Iowa City, was charged on Feb. 11 with possession of drug paraphernalia and driving a vehicle with a revoked license.

Matthew Carbal, 19, 1119 Missouri Ave., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 11 with a public intoxication.

Megan Curtis, 20, 667 W. Liberty St., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 10 with a public intoxication.

Morgan Dorn, 19, 410 Culver Dr., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 4 with a public intoxication.

Lashelle Dorn, 19, 3211 Butcher St., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 26 with a public intoxication.

Lauren Eagan, 19, 3111 Butcher St., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 29 with a public intoxication.

Samantha Egan, 20, 3101 Butcher St., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 29 with a public intoxication.

Gabriel Erickson, 20, 3211 Butcher St., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 29 with a public intoxication.

Lauren Farmer, 19, 35, 1111 University Ave., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 10 with a public intoxication.

Nick Fouls, 20, 2020 Western Ave., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 11 with a public intoxication.

Larri Fisher, 45, 1111 University Ave., Iowa City, was charged on Jan. 11 with a public intoxication.

The Daily Iowan
The surge in the number of students not only in Iowa but also the fact that the university has allocated additional teacher funds for finding an additional teacher.

"We've at capacity right now with a little more than 100 students and the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has allocated funds for finding an additional professor," he said.

"I think 9/11 and U.S. national law and also a belief as her reason for taking the language," he said. "The U.S. has a huge interest in Arabic and the French and Arabic track is the only program of its kind in the state."
EDITORIAL

Health care needs explaining

President Obama’s State of the Union address last week marked a major shift in his approach to health care reform. He needs to make a better case.

The president spent about five minutes of an hour-and-a-half-long speech on the topic on the State of the Union address since he’s urged passage to pass a health care bill.

With the March 31 deadline for insurance sign-up fast approaching, people are beginning to realize that something the Affordable Care Act and the Affordable Care Act has to do with their personal lives. Many people have come to the realization that the Affordable Care Act does not mean that they have to sign up for insurance. It means that they can choose whether or not to sign up for insurance.

Amazon, and Netflix companies as Facebook, Google, PayPal, and others have all signed on to oppose the net neutrality bill. Net neutrality has been a hot topic for many years. With the Internet now becoming more ubiquitous, people are becoming more aware of the importance of net neutrality.

Net neutrality is a concept that ensures that all Internet content, regardless of source, is treated equally by Internet service providers. Net neutrality is the idea that the Internet should be a public service, open to all, and not controlled by any one entity.

The FCC has voted to move forward with the net neutrality bill. While the bill has not been passed into law yet, it is clear that the FCC is dedicated to protecting the Internet from being restricted.

Net neutrality is an important concept that needs to be protected. It is important that the FCC continues to work on this issue and that the Internet remains open to all.

STAFF

KRISTEN EATON Assistant Editor
JORDYN BELAND Editor-In-Chief
NICK HASELMAIER Managing Editor
MICHAEL BRADLEY, JILLIAN ASHLEY, ASHLEY DORSEY, ADAM GROMOHTA, JON OVERTON, 3RD PONNADA, BRISBANE ALDON, JONATHAN BECKLEY, ERIC MOORE

OPINIONS, COMMENTARIES, COLUMNISTS, AND EDITORIAL CARICATURES © the opinions of the authors and are not necessarily those of the liberal Iowan.

EDITORIAL POLICY

The Daily Iowan is an independent newspaper, and its editors are not responsible for the opinions of its contributors. The paper is not affiliated with the University of Iowa, the Board of Regents of the University of Iowa, or the State of Iowa.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR may be reprinted in full or in part without further notification, or they may be edited for space and clarity. All letters should be submitted via the submission form by noon Monday for publication in the next issue of The Daily Iowan.

GUEST OPINIONS may be reprinted in full or in part without further notification, or they may be edited for space and clarity. All guest opinions should be submitted via the submission form by noon Monday for publication in the next issue of The Daily Iowan.

EDITORIALS reflect the opinions of the Daily Iowan Board of Editors and not necessarily those of THE DAILY IOWAN

DAILYIOWAN.COM MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 2014
UI, Kent State together tackle MRSA

University of Iowa officials are making strides to finding the source of a difficult to treat infection.

By Annabel Meier
abigail-meier@uiowa.edu

THE DAILY IOWAN      DAILYIOWAN.COM    MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 2014

Drug-resistant staph

Officials from the UI and Kent State conducted a study on veterans in Iowa to determine how to stop the spread of drug-resistant staph such as MRSA, which kills or causes new infections in about 25 percent of those infected. The infection can be a little mis-leading because staph can occur anywhere on the body, like in sinuses or on skin.

Larry Sailer, a hog farmer from Franklin County, said the fear of MRSA can sometimes be blown out of proportion among people who work on hog farms, who have family members in health care who can be colonized with MRSA.

More than 30,000 patients were surveyed at VA hospitals in 2010 and 2011 and 6.8 percent of patients were found to be carrying MRSA. The VA hospital in Iowa City had the highest number of patients carrying MRSA at 8.8 percent, according to an Iowa City police report.

“Other studies have shown that individuals who work on hog farms, who visit hog farms, or who have family members who work on hog farms, can be colonized with MRSA,” said Sailer.

Sailer said MRSA can sometimes be transmitted in places in which individuals live in proximity, such as obtaining it in a hog barn or through skin-to-skin contact with another person, but should not be spreading it from one person to another.

The hospital staff is checking for staph. Over a two-year period, officials from the University of Iowa and Kent State University haveunited a study that analyzes veterans of Iowa who may have odds of carrying a drug-resistant staph. To conduct this spread of methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus, the UI Hospitals and Clinics performs mandatory screenings for patients prior to invasive surgeries. A team of UI and Kent State University officials surveyed 1,016 VA patients who were located in rural Iowa and were admitted to the VA hospital in 2010 and 2011. Overall, 6.8 percent of the patients were carrying MRSA or a type of antibiotic-resistant Staphylococcus aureus in their nostrils. Herwaldt said MRSA is not worse at the UI-Herbert Clinic than it has been in the past. She said officials are trying to decrease the risk of infection in open skin when undergoing operations.

Margaret Carrel, a UI assistant professor of geographical and sustainability sciences, said people can be colonized in places in which individuals live in proximity, such as obtaining it in a hog barn or through skin-to-skin contact. Carrel said there are several types of MRSA, some being associated with communities including health care and some associated with livestock.

Carrel found through her studies that of the people admitted to the VA hospital, those living in rural areas or near a large number of pigs were three times as likely to carry MRSA.

People should be aware of this infection, but should not be afraid of it, Sailer said. “Throughout my experience as a farmer, this has instilled a type of fear in people, and it totally makes confinement buildings look bad, but what people need to know is that there is a very rare infection.”

Man with changed domestic abuse

A final that has been around of changing a woman’s and changing men’s patterns.

William Conlow, 31, was charged with domestic assault causing bodily injury and harassment, according to a Cedar County complaint. Conlow and the victim have two children who live at 1284 E.1st St.

Not only did Conlow push her to the point of a break, but he also has been physically and verbally abusive to her and the children.

According to the complaint, Conlow was taken to the woman’s brother, who took her to the hospital to get examined and then contacted the police.

The woman suffered injuries to her teeth and mouth, and was bloody and bruised. She called 911 and told the operator that her children were in danger. She was unable to call 911 because her phone was faulty.

According to the complaint, Conlow also left a beer bottle where the woman and children were, and he was recorded yelling and cursing.

According to the complaint, the woman and children were “very, very, very, very, very scared.”

The woman said Conlow is a problem in her life, but she didn’t want to separate from him.

Conlow then allegedly pushed her to the point of it being a domestic assault.

As he has been around of changing a woman’s and changing men’s patterns.
“What's helped her the most is knowing that we're normal in life,” said Jenifer Secrist, Taylor’s mother. “To go to school every day be with friends, to play — she battled several years ago with frequent infections and several trips to the doctor for regular childhood illness. And ended in two types of cancer. After blood work tests and the results returned, Taylor was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukemia — a cancer affecting the blood and bone marrow — in September 2003 at just 20 months of age and was taken immediately to the University of Iowa Chil-

City High hosted its first ever mini-Dance Marathon in January. “Every school is different,” Marks said. “Some programs have had more programs for more than ten years, while others are only a few years old. I know that our overall program has existed for about the past six weeks.” In addition to the funds raised for the Big Event, mini-Dance Marathons can contribute anywhere from $100 to $50,000 per school during their events. “We know some students at various schools spend up to 100 hours, others decided to host bake sales or go door-to-door asking for donations.”

“Every school is different and how they come to the point they are now,” said Marks. “Some schools have been held in the past 12 hours, some for a whole day, some in the past four to five months.”

City High is fortunate to work with schools in all different areas of eastern Iowa where such dollars carry themselves. “The goal of Dance Marathon, too, is to touch many more lives,” Arpey said. “I hope every school can (host a mini-”

“Letters to God” is a testament to her strength and how she has managed to remain so positive,” Marks said. “It has been an ongoing thing. We went in thinking we were going to have an MRI and go home.”

Eight years later, in December 2010, Tay-

Erin Menken of Coralville, a classmate of Taylor’s, sporting a be-

Mia Arpey, a junior at West High School in West Des Moines, said mini-Dance Marathons are becoming more common. “Many high schools in Iowa are starting mini-mara-

Dance Marathons for their students... It’s a full day job as a teacher, but I’m passionate to help (the students) realize they are not alone in this fight,” Marks said. “If you’re going to fight cancer, we will continue to organize mini-basketball career and marked career-highs in points and rebounds for the backup center. He was probably most noticeable at the free-throw line, where he went 9-of-10 from the charity stripe. But Olaseni really did a little bit of everything against an Illinois team that now rides a seven-game losing streak. He laid one in to tie the game up with a little over seven minutes to go and pulled down a huge rebound off a missed Josh Oglesby free throw with less than a minute left to help seal the deal for Iowa and cup off a 13-4 run for the visitors that won the game. “Freshman year, Coach wouldn’t trust me in that situation,” Olaseni said about being on the floor late in the game. “I try to break down the game and focus on four things: running the floor every time, rebounding, playing good defense, and finishing around the rim.”

The Daily Iowan

OWAS ENI, junior

Iowa 125-pounder Cory Clark wrestles Garrison White of Northwestern in Welsh-Ryan Arena in Evanston, Ill. on Jan. 31. Clark defeated White, 1-0. (The Daily Iowan/Tessa Hursh)

Versatility has brought new chal- lenges in the third. He used a reversal and takedown for a total of five points, showed no signs of ex- haustion, fatigue, and finished with a 1-0-3 major decision over White.

“I always want to be able to wrestle the whole seven minutes,” Clark said. “My weight was affecting me in the past, but I don’t think it’s an issue anymore.”

He said he had to start from scratch when learning how to control the situation to eat the correct things to eat and become much more disciplined. “Nothing’s changed,” Clark said. “I’m just kind of taking it one day at a time and doing what’s best for me.”

Clark answered those questions by winning both of his duals, which is where the razor-thin margin of the meet determined the winner. All of Iowa’s losses this year have been razor-thin, but Iowa has not lacked a go-to player. He was so lively today, maybe even a little too much.”

The Hawkeyes scored 36 points in the paint. (The Daily Iowan/Joshua Housing)

Continued from 10

Clark answered those questions by winning both of his duals, which is where the razor-thin margin of the meet determined the winner. All of Iowa’s losses this year have been razor-thin, but Iowa has not lacked a go-to player. He was so lively today, maybe even a little too much.”

The Hawkeyes scored 36 points in the paint. (The Daily Iowan/Joshua Housing)

Continued from 10

Clark answered those questions by winning both of his duals, which is where the razor-thin margin of the meet determined the winner. All of Iowa’s losses this year have been razor-thin, but Iowa has not lacked a go-to player. He was so lively today, maybe even a little too much.”

The Hawkeyes scored 36 points in the paint. (The Daily Iowan/Joshua Housing)

Continued from 10

Clark answered those questions by winning both of his duals, which is where the razor-thin margin of the meet determined the winner. All of Iowa’s losses this year have been razor-thin, but Iowa has not lacked a go-to player. He was so lively today, maybe even a little too much.”

The Hawkeyes scored 36 points in the paint. (The Daily Iowan/Joshua Housing)

Continued from 10

Clark answered those questions by winning both of his duals, which is where the razor-thin margin of the meet determined the winner. All of Iowa’s losses this year have been razor-thin, but Iowa has not lacked a go-to player. He was so lively today, maybe even a little too much.”

The Hawkeyes scored 36 points in the paint. (The Daily Iowan/Joshua Housing)

Continued from 10

Clark answered those questions by winning both of his duals, which is where the razor-thin margin of the meet determined the winner. All of Iowa’s losses this year have been razor-thin, but Iowa has not lacked a go-to player. He was so lively today, maybe even a little too much.”

The Hawkeyes scored 36 points in the paint. (The Daily Iowan/Joshua Housing)
the ledge

I’m lactose intolerant.

“I don’t think cheeses should be allowed to vote. I would disown my son if he married a carton of milk.”

“When it smells like pic ture, I say ‘froughs.’

I support sugared dairy cases. I wouldn’t let yogurt into my country club.

Grilled cheese is an abomination; God intend — you’re one of the good ones if he married a carton of milk.

WHERE IT BELONGS.

WHERE IT BELONGS.

— Oscar Wilde

There are only two tragedies in life: one is not getting what one wants, and the other is getting it.

horoscopes

Wednesday, February 5, 2014

by Eugenia Last

aries (March 21-April 19): Get into the groove. Staying busy and focused on your accomplishments will help you avoid anxiety and fear of not measuring up to what’s expected of you. Show how capable you can be by getting things done. A positive choice will pay off.

taurus (April 20-May 20): Do what you can to help others. Offer suggestions and show compassion. The situations you offer will be impressive and help you drum up interest in something you want to pursue. Florence will help improve your network.

gemini (May 21-June 20): Approach any situation you face with honesty. Uncer tainty will not go over well when dealing with colleagues, friends, or those you are trying to win approval from. Avoid impulsive expenditures, lending, or borrowing. A positive choice will pay off.

cancer (June 21-July 22): Emotional and conflict may not sit well with you. Show your concern, and offer suggestions that will help smooth things over. Compromise and understanding, along with using your intuitive intelligence, will help ward off personal problems.

leo (July 23-Aug. 22): A challenge or taking on a competitive position will help you grow and move you to success. Test your skills and matter what you are doing; you will gain confidence and satisfaction. Social activities of a personal nature will be rewarding. Doing something to avoid conflict will not bring good results. Practical application will pay off.

virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Expect to face a financial setback if you get involved in a joint investment. Being responsible will help you avoid making a mistake. Doing what you enjoy doing most, and you will gain confidence and satisfaction. Social activities will be rewarding. Doing something to avoid conflict will not bring good results. Practical application will pay off.

libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Expect to face opposition when dealing with a personal or business partnership. Don’t let your emotions cloud you. Make choices based on what’s best for you. Social activity will help you avoid anxiety and fear of not measuring up to what’s expected of you. Show how capable you can be by getting things done. A positive choice will pay off.

capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The dust has not settled before you make a decision that will influence your environment or surroundings. Getting along with people in your community will be more rewarding if you think things over before you proceed.

aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Take an emotional stance, and base your needs on what you see going on around you. Picking and choosing the direction that suits you best will set you on a positive path that will help you reach your personal and professional goals.

pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Honesty will be questioned and secrets revealed. Protect your reputation by handling whatever issues arise serenely and truthfully. You will gain respect and won’t face the sameures, and you will gain confidence and satisfaction.
Men's tennis sweeps 2

By Jordan Bickler
hockey@uiowa.edu

The Iowa men's tennis team started its spring season strong with a pair of road wins to open the season.

The Hawkeyes swept both Louise and Wheaton in their first two matches.

Men's track so-so

By Jordan Hansen

The Hawkeyes swept both Louise and Wheaton in their first two matches.

Women swimmers face rough waves

By Jo dan Hansen

The Hawkeyes swept both Louise and Wheaton in their first two matches.

Women's swimming faces rough waves

By Jordan Hansen

The Hawkeyes sweep both Louise and Wheaton in their first two matches.

Women swimmers face rough waves

By Jordan Hansen

The Hawkeyes sweep both Louise and Wheaton in their first two matches.
Serious work, serious salary.
Starting salary at $75K.

A key business strategy to our success is our commitment to our employees, including paying generous salaries to recruit and retain the best people. ALDI offers $75K a year, terrific benefits and a company car to our District Managers. We’ve built the nation’s leading low-price grocery chain by matching responsibilities with rewards. Want to learn more? Come meet us and hear about exciting and challenging careers with ALDI.

Find out more at aldiuscareers.com
Welcome to more.

District Manager Trainee $75K
District Manager Intern $900 per week for 10 weeks

Interview Date: 3/7/14
Mandatory Pre Night Dinner: 3/6/14
Sign-Up through hireahawk.com

ALDI is an Equal Opportunity Employer.
Shymanski hired as volleyball coach

On Jan. 13, Iowa Athletics Director Gary Barta announced that Brad Shymanski would take over as the head volleyball coach.

The former head coach of the University of Chicago, a Big Ten member, spent five seasons (2004-2008) at Marquette, where he led the team to the NCAA postseason three times. Shymanski replaces former head coach Sharon Dingman, who had a 66-125 record at Iowa.

A press conference will be held in Carver-Hawkeye at 1 p.m. today to introduce Shymanski.

GymHawks hit season best but lose

Despite season-best point total, the Hawkeyes were crushed by the 4-0 Illinois Fighting Illini, 60-125, Sunday at Carver-Hawkeye. Illinois is 12-2 overall this season compared to Iowa’s 6-12-1 mark.

The Hawkeyes scored in both the third and fourth quarter, but never closed the gap between the two teams.

Although the Hawkeyes play well, the Illini were simply too skilled and too strong in every area to lose.

The Illini were led by two freshmen. Jordyn Wieber led the country in the all-around with a score of 15.200 and Minnesota’s Mollie Drenth won the vault and beam, posting season highs in both events but trailed the Illini following the third rotation.

The season is young, and there were positives. The men’s gymnastics falls in Oklahoma

The men’s gymnastics team traveled to Norman, Okla., Sunday and won the entire meet and brought home its 17th win in a row.

The Hawkeyes scored 44-43-43-43, in all four events, while Oklahoma was missing one of its members.

Sophomore Brock Bowden finished with the only Iowa gymnast to compete all-around with a score of 83.400.

The meet is scheduled for 6 p.m. (CST) in Jenison Field House. The Hawkeyes will return to Carver for their first home meet Friday to take on No. 8 Illinois at 7 p.m.

Wrestler Clark seizes opportunity

By Danny Payne

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — There was confusion in the air of Welsh-Ryan Arena before No. 2 Iowa beat Northwestern, 33-8. 125-pound Cory Clark and Thomas Gilman were warming up with the routine intensity — neither took a back seat or showed any signs they would not be in the lineup.

That, coupled with the absence of 133-pound Tony Ramos, gave the impression that both would wrestle.

The notion was logical — Clark had fought in the lineup after foggy weather in Michigan State, 125 in every event, and Gilman had fought in the weight class or enough to wrestle Northwest- ter’s 125-pound, Garrett Wether, carried an 11-11 mark into the dual, and Dominick Malion had kept free of his last six bouts. Why not give Ramos the night off and wrestle both redshirt freshmen?”

But then Ramos emerged from the tunnel and began to warm up, and once the dual started, Ramos was on the mat with White. The Southeast Polk product used a first-period takedown and a 3-point near-fall in the second to go into the third up 5-0.

The third was where the conditions and weight questions would be answered. Could Clark go the distance without running out of gas? Has the four-time Iowa state champion

Seahawks hogtie Broncos

By Ben Ross

KANSAS CITY, Kan.— The Seahawks remained a dominant team in their fourth game in a row, 35-14, over the Kansas City Chiefs.

They made Super Bowl Sunday the best day of all with one of the greatest performances in NFL history — sparked by a defense that ranks among the best in the league.

The Seahawks won their first Super Bowl crown by punishing Peyton Manning and the Denver Broncos, 43-8. That historically defensive, the NFL’s stingiest, never set the five-time MVP getting, earning the highest-scoring offensive Super Bowl victory ever.

The only way we could say we were the best defense was to take down the best of them all.

“The only way we could say we were the best defense was to take down the best of them all,” linebacker Bobby Wagner said.

The Seahawks felt that the guys did a fantastic job tonight, “he said in a release. “Our defense just happy we got the W.”

The double-double over the Illini was Olaseni’s fourth of his relatively young

Olaseni comes up big

By Jordan Bucher

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — He was presented with the media as the “British Air,” but after a 15-point, 12-rebound performance in an 81-74 win over Illinois, Gabe Olaseni was a man that didn’t need an introduction.

The junior center was a catalyst for a turnaround as the Hawkeyes improved to 12-3 overall this season.

The double-double over the Illini was Olaseni’s fourth of his relatively young

NBA

Boston 96, Orlando 89

Washington 6, Detroit 5

Washington 6, Detroit 5

Notched a season-best on the floor with a score of 83.400.

...did not have a good day,” he said.

“I’m not having a good day,” he said.

“I felt that the guys did a fantastic job tonight, “he said in a release. “Our defense just happy we got the W.”

The double-double over the Illini was Olaseni’s fourth of his relatively young

NCAAW

Indiana 63, Michigan 52

Virginia 48, Pittsburgh 45

Cincinnati 50, South Florida 45

The junior center was a catalyst for a turnaround as the Hawkeyes improved to 12-3 overall this season.

The double-double over the Illini was Olaseni’s fourth of his relatively young

NCAAM

Penn State 79, Northwestern 75

Notre Dame 88, Duke 67

Michigan State 89, Purdue 73

Kentucky 63, LSU 56

No. 8 Illinois at 7 p.m.

The Hawkeyes will return to Carver for their first home meet Friday to take on No. 8 Illinois at 7 p.m.

The third was where the conditions and weight questions would be answered. Could Clark go the distance without running out of gas? Has the four-time Iowa state champion

The Hawkeyes will return to Carver for their first home meet Friday to take on No. 8 Illinois at 7 p.m.

The third was where the conditions and weight questions would be answered. Could Clark go the distance without running out of gas? Has the four-time Iowa state champion

The third was where the conditions and weight questions would be answered. Could Clark go the distance without running out of gas? Has the four-time Iowa state champion

The third was where the conditions and weight questions would be answered. Could Clark go the distance without running out of gas? Has the four-time Iowa state champion

The third was where the conditions and weight questions would be answered. Could Clark go the distance without running out of gas? Has the four-time Iowa state champion

The third was where the conditions and weight questions would be answered. Could Clark go the distance without running out of gas? Has the four-time Iowa state champion

The third was where the conditions and weight questions would be answered. Could Clark go the distance without running out of gas? Has the four-time Iowa state champion...