The Iowa City Council will discuss a roughly $530,000 whitewater-rafting course along the Iowa River tonight.

By PAUL OSGERBY
paul osgerby@uiowa.edu

With recent flood-prevention efforts on the Iowa River, it seems this may become an annual ordeal.

Now, the Iowa City Council will rev up conversations to proceed with river restoration and future flood mitigation plans. The council will discuss during tonight’s work session.

Specifically, city officials will present plans for a potential new whitewater-rafting course just south of the Burlington Street Bridge, in the Riverfront Crossing District, following dam modifications.

The proposed changes, in addition to pending plans to demolish the defunct North Wastewater Treatment Plant, 1500 S. Clinton St., will bring a new large-scale recreation area that will also help mitigate future flooding.
Wildfires threaten in West

The Daily Iowan

Volume 147  Issue 18

BLOTTER

Ambrose Dahl/Harvey, 26, West Des Moines, Iowa, was charged June 27 with DWI.
Lyndsay Barlow, 26, West Des Moines, was charged June 27 with DWI.
George Berg, 66, address unknown, was charged June 4 with possession of a controlled substance.

BRENNAN CARROLL, 20, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 15 with possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

Richard Cooper, 16, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 4 with public intoxication.

ACES

Ambrose Dahl/Harvey, 26, was charged June 27 with DWI.
Dakota Ashby, 20, was charged June 15 with possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

Michelle Cooper, 16, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 4 with public intoxication.

Dakota Ware, 20, was charged June 27 with public intoxication.

The Prentiss Brown Family Trust is a long-time donor. The trust was set up on behalf of the family as an entity named "Prentiss Brown Family Trust," which is an individual who owns and is subject to the laws of the State of New York.

The Daily Iowan

Volume 147  Issue 18

BLOTTER

Ambrose Dahl/Harvey, 26, West Des Moines, Iowa, was charged June 27 with DWI.
Lyndsay Barlow, 26, West Des Moines, was charged June 27 with DWI.
George Berg, 66, address unknown, was charged June 4 with possession of a controlled substance.

BRENNAN CARROLL, 20, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 15 with possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

Richard Cooper, 16, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 4 with public intoxication.

ACES

Ambrose Dahl/Harvey, 26, was charged June 27 with DWI.
Dakota Ashby, 20, was charged June 15 with possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

Michelle Cooper, 16, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 4 with public intoxication.

Dakota Ware, 20, was charged June 27 with public intoxication.

The Prentiss Brown Family Trust is a long-time donor. The trust was set up on behalf of the family as an entity named "Prentiss Brown Family Trust," which is an individual who owns and is subject to the laws of the State of New York.

The Daily Iowan

Volume 147  Issue 18

BLOTTER

Ambrose Dahl/Harvey, 26, West Des Moines, Iowa, was charged June 27 with DWI.
Lyndsay Barlow, 26, West Des Moines, was charged June 27 with DWI.
George Berg, 66, address unknown, was charged June 4 with possession of a controlled substance.

BRENNAN CARROLL, 20, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 15 with possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

Richard Cooper, 16, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 4 with public intoxication.

ACES

Ambrose Dahl/Harvey, 26, was charged June 27 with DWI.
Dakota Ashby, 20, was charged June 15 with possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

Michelle Cooper, 16, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 4 with public intoxication.

Dakota Ware, 20, was charged June 27 with public intoxication.

The Prentiss Brown Family Trust is a long-time donor. The trust was set up on behalf of the family as an entity named "Prentiss Brown Family Trust," which is an individual who owns and is subject to the laws of the State of New York.

The Daily Iowan

Volume 147  Issue 18

BLOTTER

Ambrose Dahl/Harvey, 26, West Des Moines, Iowa, was charged June 27 with DWI.
Lyndsay Barlow, 26, West Des Moines, was charged June 27 with DWI.
George Berg, 66, address unknown, was charged June 4 with possession of a controlled substance.

BRENNAN CARROLL, 20, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 15 with possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

Richard Cooper, 16, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 4 with public intoxication.

ACES

Ambrose Dahl/Harvey, 26, was charged June 27 with DWI.
Dakota Ashby, 20, was charged June 15 with possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

Michelle Cooper, 16, Moorhead, MN, was charged June 4 with public intoxication.

Dakota Ware, 20, was charged June 27 with public intoxication.

The Prentiss Brown Family Trust is a long-time donor. The trust was set up on behalf of the family as an entity named "Prentiss Brown Family Trust," which is an individual who owns and is subject to the laws of the State of New York.
Council, Denver-based MCDoughlin Whitewater Design Group will evaluate the area to determine which specific activities can be implemented in the area. Lang said community development officials are looking at potential mountain bike trails or zip lines across sections of the river.

Citing the death of five people as a result of a pump going over the dam since 1960s, Long said the current dam in place is too small for recreational purposes. However, proposed modifications to the dam would make a multi-mile stretch along the river safe for water sports.

Additionally, Long said that demolishing the North Plant will bring down the ground level to the floodplain, which will forestall rising water. Iowa City Public Works Director Rick Fasse said his department will be responsible for the demolition of the building.

The Public Works Department will also prepare a comprehensive plan before the City Council in further efforts to help with future flood mitigation. Fasse said that Iowa City’s overall strategy is to combine the demolition of the waste-treatment facility objective along with buyout and Gateway Project objectives. The buyout involves an area flood flow.

The Coralville Dam is responsible for most of the flood mitigation. “There are a lot of people praising to appreciate that,” Fasse said.

He said that during the flood of 2008, the dam reduced 40 percent of potential flooding in the local area.

The peak flow would have been 33,000 cubic feet per second as opposed to the recorded 15,200, Fasse said.

The current plan is to make sure that as much of the reservoir space as possible on the Iowa River after the reservoir dam is within a 100-year floodplain, he said. Citizens would enjoy green-space along the river. It is sure that people can construct floodwaters are smart for Iowa communities to prevent future flooding, said Lori McDaniel of the Floodplain and Dam Sector of Iowa Department of Natural Resources.

There is a 1 percent chance of flooding per year within the 100-year floodplain, she said. However, there were attached to a plot of land with 25- or 35-year-old floodplain, which was a 25 percent that serious floodmakers could occur.

“We could have outdoor education and classrooms with a lot of opportunity,” Long said. “People can learn about Iowa wetlands from school age to university age and on.”

School

Continued from front page

“Currently, the funds set aside for supplemental educa- tion services are limit- ed to students who entered schools that are labeled (high needs, low Incidence), and not all Title I schools (with schools),” Pam Eyh, the director of curriculum in the Iowa City School District, wrote in an email.

“Among the schools that are still applying, last year we set aside $6 million to give to outside supple- mental-service providers,” said Thomas Ahart, the superintendent of Des Moines Public Schools. “The remaining more than 7 percent of students in our school district and our students, not having ade- quate resources in their community(term 2) system way.”

Fosse said that from both the Council Bluffs School District and the Cedar Rapids School District expressed concerns about spending a large amount on external supplement- ary providers and students not having ade- quate services in their community term 1.

Top of that, Martha Bruckner, the superin- tendent of Council Bluffs School District and the Cedar Rapids School District has had problems with teachers who volunteer to help their stu- dents. Some groups ended up not giving the supple- mental services lessons for parents to sign up for the services. Teachers said they could not get enough teachers to go to a school that has services.

Another problem that has been faced by the districts is that they face is that many families apply for the district, said Martha Bruckner of Council Bluffs School District. Another problem that seem to be a problem for the districts is that many families are able to choose to go to another school as they will all set their Title I school targets and the school dis- trict must provide them with transportation, even though that is not school that is large enough of a facility.

“However, in situations where the demand still persists, we try to work with parents and families who run into the same issue. They are most likely to go for a school that they have no room or not.”

Candidate

Continued from front page

In a special meeting sur- rounding this month, the board took applications to fill the vacancy would be those who are not consid- ering running in Septem- ber.

Hemmingsen said in his application that he is not sur- e whether he will run in the 2015 election and said that is not going to run in the 2015 election.

The vacancy came after Democratic President Sally Hoelscher resigned via a late-night email to her fellow board members and Superintendent Steve Marley. She cited personal reasons for her departure.

On July 2, board mem- ber Chris Lynch was elect- ed by the board to fill the position via a 3-2 vote by the oth- er board members. Board member Tom Moore was elected by the board.

Lynch was elected to fill the seat for the first term of 2013, and his term ends in 2017.

News 3
In another bloody chapter of what seems like a never-ending conflict between the Israelis and the Palestinians, the United States, often a loyal ally, has officially branded Hamas a terrorist organization by the United Nations. Nevertheless, Israel chose to target Hamas in the following days, which the BBC reported has claimed the lives of over 800 Palestinians, many of whom were top-ranking members of Hamas, and the United States continued to support its longtime ally in the Middle East. Political considerations have ensured that no Israeli civilians have died. The heavy-handed response. Relative to the deaths of Israel, of course, became Ernst, of course, became the American candidate for the Battle of Vienna (which resulted in 2,340 deaths of which 70% were Palestinians. The United States continued to support its longtime ally in the Middle East. Political considerations have ensured that no Israeli civilians have died. The heavy-handed response. Relative to the deaths of Israel, of course, became the American candidate for the Battle of Vienna (which resulted in 2,340 deaths). Nevertheless, Israel chose to target Hamas in the following days, which the BBC reported has claimed the lives of over 800 Palestinians, many of whom were top-ranking members of Hamas, and the United States continued to support its longtime ally in the Middle East. Political considerations have ensured that no Israeli civilians have died. The heavy-handed response. Relative to the deaths of Israel, of course, became the American candidate for the Battle of Vienna (which resulted in 2,340 deaths). Nevertheless, Israel chose to target Hamas in the following days, which the BBC reported has claimed the lives of over 800 Palestinians, many of whom were top-ranking members of Hamas, and the United States continued to support its longtime ally in the Middle East. Political considerations have ensured that no Israeli civilians have died. The heavy-handed response. Relative to the deaths of Israel, of course, became the American candidate for the Battle of Vienna (which resulted in 2,340 deaths).
VA faces more problems

In rush to cut benefits backlog, VA makes errors.

BY MATTHEW DALY

WASHINGTON — In a rush to cut a huge backlog of disability claims, the Department of Veterans Affairs is increasing the risk of making inaccurate benefit payments to tens of thousands of veterans without adequate medical evidence that they deserve the benefits, the department’s inspector general’s office said on Monday.

Without improvements, the VA could make uncorrected payment errors of $371 million over the next five years for claims of 150-percent disability alone, said Linda Halliday, an assistant inspector general.

The Inspector General’s Office also found widespread problems at VA regional offices, in Philadelphia and Baltimore, including mail bins full of disability claims and associated evidence that had not been electronically scanned, she said. VA inspectors also found that mail was being mishandled.

Without improvements, “it has never been acceptable to VA … that our veterans are experiencing long delays in receiving the benefits they have earned and deserve,” Ruell said.

The VA has set a goal of reducing claims backlogs in 125 days at 98 percent accuracy by 2015, but so far has fallen far short. The VA found that 95 percent of claims within 54 days contain accurate information, compared with 86 percent accuracy rate, compared with 95 percent three years ago. Ruell said. At one point, veterans were forced to wait an average time of 50 months for their disability claims to be processed.

“Without improvements, the incorrect dates ‘are used to minimize the average days pending of a claim to make the regional office’s numbers look better,’ she said. For instance, claims that should have been dated 2009 were dated 2010, she said. “The VA’s problems result in a rush of morally bankrupt managers that through time and (government) service grades, have moved up into powerful positions where they have the power to and continue to ruin people’s lives,” Ruell said.

Lawmakers in both parties have complained about the Obama administration’s handling of the benefits backlog, and some have called for an independent commission to address it.

Kristen Ruell, an authorization quality review specialist at the Pension Management Center in the Veterans Affairs Philadelphia Regional Office, takes her seat at the witness table on Monday to testify before the House Committee on Veterans Affairs. (Associated Press/Cliff Owen)

Kristen Ruell, an authorization quality review specialist at the Pension Management Center in the Veterans Affairs Philadelphia Regional Office, takes her seat at the witness table on Monday to testify before the House Committee on Veterans Affairs. (Associated Press/Cliff Owen)
the ledge

Things I Hope are Not on My Tombstone:

• He should have asked his doctor if he was healthy enough for that.
• There’s a fine line between a “Scarlet’s Franked Home Video” and “House of Death.”
• The look on his face was the whole thing.
• We should have considered that a problem beforehand.
• It seemed like a good idea. — Mark Twain

• Darwin Award Finalist.
• He didn’t have a knot at all—just a wrinkle.
• Guess his neighbor really saw a serial killer.
• He’s lost it. “On the intention, almost there—impossible.”
• We told him not to look down.
• He didn’t expect the Spanish Inquisition.
• By other tombstones in marble.
• Should have picked “truth.”
• It seemed like a good idea.
• Here rests most of him.
• Get your discount tombstone.
• He shouldn’t have tried it that way.
• The look on his face was awesome.
• He didn’t do it. — Winston Churchill inclusion of the average voter. — Winston Churchill

the best argument against democracy is a five-minute conversation with the average voter. — Winston Churchill
With the MLB All-Star game today, the DI debates which team has been the best in the first half of the season.

San Francisco Giants
San Francisco has won two championships in the past four seasons, and it expects to return to a winning team, and the Brewers are one of those teams.

Last season, the Brewers won through the heart of their lineup. The team struggled, but the 26-year-old Braun has 37 RBIs. He has scored 12 home runs and 37 runs. His OPS is second in the league. The team has paid off. Braun, Ryan Braun was named the face of the franchise, and face-of-the-franchise players have paid off.

In a league with no one as impressive as the Brewers, the team has 2-8 in their last 10 games. But pitching is the most important part of this team, and the Brewers' starters have an ERA of 0.30 in their last four starts. The Brewers have 4-0 with an ERA under 4.00.

Another notable Athletics' player is Brandon Moss, who hit his 21st home run this season and 1 unearned run in his three starts. The Athletics have 37 of the top team in baseball for four consecutive weeks during Sunday's game. Even with Gray and his talent, Athletics' general manager Billy Beane is making some interesting moves to stay at No. 1. Beane shocked fans when he traded top prospects Addison Russell, Billy McKinney, and Dan Straily to the Cubs for Jason Hammel and Jeff Samardzija. He made the trade to stay ahead of the Angels.

Oakland Athletics
The Athletics are the top team in baseball right now, and they have been in ESPN's No. 1 spot in the power rankings for the past two weeks.

The Athletics have the best record in baseball at 59-36 and are 1.5 ahead of division rival Los Angeles Angels (57-37).

The Athletics have a young but talented pitcher, Sonny Gray, who allowed only 1 hit in his last start. Gray is the Panthers' game against the Seattle Mariners. It was Gray's 10th win in the MLB. He has pitched exceptionally in July, going 5-0 with a 0.83 earned run average in his three starts. Gray is a unique pitcher, he gets batters to chase around 40 percent of his curve balls out of the strike zone, which ranks second in the league.

Even with Gray and his talent, Athletics' general manager Billy Beane is making some interesting moves to stay at No. 1. Beane shocked fans when he traded top prospects Addison Russell, Billy McKinney, and Dan Straily to the Cubs for Jason Hammel and Jeff Samardzija. He made the trade to stay ahead of the Angels.

—— by Erin Erickson

San Diego Padres
The Padres are sitting just one game below the Los Angeles Dodgers, who have received a surge of success.

San Francisco has sat at the top of the NL West for the majority of the first half, holding the best record in baseball for four-consecutive weeks during the month of June. The team has 2-8 in their last 10 games. But pitching is the most important part of this team, and the Giants continue to see that they are one of the most important teams in this year's fall classic.

—— by Charles Green

Milwaukee Brewers
Some teams just don't get the attention they deserve, and the Milwaukee Brewers are one of those teams.

In the first half of the season, the Brewers went through their share of turmoil. The team struggled, but the 26-year-old Braun has 37 RBIs. He has scored 12 home runs and 37 runs. His OPS is second in the league. The team has paid off. Braun, Ryan Braun was named the face of the franchise, and face-of-the-franchise players have paid off.

In a league with no one as impressive as the Brewers, the team has 2-8 in their last 10 games. But pitching is the most important part of this team, and the Brewers' starters have an ERA of 0.30 in their last four starts. The Brewers have 4-0 with an ERA under 4.00.

Another notable Athletics' player is Brandon Moss, who hit his 21st home run this season and 1 unearned run in his three starts. The Athletics have 37 of the top team in baseball for four consecutive weeks during Sunday's game. Even with Gray and his talent, Athletics' general manager Billy Beane is making some interesting moves to stay at No. 1. Beane shocked fans when he traded top prospects Addison Russell, Billy McKinney, and Dan Straily to the Cubs for Jason Hammel and Jeff Samardzija. He made the trade to stay ahead of the Angels.

—— by Erin Erickson

Oakland Athletics
The Athletics are the top team in baseball right now, and they have been in ESPN's No. 1 spot in the power rankings for the past two weeks.

The Athletics have the best record in baseball at 59-36 and are 1.5 ahead of division rival Los Angeles Angels (57-37).

The Athletics have a young but talented pitcher, Sonny Gray, who allowed only 1 hit in his last start. Gray is the Panthers' game against the Seattle Mariners. It was Gray's 10th win in the MLB. He has pitched exceptionally in July, going 5-0 with a 0.83 earned run average in his three starts. Gray is a unique pitcher, he gets batters to chase around 40 percent of his curve balls out of the strike zone, which ranks second in the league.

Even with Gray and his talent, Athletics' general manager Billy Beane is making some interesting moves to stay at No. 1. Beane shocked fans when he traded top prospects Addison Russell, Billy McKinney, and Dan Straily to the Cubs for Jason Hammel and Jeff Samardzija. He made the trade to stay ahead of the Angels.

—— by Charles Green
IHM CONTINUED FROM PAGE 18

He didn’t play as well in his weekend rounds as he played on Saturday, but he showed that even if he wasn’t playing his best golf, he still fought his way to pretty damn good finish.

A four hole-stretch during his third round was most telling. After saving a par on a tough par 4, Ihm found himself roughly 20 yards behind a sand trap. Looking directly into a graphic of his face, Ihm set his stick and settled 6 feet stick and settled 6 feet away for an eagle. He didn’t realize just how important it was until an hour later, when Shanshan Feng of Chi- na and Inbee Park of South Korea couldn’t stay under par and then couldn’t make birdies on the two par-5 des- igning holes to catch her. Ihm’s two birdies on an even-par 72 — no one broke par to attack the blustery wind Sunday — added to his nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better. Ihm’s nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better.

Ihm had never won on the LPGA Tour in 63 previous attempts, and her first win made her a major champion.

Ihm’s shot ices open — Martin hit a 240 yards on the par-5 14th hole drive was really disappointing.”

Ihm’s nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better. Ihm’s nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better.

Ihm had never won on the LPGA Tour in 63 previous attempts, and her first win made her a major champion.

Ihm’s shot ices open — Martin hit a 240 yards on the par-5 14th hole drive was really disappointing.”

Ihm’s nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better. Ihm’s nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better.

Ihm had never won on the LPGA Tour in 63 previous attempts, and her first win made her a major champion.

Ihm’s shot ices open — Martin hit a 240 yards on the par-5 14th hole drive was really

Ihm’s nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better. Ihm’s nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better.

Ihm had never won on the LPGA Tour in 63 previous attempts, and her first win made her a major champion.

Ihm’s shot ices open — Martin hit a 240 yards on the par-5 14th hole drive was really

Ihm’s nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better. Ihm’s nine-birdie round, a group of five top-10 finishes the Americans now have been any better.

Ihm had never won on the LPGA Tour in 63 previous attempts, and her first win made her a major champion.

Ihm’s shot ices open — Martin hit a 240 yards on the par-5 14th hole drive was really
In the Game Time League, leadership is crucial, even if players differ from schools are challenged to come together with unfamiliar teammates to reach a common goal.

Coaches can only provide as much as a veteran presence on the court can transform talent into success.

With the playoffs beginning Wednesday, coach Clark Anderson’s players aren’t worried about their first-place finish in the regular season. With point guard Sam Logi running the show, Anderson’s group could upset Joe Johnston’s team if no other reason than because Logi is as good at distributing (the ball).

“You have to be able to see the floor; that’s the most important thing,” Logi said. “Knowing where your teammates are, where they can knock shots down, and putting them in a position to succeed is all you can really do as a leader.”

“I just love playing. Putting people in position to score and be successful is my favorite thing to do.”

“It’s humbling to play against her,” North Carolina’s Logic proved worth an exciting coincidence, in a John Deere Classic that the Iowa Athletic Department said it is a great feeling loving. The Iowa graduate of the John Deere Classic said the wheels are set in motion. Things changed the following day. The Peosta native sunk numerous putts for birdie and a round of 73 (2-over) put Ihm at a Professional Ihm was on display. From that round on, the true professional Ihm was on display. Iowa football players Austin Blythe named to Lombardi list. Blythe is an offensive MVP as a junior and is on the Outland Trophy Watch List. Blythe tallied 42 tackles as a junior and was a member of the Lombardi Award Watch List. currently ranked No. 76 universities. Past champions have included 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.

“I was really 10. But the most impressive part wasn’t making the cut after firing a 68-68-68-69 finish to the tournament’s second day or his tying for the lead after day four.

No, the story is not that the former Iowa golfer turned professional, but rather that he turned into a professional.