Big inning buoys Iowa

Iowa outfielder Dan Potempa hits the ball against Minnesota on Sunday at Banks Field. The Hawkeyes defeated the Gophers, 7-6. (The Daily Iowan/Joshua Housing)

FOR MORE ON BASEBALL’S WIN OVER MINNESOTA SEE PAGE 10.

Focusing on women in politics

The University of Iowa Public Policy Center held a symposium, headlined by Sen. Amy Klobuchar, D-Minn., to encourage women to pursue careers in politics.

The symposium, Women In Politics, on April 18 to examine why women do or do not run for office, as well as what obstacles they face when they attempt to run.

“The symposium was headlined by keynote speaker Amy Klobuchar, D-Minn., who spoke about her experiences in the Senate,” Klobuchar said.

“We need more women to be elected to Congress in the midterm elections this year. Six women are running for Iowa’s open seats,” Klobuchar said.

“People have the chance to elect their first women to Congress in the midterm election this year. Six women are running for Iowa’s open seats,” Klobuchar said.

“We need more women to run for office, and we need more young women to get interested in politics and government,” Klobuchar said.

“I look forward to the day when the Iowa Women’s Archive gets a truck load of our first congresswoman or senator,” she said.

White-haired men are not the only ones on Capitol Hill anymore. But their female counterparts are not coming from Iowa.

The University of Iowa Public Policy Center held a symposium, Women In Politics, on April 18 to examine why women do and don’t run for office, as well as what obstacles they face when they attempt to run.

“The symposium was headlined by keynote speaker Amy Klobuchar, D-Minn., who spoke about her experiences in the Senate,” Klobuchar said.

“We need more women to be elected to Congress in the midterm elections this year. Six women are running for Iowa’s open seats,” Klobuchar said.

“People have the chance to elect their first women to Congress in the midterm election this year. Six women are running for Iowa’s open seats,” Klobuchar said.

“We need more women to run for office, and we need more young women to get interested in politics and government,” Klobuchar said.

“I look forward to the day when the Iowa Women’s Archive gets a truck load of our first congresswoman or senator,” she said.

White-haired men are not the only ones on Capitol Hill anymore. But their female counterparts are not coming from Iowa.

The University of Iowa Public Policy Center held a symposium, Women In Politics, on April 18 to examine why women do and don’t run for office, as well as what obstacles they face when they attempt to run.

“The symposium was headlined by keynote speaker Amy Klobuchar, D-Minn., who spoke about her experiences in the Senate,” Klobuchar said.

“We need more women to be elected to Congress in the midterm elections this year. Six women are running for Iowa’s open seats,” Klobuchar said.

“I look forward to the day when the Iowa Women’s Archive gets a truck load of our first congresswoman or senator,” she said.
ONE HUNDRED YEARS FURTHER

Large University Campaigns

Students at large universities and colleges are used to navigating through the vast number of courses and activities available to them. However, the same cannot be said for smaller, more community-focused institutions. At the University of Iowa, the College Republicans and the College Democrats have been involved in political campaigns for many years, but their roles have changed over time. The College Republicans, led by President Ryan Mandis, have focused on increasing student engagement in political activities, while the College Democrats, under the leadership of Ezra Marquez, have worked to facilitate discussion and debate on important issues.

Codifying the Latest Online Tools

The Daily Iowan, the student newspaper of the University of Iowa, has been working to improve its online platforms to better serve its readers. In recent years, the newspaper has made significant changes to its website, including the introduction of a new layout and a new icon for the newspaper. These changes have been made in response to student feedback and a desire to improve the user experience. The new website includes a more streamlined interface, making it easier for students to navigate and find the information they need. Additionally, the new website includes features such as improved search functionality and easier access to archives.

Student Engagement in Politics

The University of Iowa community is home to a diverse range of political organizations, including the College Republicans and the College Democrats. These groups are dedicated to engaging students in political discussions and encouraging them to participate in the democratic process. While the role of these organizations has evolved over time, their commitment to fostering civic engagement remains strong. Whether it's through debates, forums, or other events, the College Republicans and the College Democrats are working to ensure that students have a voice in the political process and are encouraged to participate in their communities.

The Importance of Student Civic Engagement

Student civic engagement is crucial to the democratic process. By participating in political discussions and activities, students have the opportunity to learn about important issues and make their voices heard. This not only helps to shape the political landscape but also fosters a sense of community and civic responsibility. As the University of Iowa community continues to grow and evolve, it is essential that students remain engaged in political activities and work to ensure that their voices are heard.
COLUMN

Infamous “Crime” in Iowa

T he past week the United States made its first leap forward in electoral progressions. It’s a historic moment, the democracy that it always claims to be. Democratic New York Governor Andrew Cuomo signed a bill that will bind his state to the National Popular Vote inter-state compact. The compact, which now includes 11 states after New York, was actuated by state legislators to assign their Electoral College votes in proportion to the popular vote. It’s been loosely described as “Infamous Crime.” The state should have sponsored an Electoral College vote in proportion to the popular vote. It’s overly subjective, and it sounds like something of a felony. It’s probably a better move, we can probably do better.

It’s been loosely described as “Infamous Crime.” The state should have sponsored an Electoral College vote in proportion to the popular vote. It’s overly subjective, and it sounds like something of a felony. It’s probably a better move, we can probably do better.

It’s been loosely described as “Infamous Crime.” The state should have sponsored an Electoral College vote in proportion to the popular vote. It’s overly subjective, and it sounds like something of a felony. It’s probably a better move, we can probably do better.

It’s been loosely described as “Infamous Crime.” The state should have sponsored an Electoral College vote in proportion to the popular vote. It’s overly subjective, and it sounds like something of a felony. It’s probably a better move, we can probably do better.

It’s been loosely described as “Infamous Crime.” The state should have sponsored an Electoral College vote in proportion to the popular vote. It’s overly subjective, and it sounds like something of a felony. It’s probably a better move, we can probably do better.

It’s been loosely described as “Infamous Crime.” The state should have sponsored an Electoral College vote in proportion to the popular vote. It’s overly subjective, and it sounds like something of a felony. It’s probably a better move, we can probably do better.

It’s been loosely described as “Infamous Crime.” The state should have sponsored an Electoral College vote in proportion to the popular vote. It’s overly subjective, and it sounds like something of a felony. It’s probably a better move, we can probably do better.
Local reactions to Korean ferry disaster.

By Lyn Knott
lknott@daily-iowan.com

Sang-Sook Youn is frustrated at the inaction of her home country’s government.

Youn is from Seoul, South Korea, and followed on April 16 involving a ferry capsizing, he said he and many others are confused, sad, and depri"ved by the actions taking place in the country.

“Every stupid situation, something went wrong, and I just felt like an absurd thing happened,” said Youn, who is a lecturer in Korea at the University of Iowa. “I’m feeling on the government of South Korea, and I don’t feel like this is kind of … absent-minded thing like this, everybody whenever there is something wrong, and I just thought the government of South Korea, and followed the incident, he said he and many others are confused, sad, and disappointed by the action taking place in the country.

“I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down,” he said. “But now they are crying more because of that. Youn said he thinks the anger toward the government could affect the support for the current administration. There is an election season, so politicians are really concerned about just the people who support them,” he said.

Since the incident, the government could affect the support for the current administration. There is an election season, so politicians are really concerned about just the people who support them,” he said.

“Some politicians go to the site to console [the victims’ families], but actually they are bothering them,” he said. “Some politicians go to the site to console [the victims’ families], but actually they are bothering them,” he said.

Yoon said he thinks the government could affect the support for the current administration. There is an election season, so politicians are really concerned about just the people who support them.”

Yoon, who is from Boeun, South Korea, said the first news reports he received told him there were 61 bodies recovered, and 240 people still missing. He was relieved and calmed down, he said. “But now they are crying more because of that. Youn said he thinks the anger toward the government could affect the support for the current government. There is an election season, so politicians are really concerned about just the people who support them. "Some politicians go to the site to console [the victims' families] but actually they are bothering them," he said. "They went there to console [the victims’ families], but actually they are bothering them," he said.

"It is really a big irony and I think the irony is that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," Yun said. "I feel like they are doing that to make the families relieved and calmed down," You
Questions I’ve Asked Myself Recently:

• It irks me that I think all white excise looks and sounds alike.
• When one mistake makes a bad joke, do the other cliches laugh sufficiently?
• Why, when I could, do people usually put on the back, and say, “There, there…”
• Why do I feel like a hurdle every time I drink High Life?
• When an editorial takes two days to write, and you’re not getting any nearer to leaving a note congratulating someone for taking up two entire offices, is it really any notable sentiment?
• What If, when the people who look it up will be better off leaving that information right?
• Why is every hour of the day usually pat me on the back and...?
Women’s tennis bounces back

The Iowa women’s tennis team beat Penn State, 6-1, on Sunday.

By Kyle Mann

It was a good day at the office for the Iowa women’s tennis team on Sunday, as the Hawkeyes bounced back from a two-set loss against Ohio State on Saturday to defeat Penn State, 6-1, on Sunday.

The Hawkeyes were led by No. 92 Gabrielle Rezler, who captured the No. 1 singles position by defeating No. 49 Emily Grizzell, 6-1, 6-1.

Dasha Sapogova also had a strong performance, winning 6-1, 6-0 at the No. 2 singles position, and she got contributions from everybody. Katia Blik and Dasha Sapogova.

“Without a doubt, I’d say, one of the top finishes for many athletes to impress the coaching staff was certainly in the past few weeks. This meet also served as one of the last chances for so many athletes to run races we might have just finished or get state qualification for the upcoming state meet,” Drake Relays in Des Moines. The qualifiers will be announced in the coming days.

The Hawkettes defeated Butler on March 10. (The Daily Iowan/File Photo)

The first heat of the men’s 110-meter dash takes off at the Iowa Invitational Meet on Feb. 21. No team scores were kept, but Iowa runner Tevin-Cee Mincy took first, adding to Iowa’s 16th win. (The Daily Iowan/Margaret Kispert)

The women’s 4x400 grabbed seventh with a time of 3:32.16, and the men’s 4x400 and women’s 4x100 crossed the line in eighth with a time of 43.46.

Head coach Layne Anderson felt that the pro-

“We made some further pro-

in our continued

progress for the championship

portion of our schedule,”

said. "I had nothing to lose."

For the juniors, Katie Zordani secured a victory over Sharon Harsh, 6-1, 6-1, and she really wanted to win and really needed to do well," Jan Seaborne said.

She finished her host and final season at Iowa 8-3 in conference play, 15-6 overall.

"Without a doubt, I’d say, one of the top finishes for many athletes to impress the coaching staff was certainly in the past few weeks. This meet also served as one of the last chances for so many athletes to run races we might have just finished or get state qualification for the upcoming state meet," Drake Relays in Des Moines. The qualifiers will be announced in the coming days.

The Hawkettes defeated Butler on March 10. (The Daily Iowan/File Photo)

The first heat of the men’s 110-meter dash takes off at the Iowa Invitational Meet on Feb. 21. No team scores were kept, but Iowa runner Tevin-Cee Mincy took first, adding to Iowa’s 16th win. (The Daily Iowan/Margaret Kispert)

The women’s 4x400 grabbed seventh with a time of 3:32.16, and the men’s 4x400 and women’s 4x100 crossed the line in eighth with a time of 43.46.

Head coach Layne Anderson felt that the pro-

“We made some further pro-

in our continued

progress for the championship

portion of our schedule,”

said. "I had nothing to lose."

For the juniors, Katie Zordani secured a victory over Sharon Harsh, 6-1, 6-1, and she really wanted to win and really needed to do well," Jan Seaborne said.

She finished her host and final season at Iowa 8-3 in conference play, 15-6 overall.

"Without a doubt, I’d say, one of the top finishes for many athletes to impress the coaching staff was certainly in the past few weeks. This meet also served as one of the last chances for so many athletes to run races we might have just finished or get state qualification for the upcoming state meet," Drake Relays in Des Moines. The qualifiers will be announced in the coming days.

The Hawkettes defeated Butler on March 10. (The Daily Iowan/File Photo)

The first heat of the men’s 110-meter dash takes off at the Iowa Invitational Meet on Feb. 21. No team scores were kept, but Iowa runner Tevin-Cee Mincy took first, adding to Iowa’s 16th win. (The Daily Iowan/Margaret Kispert)

The women’s 4x400 grabbed seventh with a time of 3:32.16, and the men’s 4x400 and women’s 4x100 crossed the line in eighth with a time of 43.46.

Head coach Layne Anderson felt that the pro-

“We made some further pro-

in our continued

progress for the championship

portion of our schedule,”

said. "I had nothing to lose."

For the juniors, Katie Zordani secured a victory over Sharon Harsh, 6-1, 6-1, and she really wanted to win and really needed to do well," Jan Seaborne said.

She finished her host and final season at Iowa 8-3 in conference play, 15-6 overall.

"Without a doubt, I’d say, one of the top finishes for many athletes to impress the coaching staff was certainly in the past few weeks. This meet also served as one of the last chances for so many athletes to run races we might have just finished or get state qualification for the upcoming state meet," Drake Relays in Des Moines. The qualifiers will be announced in the coming days.

The Hawkettes defeated Butler on March 10. (The Daily Iowan/File Photo)

The first heat of the men’s 110-meter dash takes off at the Iowa Invitational Meet on Feb. 21. No team scores were kept, but Iowa runner Tevin-Cee Mincy took first, adding to Iowa’s 16th win. (The Daily Iowan/Margaret Kispert)

The women’s 4x400 grabbed seventh with a time of 3:32.16, and the men’s 4x400 and women’s 4x100 crossed the line in eighth with a time of 43.46.

Head coach Layne Anderson felt that the pro-

“We made some further pro-

in our continued

progress for the championship

portion of our schedule,”

said. "I had nothing to lose."

For the juniors, Katie Zordani secured a victory over Sharon Harsh, 6-1, 6-1, and she really wanted to win and really needed to do well," Jan Seaborne said.

She finished her host and final season at Iowa 8-3 in conference play, 15-6 overall.

"Without a doubt, I’d say, one of the top finishes for many athletes to impress the coaching staff was certainly in the past few weeks. This meet also served as one of the last chances for so many athletes to run races we might have just finished or get state qualification for the upcoming state meet," Drake Relays in Des Moines. The qualifiers will be announced in the coming days.

The Hawkettes defeated Butler on March 10. (The Daily Iowan/File Photo)

The first heat of the men’s 110-meter dash takes off at the Iowa Invitational Meet on Feb. 21. No team scores were kept, but Iowa runner Tevin-Cee Mincy took first, adding to Iowa’s 16th win. (The Daily Iowan/Margaret Kispert)

The women’s 4x400 grabbed seventh with a time of 3:32.16, and the men’s 4x400 and women’s 4x100 crossed the line in eighth with a time of 43.46.

Head coach Layne Anderson felt that the pro-

“We made some further pro-

in our continued

progress for the championship

portion of our schedule,”

said. "I had nothing to lose."

For the juniors, Katie Zordani secured a victory over Sharon Harsh, 6-1, 6-1, and she really wanted to win and really needed to do well," Jan Seaborne said.

She finished her host and final season at Iowa 8-3 in conference play, 15-6 overall.

"Without a doubt, I’d say, one of the top finishes for many athletes to impress the coaching staff was certainly in the past few weeks. This meet also served as one of the last chances for so many athletes to run races we might have just finished or get state qualification for the upcoming state meet," Drake Relays in Des Moines. The qualifiers will be announced in the coming days.

The Hawkettes defeated Butler on March 10. (The Daily Iowan/File Photo)

The first heat of the men’s 110-meter dash takes off at the Iowa Invitational Meet on Feb. 21. No team scores were kept, but Iowa runner Tevin-Cee Mincy took first, adding to Iowa’s 16th win. (The Daily Iowan/Margaret Kispert)

The women’s 4x400 grabbed seventh with a time of 3:32.16, and the men’s 4x400 and women’s 4x100 crossed the line in eighth with a time of 43.46.

Head coach Layne Anderson felt that the pro-

“We made some further pro-

in our continued

progress for the championship

portion of our schedule,”

said. "I had nothing to lose."

For the juniors, Katie Zordani secured a victory over Sharon Harsh, 6-1, 6-1, and she really wanted to win and really needed to do well," Jan Seaborne said.

She finished her host and final season at Iowa 8-3 in conference play, 15-6 overall.

"Without a doubt, I’d say, one of the top finishes for many athletes to impress the coaching staff was certainly in the past few weeks. This meet also served as one of the last chances for so many athletes to run races we might have just finished or get state qualification for the upcoming state meet," Drake Relays in Des Moines. The qualifiers will be announced in the coming days.
Softball falls again to Michigan State

By JACK ROSS

In the rubber match of the three-game series in Iowa City, Michigan State came out on top 4-0 with the help of pitcher Kathy Smith shutting down the Iowa offense for the second time in three days.

The win put the Spartans at 12-29 while the Hawkeyes fall to 13-25 on the season, 6-11 Big Ten play. Iowa has lost three of its last four games.

“I’m not very happy at all actually. We were out there a little lethargic today, and Michigan State came out to play,” head coach Marla Looper said. “I don’t know if our legs were there, it just wasn’t there to play, but we didn’t come as much as they did. We put ourselves in a hole, and it was hard out of your hole when you dig it that deep.”

Looper marveled the lineup for Sunday’s game.

Second baseman Claire Freimuth came up with an illness, which moved senior Michelle Zoeller from third base to replace Freimuth. Freshman Alyx Navarro took Zoeller’s spot at third.

“I initially going into it, I was asked to pinch second because Claire (Freimuth) wasn’t here, and I don’t think I’ve ever played second at any of my college games yet,” Zoeller said. “It was definitely an adjustment from third. Third is a lot quicker and is more short game. Second base is more mental movement. I tried to adjust as quickly as possible.”

But the adjustment didn’t go as smoothly as Zoeller would have liked, as she committed two errors in the game.

“I don’t think our defense is as good as it was last year,” Looper said. “We were a lot quicker in ’13 and we know that out of position. It’s a testament to the way these guys have handled themselves.”

In the ninth inning, pitching co-captain Terri Stofferan was taken out after giving up a run. Iowa brought the tying runner on second for a change in the second, but pitcher Taylor Zeutenhorst closed the door on her team, 3-0.

The win gives Iowa another in-run win in the following inning when her double scored Erin Ericson into the lead, 4-2.

“It was great to see (the hit) drop,” Potempa said. “It’s also great to see the line drives. If they’re caught, they’re caught. It’s what happens. It’s baseball.”

After Potempa went 1-for-2, Iowa tacked on two runs courtesy of a left-handed reliver from Michigan State, Taylor Zeutenhorst. The Hawkeyes tied the game, 4-4, in the fourth, but it was short-lived and Michigan State scored the final three runs to win it.

“I wasn’t the problem. We just have to keep going,” Looper said. “We just have to keep going and try and get them one out at a time.”

Iowa designated hitter Taylor Potempa takes a practice swing at batting drills on tae Thursday in extra innings. (The Daily Iowan / Felice Baker)
Iowa drops pair of matches

The Iowa men’s tennis team hosted North Carolina State and No. 22 Penn State to finish the regular season of the regular season.

The Hawkeyes upset the Wolfpack 7-0, April 18. North Carolina State claimed the doubles crown with a pair of victories at the No. 2 and No. 3 spots.

The Hawkeyes claimed the third point in singles play, with the No. 13 team of defeating a pair. Playing at the No. 4 point, Raga forced the match to a third set, but ultimately fell 6-7 (7-11), 7-6 (13-11), 6-4.

Iowa traveled further to its neighboring state on Sunday. The Hawkeyes met Penn State in the singles of the regular season.

The Hawkeyes held a 4-3 lead over Penn State until the Hawkeyes claimed the doubles point behind a pair of victories at the No. 1 and No. 3 spots.

The Hawkeyes then claimed the No. 2 point and No. 5 point.

Iowa traveled to the University of Iowa — Penn State around the doubles point behind a pair of victories at the No. 1 and No. 3 spots. Once again, the No. 2 point of Hawkeyes and Raga was terminated with Iowa leading 5-4.

Iowa traveled to the University of Iowa — Penn State around the doubles point behind a pair of victories at the No. 1 and No. 3 spots. Once again, the No. 2 point of Hawkeyes and Raga was terminated with Iowa leading 5-4.

Iowa traveled to the University of Iowa — Penn State around the doubles point behind a pair of victories at the No. 1 and No. 3 spots. Once again, the No. 2 point of Hawkeyes and Raga was terminated with Iowa leading 5-4.